Caril's Bond Is Denied

. By Judge Boyles

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Lancaster District Judge Bartlett Boyles Friday denied a motion to release Caril Ann Fugate on bond pending her post-conviction action in Lancaster District Court.

Miss Fugate, who is serving a life sentence in connection with the Charles Starkweather killing spree in 1958, was wearing a pink floral pattern dress and white high heeled shoes as she appeared in the courtroom during the hearing.

In his decision, Judge Boyles stated that the district court is without authority to admit the defendant to bail.

The application filed earlier this week by Mis Fugate, Boyles said, was dependent upon the provisions of LB836 who contains a provision only for the Supreme Court to release on bail defendants seeking relief under the law.

"Had the Legislature wished to provide for bail in the District Courts, they would have made such provision." Judge Boyles said.

New Law

Under the provisions of LB836, passed by the 1965 Legislature, defendants convicted of felonies who contend their constitutional rights were denied may seek relief in the court which imposed their sentences.

In pleading for release of Miss Fugate during the pendency of her action, defense attorney Merril Reller said that "the trial here was not a fair trial, and this is the same as if we were trying it all over again except we have a few wrongs by the State of Nebraska which we are going to rectify in this matter."

Promises No Abuse

Miss Fugate's second defense attorney, John McArthur, told the court that if she were released on bail, the right would not be abused.

"All we want is a chance to prove what we have been saying — that this young girl was a victim of circumstances," McArthur said, noting that it is more than 100 miles back and forth to York for consultation to prepare for her case.

Senate Speeds Up Goldberg Approval

Washington (AP) — The Senate put on a burst of speed Friday to confirm Arthur J. Goldberg as America's new ambassador to the United Nations.

Goldberg went before the Foreign Relations Committee to declare his belief in strengthening the United Nations to help wipe out war and poverty and promote human rights and social justice.

"If I believed war was inevitable I would not be before you today," the 56-year-old Supreme Court justice, former secretary of labor and union lawyer told the senators.

Committee Republicans and Democrats alike praised President Johnson's choice to succeed the late Adlai E. Stevenson in the nation's top ambassadorship.

Swiftly after the committee's 40-minute hearing and unanimous approval, the full Senate in the first minutes after its noon opening gave voice-vote confirmation to Goldberg without debate.

The administration plans to administer the oath of office to Goldberg speedily so that he can present his credentials at the United Nations Monday.

The world organization is slated to tackle some major issues soon. Discussions on its financial crisis are scheduled next month and the General Assembly convenes in September.

Committee Democrats under Chairman J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas and Republicans headed by Iowa's Bourke B. Hickenlooper pointedly avoided grilling the newcomer to the job on the substance of problems facing the United Nations. Among these are the U.S.-Soviet impasse over Russia's refusal to pay her U.N. peacekeeping dues.

On the financing-constitutional issue, Goldberg said only that he is "aware as a citizen of the gravity of the constitutional crisis confronting the U.N. and I share the conviction of the citizens of this country that that crisis must be resolved and the U.N. must go forward."

London Bridge Is:

Falling Down

London (AP) — London Bridge is falling down, falling down, falling down—at the rate of an eighth of an inch a year.

And so, the city announced Friday, the old bridge will be taken the rest of the way down on purpose and replaced with a modern one costing 24 million pounds ($6.72 million).

The new bridge, made up of three spans totaling 860 feet in length, will be 100 feet wide. The present bridge, built in 1831, is 65 feet wide.

When the replacement bridge is completed, in 1970, it will be the fourth to span the Thames at the site.

The first, built during the Roman occupation, was the one which really fell down, although not under its own power. The Viking conquerors attached a skein of ropes to it and sent it tumbling by pulling on the ropes with their long boats.

The second bridge was completed in 1176. It was only 20 feet wide. In 1762 the bridge, which had long been frail and rickety, was dismantled. Its replacement, the third and present bridge, was authorized by Parliament in 1821 and finished a decade later.

The London City Corporation is then expected to promote an act of Parliament for the new bridge and it is hoped to start construction in 1967.

Economy Is Expected To Drop Before 1970

By WAYNE KREUSCHER
Star Staff Writer

America's economy is right now in very good shape, but many economists expect it to go down before 1970.

That's the report of Dr. John R. Coleman, professor of economics and dean of humanities and social science at Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Dr. Coleman, who has been speaking for the past week at a summer seminar in economic education at the University of Nebraska, said that our present economy is good, but that we still have more unemployment then we need.

"If America's economy doesn't continue to grow at a rapid rate," he explained, "young people will be hurt the worst, even those with the right skills will find it hard to find jobs."

He pointed out that America no longer needs to worry about a full pledged depression and that any down trend in the economy can now be kept very mild as long as it is handled wisely.

"The public, the businessmen and the politicians," he said, "all need to know more about economics and they need to work together with the economists to keep the economy high."

He pointed out that most economists agree today that the economy will not stay high by itself.

Dr. Coleman used the recent tax cut as an example of how the government can work with the people to keep business good, spending power high and the nation's economy strong.

'Badly Mistaken'

He said that people who were against the tax cut and who said that government should cut spending if it were going to cut taxes so as not to increase the national debt were badly mistaken.

"If the government had cut its spending at the same time it cut taxes, nothing would have happened, the nation's economy would not have been helped at all since the two cuts would have balanced each other out," he said.

Held For Teachers

The seminar, which started July 11 and ends July 30, has been held for social studies, business education and economics teachers from all levels of education.

Twenty-seven different speakers from all over the nation are taking part at different times in leading the study. Dr. E. S. Wallace, professor of economics and business at the University of Nebraska and executive director of the Nebraska Council on Economic Education is directer of the seminar.

Omaha Loses By 16-24 Vote

. . . North Platte, Sidney Win

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Friday turned down on a 16-24 vote a bid for a state vocational technical school at Omaha, then handed second round approval to bills proposing state schools at North Platte and Sidney.

Legislation proposing a school at Norfolk was accorded similar endorsement Thursday.

All three measures will show up next on final reading along with two bills establishing the concept of area trade schools formed through local initiative and assisted by state financing

Advancement of proposals establishing three state-financed and state-operated trade schools continued to fly in the face of earlier legislative approval of a motion limiting the state to two such institutions during the 1965-67 biennium.

Corridor talk pointed to the possibility of a coalition effort to pass all five trade school acts, then attempt to provide Omaha with $200,000 in state funds for an area school.

Pending legislation would permit expenditure of $500,000 in state funds to help finance area schools, but limits any one such institution to $100,000 in aid.

Amendment Fails

Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha attempted in vain to attach an Omaha school to LB480. the bill proposing a site at North Platte.

The 10 Douglas County senators were joined by Sens. Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud, Rick Budd of Nebraska City, Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, John Knight of Lincoln, Richard Marvel of Hastings and Herb Nore of Genoa in voting for the Mahoney plan.

Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte opposed the move, arguing that it would be "wrong to attempt to add another location to the bill in an effort to combine strength."

The Legislature, he said, should have "a clear choice" on sites.

North Platte was recommended as the best location by an interim legislative study committee.

Says Omaha Logical

Mahoney said Omaha is the logical site for a trade school in view of the fact that it is the state's only large industrial city.

Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton noted that no bill had been introduced proposing an Omaha site, and he recommended rejection of "this Johnny-come-lately amendment."

Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha opposed the Sidney site, proposed in LB176, suggesting that the argument based on low initial cost of establishing a school at the Sioux Army Depot is "the poorest reason in the world."

Letter Attacked

Sen. Henry Pedersen Jr. of Omaha objected to a letter which he received from Kimball County Assessor Ida Brady, who suggested that surrounding counties might buy their supplies outside of Omaha and withhold their conventions from that city if Douglas County senators oppose the Sidney site.

All three bills were advanced on voice votes, making it impossible to determine the relative strength of each. North Platte had won strongest general file approval.

The Budget Committee has estimated biennial costs of trade schools at North Platte and Norfolk at $750,000 each, while the cost at Sidney was set at $150,000.

Legislature Limits Grid Retail Action

The Legislature Friday strictly limited retail activities of the proposed new state electric grid system after Jan. 1, 1973 to areas where no other retail power supply is available.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff proposed the restriction in an amendment to LB789, and it was accepted on a 32-2 vote.

Only Sens. Frank Nelson of O'Neill and William Wylie of Elgin dissented.

Approval of the Carpenter proposal cleared the path for second-round approval of the bill, authorizing muncipalities to contract with power districts without a vote of the people.

Consolidate Activities

The action, in effect, also amended LB764, which would consolidate the wholesale activities of Consumers Public Power District, Loup River Public Power District and Platte Valley Public Power and irrigation District.

LB764 provided that the grid could continue to serve municipalities at retail after 1972 if the cities so wished.

The bill itself declared legislative intent that the grid system would abandon the retail field as of Jan. 1, 1973.

The only exception now authorized under the amended version of LB789 is "where no other power system is available and willing to serve."

Earlier, lawmakers turned down on a 20-24 vote a bid to leave the decision of future retail service to municipalities in the hands of the Nebraska Power Review Board.

Permit Retail Service

Sens. John Knight and Hal Bauer, both of Lincoln, proposed that the board be authorized to permit retail service by the grid after 1972 only upon a finding that citizens of a municipality would be subjected to unnecessary hardship if grid service were denied.

Sen. Harold Stryker of Rising City, chief sponsor of LB764, opposed the proposal and offered a substitute motion which would keep the decision in the hands of municipalities.

Under the Stryker proposal — later withdrawn — municipalities could make their decision only after permitting all non-grid system power districts within 25 miles to offer competing retail service contracts.

Sens. Richard Marvel of Hastings and Calista Cooper Hughes of Humboldt contended that municipalities should have freedom of choice in determining their future retail supplier.

Board Criticized

Marvel and Carpenter both aimed criticism at the Power Board.

Marvel scored "statements and political activities of the past chairman and the present chairman of the board," a direct reference to Rep. Clair Callan and William Norton of Osceola.

Carpenter said he "wants to get rid of the Power Board" before it becomes "bigger than all of us together."

Also adopted, on a 39-0 count, was an amendment specifically providing that the grid system will be barred from retail activities in Lincoln once the merger between the city and CPPD's Lincoln distribution system is completed.

Viet Premier Decrees Death To War Economy Profiteers

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—With U.S. involvement evidently due to rise, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military government sought Friday to strengthen the Vietnamese war effort through an order of death for profiteers.

Execution is prescribed in a decree, announced by the official Viet Nam press, for persons convicted of manipulating prices, illegally hoarding goods or spreading false rumors to create economic confusion.

Penalties of imprisonment or death are ordered for a wide variety of other offenses, ranging from graft and unauthorized traffic in gold to "professing sympathy for communism or neutralism."

Increasing Role

In combat, the U.S. 7th fleet seemed ot be playing an increasing role. A spokesman reported two destroyers, Stoddard and Ingersoll, lobbed explosives into Communist shore positions Thursday.

Fliers struck hard again at Communist targets on both sides of the border. A military spokesman announced a half dozen bombing missions against North Viet Nam.

Among the air strikes was an attack by B57 jet bombers on a central highlands area east of Pleiku, and F100 Super Sabres blasted an area 45 miles southeast of Saigon in response to intelligence reports that 400 Viet Cong were concentrated there.

Red Cross Appeal

In Geneva, the International Rd Cross committee appealed to the warring powers to respect Red Cross conventions for the protection of prisoners and the civilian population. The all-Swiss organization's appeal was addressed to the governments of the United States and North and South Viet Nam and the Viet Cong.

"Everyone is aware that all is not as it should be," a Red Cross official told newsmen. "Nearly every day there are executions on both sides and this should not be allowed to continue."

The committee has a delegation in Saigon. So far no Red Cross agents have been admitted to Hanoi's territory.

LBJ, Advisors Meet For Third Discussion

Washington (AP) — President Johnson, conferring with his top strategy advisers for the third straight day, focused Friday on possible increases in draft calls to support the expected buildup of U.S. forces in Viet Nam.

Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary, said, however, "No decision has yet been made on any of the subjects which are under discussion and deliberation." He added that he does not know when any decision will be made.

Moyers said additional studies are expected to be completed by Monday or Tuesday and before decisions are nailed down there will be further "meetings as well as consultations with congressional leaders of both parties."

It was disclosed that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who is vacationing at Minocqua, Wisc., telephoned Johnson on another matter at midday and the two talked about the deliberations going on over Viet Nam.

Moyers said the question of calling up reserves to meet the manpower needs for Viet Nam was discussed Thursday and was not brought up Friday. But he indicated this does not mean this possibility's being ruled out.

After discussing the possible need to increase draft quotas, Moyers said, the President asked the service chiefs for more information and told them to make "further intensive examination of this question" over the weekend.

He asked that "special studies be made over the weekend on the additional strength that each military service may need in South Viet Nam," Moyers added.

There has been talk of putting in about 100,000 more U.S. military men in addition to the 75,000 already there.

Moyers said Johnson would spend the weekend at Camp David, Md., but would keep in touch with his advisers.

Belmont Pool Gets Favorable Look

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

City Council members strongly indicated they favored adding $85,000 for a swimming pool in Belmont Friday night as they continued review of Mayor Dean Petersen's 1965-66 proposed city budget.

Informal approval was given to most budget requests, but for the first time during hearings the council suggested major additional expenditures in some areas while challenging some requested appropriations in others.

The council covered the sanitary landfill, street construction and wheel tax divisions of the public works department, municipal swimming pools and started deliberations on budget requests of the parks and recreation department.

The Belmont pool had been slated for 1966-67.

More Study

Support was evident for including both the Belmont pool and the $45,000 instructional pool at Woods Park in the budget for next year, but some council members said that if only one pool was possible, the Belmont pool should come first. Both projects will be given further study.

Also added to the park department budget was $7,500 for the salary for a Children's Zoo director,

One item discussed thoroughly was the proposed $492,500 Leighton Street spur, a high priority project in the street construction program.

Although not taking the project out of the budget, Council members said they wanted to give the proposed 33rd to 48th project additional study.

Comstock Objects

Councilman John Comstock objected to the project partly since it was put ahead of other street improvements that have been in the capital improvement for years.

Council members indicated some modification in the city's proposed Leighton spur, maybe only improving Leighton now from 44th to 48th at 44-foot width.

The mayor and Obering said that the city had made commitments to make the Leighton spur improvement and 44-foot between 33rd and 48th eventually would be necessary.

Overload Causes Power Failure

An overloaded circuit in the West Lincoln relay switch due to the heat last night caused the loss of 10,000 kilowatts of power and the lights of one-third of Lincoln.

The overload shut the A Street Power Plant down bringing about two black-outs of 5 and 30 minute intervals.

Consumer's Public Power District had a sub-station hooked up with West Lincoln and suffered a loss of power to one of its areas also.

Police department radio service was interrupted for 28 minutes during the power failure when the Civil Defense emergency power unit failed to start.

Glen Wells, fire department mechanic, said this was the first time in the two-year history of the unit that it failed to operate properly. The unit is set to start automatically when there is a 10 per cent drop in the electric power supplied by the city.

Without the central unit of the police radio system operating, none of the radios in the patrol cars colud be operated either, police said.

All automatic traffic signals in the city were out of service, police said.

The bill itself declared legislative intent that the grid system would abandon the retail field as of Jan. 1, 1973.

The only exception now authorized under the amended version of LB789 is "where no other power system is available and willing to serve."

Earlier, lawmakers turned down on a 20-24 vote a bid to leave the decision of future retail service to municipalities in the hands of the Nebraska Power Review Board.

Permit Retail Service

Sens. John Knight and Hal Bauer, both of Lincoln, proposed that the board be authorized to permit retail service by the grid after 1972 only upon a finding that citizens of a municipality would be subjected to unnecessary hardship if grid service were denied.

Sen. Harold Stryker of Rising City, chief sponsor of LB764, opposed the proposal and offered a substitute motion which would keep the decision in the hands of municipalities.

Under the Stryker proposal — later withdrawn — municipalities could make their decision only after permitting all non-grid system power districts within 25 miles to offer competing retail service contracts.

Sens. Richard Marvel of Hastings and Calista Cooper Hughes of Humboldt contended that municipalities should have freedom of choice in determining their future retail supplier.

Board Criticized

Marvel and Carpenter both aimed criticism at the Power Board.

Marvel scored "statements and political activities of the past chairman and the present chairman of the board," a direct reference to Rep. Clair Callan and William Norton of Osceola.

Carpenter said he "wants to get rid of the Power Board" before it becomes "bigger than all of us together."

Also adopted, on a 39-0 count, was an amendment specifically providing that the grid system will be barred from retail activities in Lincoln once the merger between the city and CPPD's Lincoln distribution system is completed.

HEALTH CARE BILL DEFINED

More than half of the $6 billion in benefits contained in the Social Security-health care bill now in Congress will go to recipients of welfare and pension payments, according to Sterling F. Green's article, the third in a series.

Belmont Pool Gets Favorable Look

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

City Council members strongly indicated they favored adding $85,000 for a swimming pool in Belmont Friday night as they continued review of Mayor Dean Petersen's 1965-66 proposed city budget.

Informal approval was given to most budget requests, but for the first time during hearings the council suggested major additional expenditures in some areas while challenging some requested appropriations in others.

The council covered the sanitary landfill, street construction and wheel tax divisions of the public works department, municipal swimming pools and started deliberations on budget requests of the parks and recreation department.

The Belmont pool had been slated for 1966-67.

More Study

Support was evident for including both the Belmont pool and the $45,000 instructional pool at Woods Park in the budget for next year, but some council members said that if only one pool was possible, the Belmont pool should come first. Both projects will be given further study.

Also added to the park department budget was $7,500 for the salary for a Children's Zoo director,

One item discussed thoroughly was the proposed $492,500 Leighton Street spur, a high priority project in the street construction program.

Although not taking the project out of the budget, Council members said they wanted to give the proposed 33rd to 48th project additional study.

Comstock Objects

Councilman John Comstock objected to the project partly since it was put ahead of other street improvements that have been in the capital improvement for years.

Council members indicated some modification in the city's proposed Leighton spur, maybe only improving Leighton now from 44th to 48th at 44-foot width.

The mayor and Obering said that the city had made commitments to make the Leighton spur improvement and 44-foot between 33rd and 48th eventually would be necessary.

Overload Causes Power Failure

An overloaded circuit in the West Lincoln relay switch due to the heat last night caused the loss of 10,000 kilowatts of power and the lights of one-third of Lincoln.

The overload shut the A Street Power Plant down bringing about two black-outs of 5 and 30 minute intervals.

Consumer's Public Power District had a sub-station hooked up with West Lincoln and suffered a loss of power to one of its areas also.

Police department radio service was interrupted for 28 minutes during the power failure when the Civil Defense emergency power unit failed to start.

Glen Wells, fire department mechanic, said this was the first time in the two-year history of the unit that it failed to operate properly. The unit is set to start automatically when there is a 10 per cent drop in the electric power supplied by the city.

Without the central unit of the police radio system operating, none of the radios in the patrol cars colud be operated either, police said.

All automatic traffic signals in the city were out of service, police said.

New Coin Release Will Be Next Year

Washington (AP) — President Johnson signed Friday the bill which is to bring copper-nickel "sandwich" coins to the public early next year. But, said the President, don't hoard your present silver coins.

Such hoarding wouldn't be profitable, he asserted when signing the bill, because there now are 12 billion silver coins in circulation, another billion will be minted before production ends and silver coins last an average of 25 years. He said the treasury expects to hold the line on the price of uncoined silver.

Treasury sources said production of the silverless quarters can begin within a couple of weeks at the Denver or Philadelphia mint while dimes can be produced in quantity by early next year. The new half dollars, with silver content reduced from 90 to 40% are not expected to start flowing until 1966.

The San Francisco mint is being reactivated to play a part in production.

Early Release

The program calls for building a multibillion coin backlog before making any public release but treasury spokesman said if an acute coin shortage should develop during the Christmas buying season some new coins might be released late this year.

Johnson noted that this will be the first fundamental change in the nation's coinage in 173 years and explained that it is dictated by the need to conserve silver for industrial and other demands which, overall, have been consuming silver at about twice the new-production rate.

The new quarters and dimes, viewed full-face, will look much like the present ones but will be easily distinguished from the side by the red rim of the copper core over which the nickel alloy will be placed. The half dollar will be virtually indistinguishable from the present ones.

Same Portraits

All three will bear the same markings and the same portraits—Franklin D. Roosevelt on the dime, George Washington on the quarter and John F. Kennedy on the half dollar—as the present coins. All will be dated 1965 indefinitely, and will not bear small letters identifying the mint.

All are designed to function in vending machines as do their current silver counterparts.

No changes are planned in the makeup of pennies and nickels or of silver dollars but no production of the latter is currently planned.

Marine Widow Plans To Ask Viet Nam Duty

Detroit (AP)—The 19-year-old widow of a Detroit Marine killed in Viet Nam said Friday she plans to enlist in the armed forces and request duty in Viet Nam.

Mrs. Kay Lorraine Bell, a bride of seven months, said she would go "not for revenge but to do my part also."

She said she wants to be trained as a nurse and aid wounded service men.

Mrs. Bell said she was informed that her husband, Cpl. Elias Bell Jr.,19, was killed in a battalion landing on a beach near Da Nang, South Viet Nam. The battalion was ambushed moments after it reached the beach she said.

Her husband's body was returned to Detroit by plane Thursday night, accompanied by his brother Army Pfc. Issac Bell, who also was stationed in Viet Nam.

Mrs. Bell said she did not know her husband was in Viet Nam until a friend told her that her mother-in-law had received a telegram informing the family of Bell's death.

Mrs. Bell said she and her husband had discussed the possibility of his going to Viet Nam while they were on their honeymoon.

"We both didn't think we should be fighting in Viet Nam before first getting things straightened out 'n Mississippi," Mrs. Bell, a Negro, remarkd.

"But being a Marine he wanted to do what he thought was right for the service so he volunteered to go to Viet Nam.

Suspect Dragnet Set Up

. . . U.S. AID SHOT

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. and South Vietnamese police set up a huge dragnet Saturday for an American aid official wanted in the slaying of his boss, Jack E. Ryan, and a Vietnamese woman.

Ryan, 44, chief of the U.S. Aid Mission's public safety division, and the woman, Mrs. Nguyen Thi Hai, an employe of Ryan's office, were shot Friday night in the driveway of his villa.

Police sources identified the suspect as an employe of Ryan's department who had been a close friend of the woman. They said the assailant apparently was motivated by a desire for personal revenge.

Headed Training

Ryan, a former FBI agent and a veteran of 10 years' service in Southeast Asia, headed up some 100 Americans giving police training to the South Vietnamese.

He leaves a wife and two children, none of whom are in Saigon.

Ryan was shot in the chest and head as he stepped from his car after he had called on another American earlier in the evening about a housing problem, police sources said. Either shot could have been fatal, a doctor said.

The police sources said Mrs. Hai apparently arrived at Ryan's villa earlier and was waiting for him when the gunman arrived. She seemed to have tried to flee but was cut down by a bullet, they said. The assailant dragged her body inside the house.

Bloody Scene

When police arrived, the lights on Ryan's car still shone garishly on the bloody scene.

Friends of the parties involved said that Mrs. Hai and the suspect had been close friends. The U.S. embassy and the Vietnamese national police immediately began a fullscale investigation in a potentially embarrassing case for the American official colony here.

In the past year, the U.S. aid mission's public safety division has grown in size and importance with the expansion of the Vietnamese police force to 40,000 men.

Ranking Advisor

Ryan, in addition, was personal adviser to Col. Pham Van Lieu, chief of the Vietnamese National Police Service. As such, he was one of the ranking U.S. advisers in South Viet Nam.

The slaying raises difficult legal complications. South Viet Nam and the United States have no formal status of forces agreement providing for trial of U.S. servicemen charged with capital crimes here.

Half of Benefit For Welfare, Pensions

Editor's note — The most extensive changes in the Social Security system since its establishment 30 years ago are embodied in the sweeping bill now nearing final action by Congress. Details of the changes, including the comprehensive health care program for the elderly are spelled out in a series of articles, the third of which follows.

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer

Washington (AP)— Medicare has stolen the headlines, but nearly half of the $6 billion bundle of new benefits in the Social Security bill will go into higher old age pensions and welfare payments.

In the far-off future— say, about the year 2010—the massive bill now being rushed to completion will bring monthly Social Security checks as big as $368 a month to some families.

Such pie in the sky is not for the more than 16 million Americans who already are retired or who will reach 65 soon.

But all of these will make some modest financial gains —tangible and spendable — and the first batch of new benefits is just around the corner.

September

They will come in September, if President Johnson gets the mamoth bill from Congress in time to sign it in July. Congress has decreed that many sections shall take effect in the second month after enactment.

So if you are already on the Social Security rolls as a retired or disabled worker or the widow of one, your September check will be seven per cent greater. The smallest increase will be $4.

That check should reach you about Oct. 3. Even before it comes you will have received, along about mid-September, a separate check amounting to 56% of your regular monthly payment.

This is the lump-sum payment of the increase, retroactive to last Jan. 1. It represents eight months of increase at seven per cent.

Minimum Benefit

If you have been receiving the minimum retirement benefit, $40 a month, you will get $44 from September on.

If you have been getting the top amount for a retired individual, $127, your monthly benefit moves up to $135.90.

For those who will be retiring in the future, the pensions will be larger, because the wage base—the portion of your income on which both the benefits and the Social Security tax are figured—rises from $4,800 to $6,600 next Jan. 1.

Eventually the monthly check will climb as high as $168. The limit for a family, now $254, will advance to $368.

But eventually is a long way off, and there is something for you to do right now: Find out whether any of the dozens of other changes in the Social Security law are aimed at your own problems.

Liberalizations

Several of these liberalizations take effect month after next, along with the basic pension increase; some next Jan. 1; some are retroactive. They affect widows, children, farmers, waiters, disabled persons and the blind.

The Social Security Administration fully expects to be swamped with inquiries and will welcome them.

Are you a widow whose husband was on the Social Secutiry rolls?

Then you can start receiving benefits at age 60 instead of 62, if you choose This is effective in September.

Smaller Amount

If you decide on this course, your monthly benefit payments will be 71.5% of your late husband's benefit, a somewhat smaller amount than you would get if you waited two years more.

Are you a retired worker able to earn more money but barried from doing so because you would forfeit your monthly Social Security check?

After next Jan. 1, you can step up your earnings. The new law will permit up to $1,500 a year without loss of benefits. The old limit was $1,200.

And whereas you now lose $1 in benefits for every $2 in wages that you earn between $1,200 and $1,700, the new law will extend the 2-for-1 range from $1,500 to $2,700.

Student Benefit

Do you have a child in school or college?

The new law says that the children of retired, deceased, or disabled workers will continue to receive benefits until age 22 if they are in school. The present law cuts them off at age 18.

Are you 72 or over, but ineligible for benefits because you lack the required number of quarter-years in a covered job?

From September on, you may qualify for a new "transitional insured" status.

It means you would receive a basic benefit of $35 a month; your wife would get $17.50.

Does a disability prevent you from earning a living?

As of September, you are eligible for benefits if your disability has lasted 12 months or can be expected to last that long.

Old Rule

Under the old rule, you were barred unless the disability was expected to last indefinitely or to result in death.

Are you the divorced wife of a retired or deceased worker who had Social Security coverage?

If so, you qualify for benefits at age 62 if you were married for 20 years and if the former husband had been making a "substantial" contribution to your support.

Are you a waiter, porter or barber?

You and a million others who receive a substantial part of their income in tips may now get Social Security credit for your tip income.

Report Tips

You will be required to report the amount of the tips to your employer, and he will count them into your paycheck deductions for both income tax and Social Security.

But your employer isn't legally accountable if you fail to tell him how much you made in tips. And unlike other employers, he is not required to match your Social Security tax.

Even without his contribution, you'll get full benefits when age 65 comes and you can get off your aching feet at last.

Boss Lady Has Ice Cream Breaks

Batavia, Ill. (UPI)—When the thermometer reached 90 degrees Friday, 600 employes of the Furnas Electric Co. knocked off for an ice cream break.

It was on the boss—Mrs. Leto M. Furnas, 80. She has a standing order for the ice cream break on days of 90 degrees or more. She sponsors an annual employes' dinner and gives presents to the plant force at Christmas.

Mrs. Furnas, widow of the firm's founder, William Carlyle Furnas, is chairman of the board. She is its oldest employe, too, in terms of continuous service, as well as age.

"I don't really do much any more," she said to an interviewer, "except pass upon decisions."

President William Lisman took a slightly different view: "Mrs. Furnas' word is law," he said.

She never misses a board meeting and drives her own car.

The company, which markets electrical controls designed to handle industrial current loads, sold more than $10 million worth of its products last year and is about 30% ahead of that rate this year.

It was started in the Furnas home in West Allis, Wis., in 1932.

One of our first problems," Mrs. Furnas recalled, "was the cookie jar."

"You see," she explained, "the shop was in the basement, the assembly department in the living room, and the drafting department upstairs.

"Every time my husband went through the kitchen on the way from one to the other, he took a couple of my cookies. I finally had to hide them from him."

Mrs. Furnas assembled the company's first product, a drum switch, and one of the first 50 she turned out is mounted on a plaque in the lobby of the plant in Batavia.

Brooke Sentenced By Soviet Judges To Five Year Term

Moscow (UPI)—A young British college lecturer accused of belonging to an anti-Communist ring financed by the US.. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) was sentenced Friday night to five years "loss of freedom."

A three-judge Soviet court which deliberated for three hours and 25 minutes ordered Gerald Brooke, 28, to spend one year in jail and four years in a "strict regime labor colony."

The London teacher had admitted his guilt but pleaded for leniency. He asked the court not to jail him for "the best years of my life." Brooke could have been jailed for seven years.

'Show' Trial

The long deliberation which followed the "show" trial of Brooke was nerve-wracking by Soviet standards, particularly since the defendant admitted all charges against him.

At the close of his trial earlier Friday, Brooke spoke in fluent Russian in an abject plea for mercy. He declared:

"I have committed a grave crime. I cannot find any excuse for what I have done. I have an elderly mother. If I get a long sentence, she may never see me again . . . and I am losing the best years of my life."

Disguised As Tourist

Brooke confessed to entering Russia last April, disguised as a tourist, for the purpose of contacting agents of the Popular Labor Alliance (NTS), an anti-Soviet organization of Russian exiles in Europe.

He was arrested in the Moscow apartment of friends April 27 after a trap was sprung by a Soviet-NTS double agent. The Soviets Thursday said that one of the primary purposes of NTS was the overthrow of the Russian government.

The Communist Party newspaper Pravda charged that the CIA was financing operations by NTS. It was also charged that the British embassy in Moscow was in cahoots with Brooke.

Prosecutor Gennadi Terkov had urged the court to sentence Brooke to seven years "deprivation of liberty" two years in prison and the rest in a labor camp.

September Draft Call Up Slightly

Washington (AP)—The draft call for September is up by a modest 500 over that for the previous month, a routine Defense Department announcement disclosed Friday.

The September quota, all for the Army, is set at 17,000 men.

It was issued while top level government conferences were going on at the White House and elsewhere on the question whether reserves should be called up and what other steps might be needed to increase U.S. military strength in Viet Nam.

The September quota of 17,000 compares with 17,100 for July and 17,000 for June.

Businessmen Push Relation Committee

Americus, Ga. (AP)—White business leaders, who offered to post bond for four Negro women arrested in a racial incident, won agreement Friday from city and county officials for creation of a bi-racial committee.

City councilmen and county commissioners in a joint meeting decided to create a community relations committee and selected 14 names from which to draw eight members.

Conferences were set up with Negro leaders to discuss the proposal. Mrs. Mable Barnum, a civil rights leader, said she was hopeful the issues would be settled.

The Americus Merchants Association recommended Thursday that city and county governing bodies set up a committee. About 25 white businessmen went to a civil rights meeting Thursday night at a Negro church to seek racial harmony.

Madrid (AP) — Generalissimo Francisco Franco has issued an amnesty decree permitting motorists permanently banned from driving, to take new tests after six years. If they pass they would be reissued licenses.

Boss Lady Has Ice Cream Breaks

Batavia, Ill. (AP)—When the thermometer reached 90 degrees Friday, 600 employes of the Furnas Electric Co. knocked off for an ice cream break.

It was on the boss—Mrs. Leto M. Furnas, 80. She has a standing order for the ice cream break on days of 90 degrees or more. She sponsors an annual employes' dinner and gives presents to the plant force at Christmas.

Mrs. Furnas, widow of the firm's founder, William Carlyle Furnas, is chairman of the board. She is its oldest employe, too, in terms of continuous service, as well as age.

"I don't really do much any more," she said to an interviewer, "except pass upon decisions."

President William Lisman took a slightly different view: "Mrs. Furnas' word is law," he said.

She never misses a board meeting and drives her own car.

The company, which markets electrical controls designed to handle industrial current loads, sold more than $10 million worth of its products last year and is about 20% ahead of that rate this year.

It was started in the Furnas home in West Allis, Wis., in 1932.

One of our first problems," Mrs. Furnas recalled, "was the cookie jar."

"You see," she explained, "the shop was in the basement, the assembly department in the living room, and the drafting department upstairs.

"Every time my husband went through the kitchen on the way from one to the other, he took a couple of my cookies. I finally had to hide them from him."

Mrs. Furnas assembled the company's first product, a drum switch, and one of the first 50 she turned out is mounted on a plaque in the lobby of the plant in Batavia.

Brooke Sentenced By Soviet Judges To Five Year Term

Moscow (UPI)—A young British college lecturer accused of belonging to an anti-Communist ring financed by the US.. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) was sentenced Friday night to five years "loss of freedom."

A three-judge Soviet court which deliberated for three hours and 25 minutes ordered Gerald Brooke, 28, to spend one year in jail and four years in a "strict regime labor colony."

The London teacher had admitted his guilt but pleaded for leniency. He asked the court not to jail him for "the best years of my life." Brooke could have been jailed for seven years.

'Show' Trial

The long deliberation which followed the "show" trial of Brooke was nerve-wracking by Soviet standards, particularly since the defendant admitted all charges against him.

At the close of his trial earlier Friday, Brooke spoke in fluent Russian in an abject plea for mercy. He declared:

"I have committed a grave crime. I cannot find any excuse for what I have done. I have an elderly mother. If I get a long sentence, she may never see me again . . . and I am losing the best years of my life."

Disguised As Tourist

Brooke confessed to entering Russia last April, disguised as a tourist, for the purpose of contacting agents of the Popular Labor Alliance (NTS), an anti-Soviet organization of Russian exiles in Europe.

He was arrested in the Moscow apartment of friends April 27 after a trap was sprung by a Soviet-NTS double agent. The Soviets Thursday said that one of the primary purposes of NTS was the overthrow of the Russian government.

The Communist Party newspaper Pravda charged that the CIA was financing operations by NTS. It was also charged that the British embassy in Moscow was in cahoots with Brooke.

Prosecutor Gennadi Terekov had urged the court to sentence Brooke to seven years "deprivation of liberty" two years in prison and the rest in a labor camp.

Businessmen Push Relation Committee

Americus, Ga. (AP)—White business leaders, who offered to post bond for four Negro women arrested in a racial incident, won agreement Friday from city and county officials for creation of a bi-racial committee.

City councilmen and county commissioners in a joint meeting decided to create a community relations committee and selected 14 names from which to draw eight members.

Conferences were set up with Negro leaders to discuss the proposal. Mrs. Mable Barnum, a civil rights leader, said she was hopeful the issues would be settled.

The Americus Merchants Association recommended Thursday that city and county governing bodies set up a committee. About 25 white businessmen went to a civil rights meeting Thursday night at a Negro church to seek racial harmony.

September Draft Call Up Slightly

Washington (AP)—The draft call for September is up by a modest 500 over that for the previous month, a routine Defense Department announcement disclosed Friday.

The September quota, all for the Army, is set at 17,000 men.

It was issued while top level government conferences were going on at the White House and elsewhere on the question whether reserves should be called up and what other steps might be needed to increase U.S. military strength in Viet Nam.

The September quota of 17,000 compares with 17,100 for July and 17,000 for June.

Suspect Dragnet Set Up

. . . U.S. AID SHOT

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. and South Vietnamese police set up a huge dragnet Saturday for an American aid official wanted in the slaying of his boss, Jack E. Ryan, and a Vietnamese woman.

Ryan, 44, chief of the U.S. Aid Mission's public safety division, and the woman, Mrs. Nguyen Thi Hai, an employe of Ryan's office, were shot Friday night in the driveway of his villa.

Police sources identified the suspect as an employe of Ryan's department who had been a close friend of the woman. They said the assailant apparently was motivated by a desire for personal revenge.

Headed Training

Ryan, a former FBI agent and a veteran of 10 years' service in Southeast Asia, headed up some 100 Americans giving police training to the South Vietnamese.

He leaves a wife and two children, none of whom are in Saigon.

Ryan was shot in the chest and head as he stepped from his car after he had called on another American earlier in the evening about a housing problem, police sources said. Either shot could have been fatal, a doctor said.

The police sources said Mrs. Hai apparently arrived at Ryan's villa earlier and was waiting for him when the gunman arrived. She seemed to have tried to flee but was cut down by a bullet, they said. The assailant dragged her body inside the house.

Bloody Scene

When police arrived, the lights on Ryan's car still shone garishly on the bloody scene.

Friends of the parties involved said that Mrs. Hai and the suspect had been close friends. The U.S. embassy and the Vietnamese national police immediately began a fullscale investigation in a potentially embarrassing case for the American official colony here.

In the past year, the U.S. aid mission's public safety division has grown in size and importance with the expansion of the Vietnamese police force to 40,000 men.

Ranking Advisor

Ryan, in addition, was personal adviser to Col. Pham Van Lieu, chief of the Vietnamese National Police Service. As such, he was one of the ranking U.S. advisers in South Viet Nam.

The slaying raises difficult legal complications. South Viet Nam and the United States have no formal status of forces agreement providing for trial of U.S. servicemen charged with capital crimes here.

Pope Pleads Not Guilty To Six Charges

In Connection With Big Springs Triple Slayings, Bank Robbery

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

Duane E Pope, 22, of Roxbury, Kan., Friday entered pleas of not guilty to six federal charges, three of which could bring the death penalty, in connection with the bank robbery and triple slaying in Big Springs June 4.

The young McPherson (Kan.) College graduate, flanked by defense attorneys Robert B. Crosby and Wallace M. Rudolph, stood before U.S. District Judge Robert Van Pelt and listened to U.S. Attorney Theodore Richling read all six counts of the indictment.

Then, in a firm but barely audible voice, he entered his pleas of innocence.

Following the arraignment, Crosby filed with the court a motion asking that two psychiatrists and one psychologist be subpoened to testify on behalf of the defendant.

Named in the motion were Dr. John Baldwin, psychiatrist, and Dr. Elianora I. Brassard, psychologist, both of Lincoln, and Dr. Herbert Modlin, psychiatrist, of the Menninger Clinic, Topeka, Kan.

The motion stated that Pope could not afford to pay for the testimony, which Crosby said was "necessary for his adequate defense."

Crosby continued, "I have not the least doubt that the testimony of the witnesses will support the plea of not guilty."

He told newsmen that a plea of innocent by reason of insanity or temporary insanity is not allowed in federal court. A not guilty plea covers all conditions, he said.

The federal statute under which Pope is charged provides that when a death is caused during a bank robbery, the penalty is not less than 10 years, or a maximum penalty of death if the trial jury so determines.

Friday Hearing Likely

Later, Richling, who heads the prosecution, said he will ask for a hearing next Friday on the motion. He said he has no objection to the doctors examining Pope and testifying at the trial, but added some mechanical problems are presented in paying for the services rendered.

Richling said the money, available under the Criminal Justice Act of 1964, is not readily available until Aug. 20, when the act pertaining to indigent cases takes effort.

Both the defense and the prosecution could not estimate when the trial will be held.

Richling said, "I can be ready for trial in a week," but added, "certainly the defense is entitled to all the time that is necessary."

Defense attorney Crosby commented that he expects the trial date to be "more than a month away."

Pope is charged with slaying three employes of the Farmers State Bank at Big Springs during a $1,500 robbery. Shot in the back and neck while lying face down on the floor were Andreas Kjeldgaard, 77, bank president; cashier Glen Hendrickson, 59, and Mrs. Lois Ann Hothan, 35, a bookkeeper and widowed mother of three.

Trust Fund Now Stands Over $4,000

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Big Springs—An educational trust fund that had an unusual beginning has swelled to well over $4,000 for the orphaned sons of Mrs. Lois Ann Hothan.

Mrs. Hothan, a bookkeeper at the Farmers State Bank, was one of three killed in the June 4 holdup of the bank.

She left the boys—Rick, 10, and Kim, 6,—whose father had died only a few months earlier.

Glen Kepler, vice president of the Big Springs Chamber of Commerce, said the group is handling the donations to provide the lads a college education.

Some truck drivers coming through town, Kepler said, suggested that the fund be started and left contributions for that purpose.

Idea Snowballed

Soon interested local residents approached the chamber about administrating the program, and "it's become quite a snowball affair," said Kepler.

Individuals and organizations in all the neighboring towns have contributed, and funds have come from throughout the country, from both the east and west coasts, Alaska and one or two foreign countries.

Letters found their way to Big Springs even from Australia and New Zealand, the businessman reported.

Though it's been seven weeks since the holdup, for which Duane Pope was arraigned and pleaded innocent in Federal District Court Friday, money "keeps coming in," Kepler said.

Every day chamber secretary Julius Arnold finds more in the fund's Post Office Box 706 at Big Springs.

"It was a news story that got very wide notice," explained Kepler of the widespread interest.

No Adoption Plans

A number of inquiries have also come in expressing a desire to adopt the two youngsters.

But they are not up for adoption, Kepler noted.

Rick and Kim are being cared for by their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Waterman, and other relatives in the Big Springs area.

'Swede Town' Marking Diamond Event With Jam Packed Three-Day Program

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Wausa—This town hasn't always been Wausa.

First it was Thorson after its founder and first resident, Theodore Thorson.

Then it became Vasa—for the king of Sweden.

Finally Wausa emerged in 1890, and that has worked pretty well since.

John E. Baggstrom saw the possibilities of the name, turning its letters into "We Are U.S.A." for a sign that flew over the old settlers picnic in 1915. It also commemorated the "Birth of a Swede Town" in 1890.

The grandson of that original-thinking sign painter, John Eric Baggstrom, has recreated the banner for the community's 75th anniversary celebration that turned on full steam Friday.

Another bit of the past will be brought forward as the oldest son of Theodore Thorson comes from his home in Crook, S.D., for a visit.

"The Swede Town angle has really caught on," noted Bob Hulse, a Kansas City professional helping to stage the celebration.

Official On Hand

To carry the theme further, Sven Olou-Holm, deputy general consulate of the Swedish Embassy in Chicago, arrived Thursday to crown the queen of the celebration.

The town's 75 years of existence will be condensed into an hour when "Showtime in Swede Town" hits the stage Saturday evening.

Hulse put together the spectacular of "songs and dances giving a panoramic view of the town's history in a light vein."

From Indian dances to the "jerk," folk singing to "Hello, Dolly,"—"they're all in there," Huls assured.

Some 150 local performers—including the Swinging Swedes dancers and "Dolly" Janet Suhr—have spent the last three weeks working up the show. "Three-fourths of them had never danced in their lives," said the director, noting that plenty of very fine talent had been turned up.

Barbecue Dinner

Preparations have been made for over 3,000 spectators at the performance, which will follow a barbecue dinner in the city park.

The Ink Spots recording artists staged two shows as the celebration got under way Friday, and television's Johnny Ringo will star in double-header performances Sunday.

Also on the jammed three-day schedule are the burial of a time capsule to be opened at the centennial, an alumni reunion, and almost continuous entertainment and activity, in the planning for a year and a half.

Sen. Carl Curtis and Rep. Clair Callan will share billing as honorary marshals for the 130-plus entry jubilee parade Saturday.

"We're celebrating to show our appreciation for the progress that's been made in the last 75 years in the 'Village Built on Faith,'" said Chairman Gerald (Gundy) Gunderson.

City Council Acts Informally On Budget

The City Council Friday night reviewed a number of budget recommendations and took informal actions which included the following:

Sanitary Landfill — $113,385, up $21,225. Increases due to salaries, fencing, additional radios, a new tractor and other improvements.

Councilman John Comstock spoke against any funds in the budget to purchase land at the sanitary landfill and said he wanted to give further study to the proposed $125,000 land acquistion item in the general fund budget.

Street Construction — $1,124,976, up $50,315. Increases due to two key projects, proposed $492,500 Leighton spur, 33rd to 48th; and Holdrege by-pass, 9th to 19th. Estimated revenue for next fiscal year is $800,000 and balances of $324,976, totaling $1,124,976. Key commitments are $90,000 for new bridge at 10th and Salt Creek and O St., 25th to 32nd.

Wheel Tax — $926,707, up $494,374. Increases due to additional projects like $419,000 for resurfacing and widening of Vine, 17th to 33rd; $100,000 of arterial resurfacing and $217,524 for part of Holdrege by-pass improvement.

Councilman John Mason urged the Council to consider increasing the wheel tax another $2 immediately to help defray city street improvement costs.

"If motorists don't want to pay they can sell their cars," said Mason.

However, Mrs. Helen Boosalis, Council vice-chairman, said that raising the wheel tax was only a "drop in the bucket" to solving the city street problems and again urged the appointment by the mayor of a citizen committee to review the overall city street improvement program.

Swimming Pools — $121,975, up $16,773. Increases due to new equipment, capital improvements and payment on coin-operated lockers at Woods Pool.

Parks — The council halted debate before completing review of the total park department budget. The department asked for $892,315, up $56,269. Increases because of higher salaries, $45,000 instrumental pool at Woods Park, $332,100 for land purchases and $50,000 for park and recreation office building at Antelope Park.

Tot Injured As Ponytail Caught In Power Takeoff

Bancroft — Three-year-old Carla Abendroth suffered a badly torn scalp when her ponytail became caught in the power takeoff of a roller grinder.

The youngster was standing near the grinder being operated by her father, Orin Abendroth. She bent down to pick up an ear of corn fallen on the ground when the accident occurred.

The child was rushed to a Pender hospital for treatment and later transferred to an Omaha hospital where she underwent surgery for grafting on her scalp.

Prince Philip To Visit U.S.

London (UPI) — Prince Philip, much-traveled husband of Queen Elizabeth II, will visit the United States and Canada next March, Buckingham Palace announced Friday.

After a five-week tour of the Caribbean with the queen aboard the royal yacht Britannia, he will go on alone to visit North America March 8-20. His stops will be Miami, Houston, Los Angeles, Chicago, New York, Toronto and Ottawa.

Head Start Director Is 'Pleased' With Projects

Kenneth Rashid, area director of the Head Start program, Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington, D.C., told leaders of the Lincoln programs he was "pleased with what I've seen so far in Nebraska."

He visited Omaha, Kearney and Grand Island before coming to Lincoln Friday.

Similar programs that probably won't use the name Head Start, will continue on a 9 to 12 month basis for young children, Rashid said. The permanent programs will begin in qualified cities this fall.

Head Start programs will continue next summer, according to Rashid. He said follow-up studies will be made on the children who participated in the programs this summer.

He emphasized that cities will still be given a wide latitude in developing programs to fith their particular need. However, all future programs must involve more parental participation in the planning and administration, he told the Lincoln leaders.

Rashid said some centers have begun adult education classes for parents of children attending Head Start. It's possible that related programs such as speech therapy or hygiene may eventually be added, he said

Rashid said, "The only criteria for success of the Head Start programs is that everyone involved has a smile and shows interest."

Mrs. Mary Petsche and Dr. Wylie Russell, directors of the Lincoln program both praised the teen-age volunteers that have helped them this summer. Both were pleased with the results of this summer's project.

Next Friday at 8:30 p.m. on KUON-TV Mrs. Petsche, Russell, John Angle, the Rev. Lawrence Stanton and Sanford Nelson will discuss the Lincoln program. A film will be televised showing what the children actually do at the centers.

Lincoln Man Critical After Truck Mishap

Ervin W. Matzner, of 2860 Lincoln, was listed in very critical condition at a local hospital with chest and back injuries as the result of a two-truck collision at 20th and Cornhusker Highway Friday.

The Nebraska State Safety Patrol said Matzner and Bruce Wright, 25 of 410 So. 30th, were riding in the back of a Lincoln city park department pickup truck driven by Jim Patton, 18, of Lincoln, address unknown.

The pickup collided with a state dump truck driven by Stan Helmke of Lincoln towing a bulldozer on a trailer.

Treated and released were Lou Bixler, 22, of 1426 So. 9th, a passenger in the pickup, and Debbie Barker, 11, of Waco, Texas.

The Barker girl was a passenger in a stalled car near the scene of the crash, which was struck by the dump truck.

The Safety Patrol said the accident apparently stemmed from the stalled car, which had been operated by Mrs. Faun Black, whose address was not listed.

Former Ainsworth Resident Is Killed

Rupert, Idaho (AP) — Milton Lee Fernau, 23, of Heyburn, Idaho, was killed Thursday when his car rammed into the rear of another. Eight others were injured.

Fernau originally was from Ainsworth, Neb.

2 Convicted Slayers Get Life Terms

Omaha (AP) — District Judge John E. Murphy sentenced Friday two Omahans to life imprisonment in the slaying of an Omaha bartender in a robbery attempt on Aug. 18, 1964.

Sentenced were 24-year-old Jerome Irving, Jr., and 17-year-old Donald H. Davis. They were found guilty by a jury on May 20.

Nathaniel Hall, also charged with first degree murder, in the death of Joseph Kellinghaus, earlier pleaded guilty before a three-judge panel and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

In the cases of Irving and Davis the jury specified life sentences be imposed.

Two Traffic Deaths Raise Toll To 182

By The Associated Press

Two traffic deaths Friday night sent the state's 1965 toll to 185 compared with 201 on July 24 of last year.

Henry Hinz of Route 1, Fairbury, was killed when his car was in collision with one driven by Johnny Nispel, 20, of Plymouth at the intersection of Highways 103 and 136 a mile north of Fairbury.

Another two-car collision at the intersection of Highways 23 and 83 a mile west of Maywood killed Elsie M. Koch, 43, of Farnam. Her car was in collision with one driven by Norton K. Knedlik, 47, McCook.

The state record bureau at Lincoln reported the death of Mrs. Minnie Iva Jones, an 84-year-old Ottumwa, Iowa, woman, of injuries suffered in Omaha in June.

GOLD'S

Hesser New Police Chief At Beatrice

Lincoln Star Special

Beatrice—Lt. Merl Hesser, 38, of the Lincoln Police Department was sworn in late Friday afternoon as Beatrice chief of police.

Lt. Hesser

He replaces Eugene Burton, who only Thursday was demoted to the position of sergeant.

Mayor W. W. Cook Sr. made the announcement and said Hesser will assume his new post Aug. 1. The appointment was confirmed by the Beatrice City Council on a 6-0 vote in a special council meeting.

Hesser, a native of Adams, joined the Lincoln force in 1955 and is presently a relief shift commander in the criminal investigation division. In 1959 he studied at the Delinquency Control Institute of the University of Southern California in Los Angeles. He was promoted to lieutenant in 1960.

Lincoln Police Chief Joe Carroll said he regrets losing Hesser, a "top-notch officer in all phases of policework."

"I'm sure Beatrice will be well-pleased with their selection," Chief Carroll added.

Hesser is the third member of the Lincoln Police Department to leave the force recently for a chief of police appointment elsewhere. Officer Ronald Bruder became chief at Seward, and Detective Harry Davis accepted the post of police chief at York.

Mrs. Lincoln Writes Book About Kennedy

Pope Pleads Not Guilty To Six Charges

In Connection With Big Springs Triple Slayings, Bank Robbery

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

Duane E. Pope, 22, of Roxbury, Kan., Friday entered pleas of not guilty to six federal charges, three of which could bring the death penalty, in connection with the bank robbery and triple slaying in Big Springs June 4.

The young McPherson (Kan.) College graduate, flanked by defense attorneys Robert B. Crosby and Wallace M. Rudolph, stood before U.S. District Judge Robert Van Pelt and listened to U.S. Attorney Theodore Richling read all six counts of the indictment.

Then, in a firm but barely audible voice, he entered his pleas of innocence.

Following the arraignment, Crosby filed with the court a motion asking that two psychiatrists and one psychologist be subpoened to testify on behalf of the defendant.

Named in the motion were Dr. John Baldwin, psychiatrist, and Dr. Elianora I. Brassard, psychologist, both of Lincoln, and Dr. Herbert Modlin, psychiatrist, of the Menninger Clinic, Topeka, Kan.

The motion stated that Pope could not afford to pay for the testimony, which Crosby said was "necessary for his adequate defense."

Crosby continued, "I have not the least doubt that the testimony of the witnesses will support the plea of not guilty."

He told newsmen that a plea of innocent by reason of insanity or temporary insanity is not allowed in federal court. A not guilty plea covers all conditions, he said.

The federal statute under which Pope is charged provides that when a death is caused during a bank robbery, the penalty is not less than 10 years, or a maximum penalty of death if the trial jury so determines.

Friday Hearing Likely

Later, Richling, who heads the prosecution, said he will ask for a hearing next Friday on the motion. He said he has no objection to the doctors examining Pope and testifying at the trial, but added some mechanical problems are presented in paying for the services rendered.

Richling said the money, available under the Criminal Justice Act of 1964, is not readily available until Aug. 20, when the act pertaining to indigent cases takes effort.

Both the defense and the prosecution could not estimate when the trial will be held.

Richling said, "I can be ready for trial in a week," but added, "certainly the defense is entitled to all the time that is necessary."

Defense attorney Crosby commented that he expects the trial date to be "more than a month away."

Pope is charged with slaying three employes of the Farmers State Bank at Big Springs during a $1,500 robbery. Shot in the back and neck while lying face down on the floor were Andreas Kjeldgaard, 77, bank president; cashier Glen Hendrickson, 59, and Mrs. Lois Ann Hothan, 35, a bookkeeper and widowed mother of three.

Trust Fund Now Stands Over $4,000

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Big Springs—An educational trust fund that had an unusual beginning has swelled to well over $4,000 for the orphaned sons of Mrs. Lois Ann Hothan.

Mrs. Hothan, a bookkeeper at the Farmers State Bank, was one of three killed in the June 4 holdup of the bank.

She left the boys—Rick, 10, and Kim, 6,—whose father had died only a few months earlier.

Glen Kepler, vice president of the Big Springs Chamber of Commerce, said the group is handling the donations to provide the lads a college education.

Some truck drivers coming through town, Kepler said, suggested that the fund be started and left contributions for that purpose.

Idea Snowballed

Soon interested local residents approached the chamber about administrating the program, and "it's become quite a snowball affair," said Kepler.

Individuals and organizations in all the neighboring towns have contributed, and funds have come from throughout the country, from both the east and west coasts, Alaska and one or two foreign countries.

Letters found their way to Big Springs even from Australia and New Zealand, the businessman reported.

Though it's been seven weeks since the holdup, for which Duane Pope was arraigned and pleaded innocent in Federal District Court Friday, money "keeps coming in," Kepler said.

Every day chamber secretary Julius Arnold finds more in the fund's Post Office Box 706 at Big Springs.

"It was a news story that got very wide notice," explained Kepler of the widespread interest.

No Adoption Plans

A number of inquiries have also come in expressing a desire to adopt the two youngsters.

But they are not up for adoption, Kepler noted.

Rick and Kim are being cared for by their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Waterman, and other relatives in the Big Springs area.

'Swede Town' Marking Diamond Event With Jam Packed Three-Day Program

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Wausa—This town hasn't always been Wausa.

First it was Thorson after its founder and first resident, Theodore Thorson.

Then it became Vasa—for the king of Sweden.

Finally Wausa emerged in 1890, and that has worked pretty well since.

John E. Baggstrom saw the possibilities of the name, turning its letters into "We Are U.S.A." for a sign that flew over the old settlers picnic in 1915. It also commemorated the "Birth of a Swede Town" in 1890.

The grandson of that original-thinking sign painter, John Eric Baggstrom, has re-created the banner for the community's 75th anniversary celebration that turned on full steam Friday.

Another bit of the past will be brought forward as the oldest son of Theodore Thorson comes from his home in Crook, S.D., for a visit.

"The Swede Town angle has really caught on," noted Bob Hulse, a Kansas City professional helping to stage the celebration.

Official On Hand

To carry the theme further, Sven Olou-Holm, deputy general consulate of the Swedish Embassy in Chicago, arrived Thursday to crown the queen of the celebration.

The town's 75 years of existence will be condensed into an hour when "Showtime in Swede Town" hits the stage Saturday evening.

Hulse put together the spectacular of "songs and dances giving a panoramic view of the town's history in a light vein."

From Indian dances to the "jerk," folk singing to "Hello, Dolly,"—"they're all in there," Huls assured.

Some 150 local performers—including the Swinging Swedes dancers and "Dolly" Janet Suhr—have spent the last three weeks working up the show. "Three-fourths of them had never danced in their lives," said the director, noting that plenty of very fine talent had been turned up.

Barbecue Dinner

Preparations have been made for over 3,000 spectators at the performance, which will follow a barbecue dinner in the city park.

The Ink Spots recording artists staged two shows as the celebration got under way Friday, and television's Johnny Ringo will star in double-header performances Sunday.

Also on the jammed three-day schedule are the burial of a time capsule to be opened at the centennial, an alumni reunion, and almost continuous entertainment and activity, in the planning for a year and a half.

Sen. Carl Curtis and Rep. Clair Callan will share billing as honorary marshals for the 130-plus entry jubilee parade Saturday.

"We're celebrating to show our appreciation for the progress that's been made in the last 75 years in the 'Village Built on Faith,'" said Chairman Gerald (Gundy) Gunderson.

City Council Acts Informally On Budget

The City Council Friday night reviewed a number of budget recommendations and took informal actions which included the following:

Sanitary Landfill — $113,385, up $21,225. Increases due to salaries, fencing, additional radios, a new tractor and other improvements.

Councilman John Comstock spoke against any funds in the budget to purchase land at the sanitary landfill and said he wanted to give further study to the proposed $125,000 land acquistion item in the general fund budget.

Street Construction — $1,124,976, up $50,315. Increases due to two key projects, proposed $492,500 Leighton spur, 33rd to 48th; and Holdrege by-pass, 9th to 19th. Estimated revenue for next fiscal year is $800,000 and balances of $324,976, totaling $1,124,976. Key commitments are $90,000 for new bridge at 10th and Salt Creek and O St., 25th to 32nd.

Wheel Tax — $926,707, up $494,374. Increases due to additional projects like $419,000 for resurfacing and widening of Vine, 17th to 33rd; $100,000 of arterial resurfacing and $217,524 for part of Holdrege by-pass improvement.

Councilman John Mason urged the Council to consider increasing the wheel tax another $2 immediately to help defray city street improvement costs.

"If motorists don't want to pay they can sell their cars," said Mason.

However, Mrs. Helen Boosalis, Council vice-chairman, said that raising the wheel tax was only a "drop in the bucket" to solving the city street problems and again urged the appointment by the mayor of a citizen committee to review the overall city street improvement program.

Swimming Pools — $121,975, up $16,773. Increases due to new equipment, capital improvements and payment on coin-operated lockers at Woods Pool.

Parks — The council halted debate before completing review of the total park department budget. The department asked for $892,315, up $56,269. Increases because of higher salaries, $45,000 instrumental pool at Woods Park, $332,100 for land purchases and $50,000 for park and recreation office building at Antelope Park.

Tot Injured As Ponytail Caught In Power Takeoff

Bancroft — Three-year-old Carla Abendroth suffered a badly torn scalp when her ponytail became caught in the power takeoff of a roller grinder.

The youngster was standing near the grinder being operated by her father, Orin Abendroth. She bent down to pick up an ear of corn fallen on the ground when the accident occurred.

The child was rushed to a Pender hospital for treatment and later transferred to an Omaha hospital where she underwent surgery for grafting on her scalp.

Prince Philip To Visit U.S.

London (UPI) — Prince Philip, much-traveled husband of Queen Elizabeth II, will visit the United States and Canada next March, Buckingham Palace announced Friday.

After a five-week tour of the Caribbean with the queen aboard the royal yacht Britannia, he will go on alone to visit North America March 8-20. His stops will be Miami, Houston, Los Angeles, Chicago, New York, Toronto and Ottawa.

Head Start Director Is 'Pleased' With Projects

Kenneth Rashid, area director of the Head Start program, Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington, D.C., told leaders of the Lincoln programs he was "pleased with what I've seen so far in Nebraska."

He visited Omaha, Kearney and Grand Island before coming to Lincoln Friday.

Similar programs that probably won't use the name Head Start, will continue on a 9 to 12 month basis for young children, Rashid said. The permanent programs will begin in qualified cities this fall.

Head Start programs will continue next summer, according to Rashid. He said follow-up studies will be made on the children who participated in the programs this summer.

He emphasized that cities will still be given a wide latitude in developing programs to fith their partncular need. However, all future programs must involve more parental participation in the planning and administration, he told the Lincoln leaders.

Rashid said some centers have begun adult education classes for parents of children attending Head Start. It's possible that related programs such as speech therapy or hygiene may eventually be added, he said.

Rashid said, "The only criteria for success of the Head Start programs is that everyone involved has a smile and shows interest."

Mrs. Mary Petsche and Dr. Wylie Russell, directors of the Lincoln program both praised the teen-age volunteers that have helped them this summer. Both were pleased with the results of this summer's project.

Next Friday at 8:30 p.m. on KUON-TV Mrs. Petsche, Russell, John Angle, the Rev. Lawrence Stanton and Sanford Nelson will discuss the Lincoln program. A film will be televised showing what the children actually do at the centers.

Lincoln Man Critical After Truck Mishap

Ervin W. Matzner, of 2860 Lincoln, was listed in very critical condition at a local hospital with chest and back injuries as the result of a two-truck collision at 20th and Cornhusker Highway Friday.

The Nebraska State Safety Patrol said Matzner and Bruce Wright, 25 of 410 So. 30th, were riding in the back of a Lincoln city park department pickup truck driven by Jim Patton, 18, of Lincoln, address unknown.

The pickup collided with a state dump truck driven by Stan Helmke of Lincoln towing a bulldozer on a trailer.

Treated and released were Lou Bixler, 22, of 1426 So. 9th, a passenger in the pickup, and Debbie Barker, 11, of Waco, Texas.

The Barker girl was a passenger in a stalled car near the scene of the crash, which was struck by the dump truck.

The Safety Patrol said the accident apparently stemmed from the stalled car, which had been operated by Mrs. Faun Black, whose address was not listed.

Former Ainsworth Resident Is Killed

Rupert, Idaho (AP) — Milton Lee Fernau, 23, of Heyburn, Idaho, was killed Thursday when his car rammed into the rear of another. Eight others were injured.

Fernau originally was from Ainsworth, Neb.

2 Convicted Slayers Get Life Terms

Omaha (AP) — District Judge John E. Murphy sentenced Friday two Omahans to life imprisonment in the slaying of an Omaha bartender in a robbery attempt on Aug. 18, 1964.

Sentenced were 24-year-old Jerome Irving, Jr., and 17-year-old Donald H. Davis. They were found guilty by a jury on May 20.

Nathaniel Hall, also charged with first degree murder, in the death of Joseph Kellinghaus, earlier pleaded guilty before a three-judge panel and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

In the cases of Irving and Davis the jury specified life sentences be imposed.

Two Traffic Deaths Raise Toll To 182

By The Associated Press

Two traffic deaths Friday night sent the state's 1965 toll to 185 compared with 201 on July 24 of last year.

Henry Hinz of Route 1, Fairbury, was killed when his car was in collision with one driven by Johnny Nispel, 20, of Plymouth at the intersection of Highways 103 and 136 a mile north of Fairbury.

Another two-car collision at the intersection of Highways 23 and 83 a mile west of Maywood killed Elsie M. Koch, 43, of Farnam. Her car was in collision with one driven by Norton K. Knedlik, 47, McCook.

The state record bureau at Lincoln reported the death of Mrs. Minnie Iva Jones, an 84-year-old Ottumwa, Iowa, woman, of injuries suffered in Omaha in June.

Hesser New Police Chief At Beatrice

Lincoln Star Special

Beatrice—Lt. Merl Hesser, 38, of the Lincoln Police Department was sworn in late Friday afternoon as Beatrice chief of police.

Lt. Hesser

He replaces Eugene Burton, who only Thursday was demoted to the position of sergeant.

Mayor W. W. Cook Sr. made the announcement and said Hesser will assume his new post Aug. 1. The appointment was confirmed by the Beatrice City Council on a 6-0 vote in a special council meeting.

Hesser, a native of Adams, joined the Lincoln force in 1955 and is presently a relief shift commander in the criminal investigation division. In 1959 he studied at the Delinquency Control Institute of the University of Southern California in Los Angeles. He was promoted to lieutenant in 1960.

Lincoln Police Chief Joe Carroll said he regrets losing Hesser, a "top-notch officer in all phases of policework."

"I'm sure Beatrice will be well-pleased with their selection," Chief Carroll added.

Hesser is the third member of the Lincoln Police Department to leave the force recently for a chief of police appointment elsewhere. Officer Ronald Bruder became chief at Seward, and Detective Harry Davis accepted the post of police chief at York.

The Chance Of Failure

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The 1965 Legislature has received probably more accolades than any in at least recent history but it seems likely to stumble in one major area—reapportionment. This is a nut the senators have found mighty hard to crack Senators have been caught in a vicious crossfire coming from their constituency, the state constitution and the findings of federal courts

Three Way Tug Of War

One certainty is that not even King Solomon could have put together an apportionment plan that would have quieted all the fire. In crossing county lines and in drastically reducing the size of their membership, senators run afoul of indignant voters. Why there is such opposition to the crossing of county lines we fail to understand but such certainly seems to be the case. Perhaps our lack of understanding here stems from the different nature of Lancaster County, a dominantly metropolitan area, and many other counties of the state which are dominantly rural in character.

To us, county divisions have come to be about as useful as such designations as range and township. County lines may still have some legal and certain other standing in the affairs of men but they are largely meaningless lines on a map.

This doesn't mean that county government is useless but only that it serves people as opposed to some geograhic theory. As the times continue to make the state as a whole a more contiguous unit of people, the importance of county lines will continue to disintegrate. Yet, county lines have been an important factor with senators, due to voters who see something sacred in them.

As a result of all the conflicts that are present, the Legislature has now come up with an apportionment plan that does not cross county lines and establishes 47 separate districts. This plan or one very similar to it would appear at the moment to be possible of enactment. The only trouble is that it bears a remarkable resemblance to a past plan that was declared unconstitutional by the federal court. Instead of a disparity of up to 60 percent between the size of the smallest and largest district, the new plan has a disparity of only about 33 percent. That does a lot for the equality of districts comparatively speaking but is it sufficient to satisfy the one-man, one-vote requirement of the U.S. Supreme Court?

No one knows for sure the answer to that question but there is serious doubt that the new 47-district plan will receive the blessing of the federal court should it get by our Unicameral. Unfortunately, the federal court has not given us a good guideline by which to go. It has told us when we were wrong but it has not gone on to tell us what it would accept. It has, however, hinted at what it would accept. It has hinted that a Legislature more in the neighborhood of 37 districts is about all we can come up with if we don't want to cross county lines and if we want to meet federal requirements.

Prominent opinion seems to be that the federal court would go for any plan that has less than 30 percent disparity between the largest and smallest district and 15 percent or less disparity between the average sized district and any other one district. But even with the court, the matter gets down to some opinion, judgment, guesswork or what have you.

The court knows full well that you cannot have districts that are absolutely equal. This is simply a practical impossibility. Some disparity is a certainty but how much? Perhaps we are being naive but it seems to boil down to the thought that anything under 30 percent is pretty small and anything over 30 percent is pretty big.

How Much Is A Little

Thus, you might get by in the federal courts with a 25 to 30 percent disparity. But you would never get by with 40 percent and even the 33 percent that is contained in the current bill may well be a risk hardly worth taking. This is why it looks more and more like senators are going to end up with one black mark on an otherwise very fine record. Not only is the current problem not being solved, but little is being done in regards to the future. One bill is aimed at giving us greater constitutional flexibility in the future but its only real value is in a proposed increase in the size of the Unicameral.

It would seem that the state, under any circumstances, faces a tough decision at the present time and some careful thought for the future. But it appears that we are neither facing the present with reality nor looking to the future with much intelligence.

Don't Quit The Zephyr

There is a dispute among the three carrying railroads over continuing the California Zephyr—that crack Chicago to West Coast train which nightly passes through Nebraska.

In Lincoln we consider the Zephyr a Burlington train for the CB&Q hauls it from Chicago to Denver. There the Denver and Rio Grande, takes it to Salt Lake City when the Western Pacific takes it on to the Coast. The run ends at San Francisco.

The Burlington has taken the lead in continuing it. But the Western Pacific, a heavy freight carrying line, would like to drop it. It prefers to haul freight over its rails.

It is an unusual run and a great national service. But it is not an extraordinarily profitable one. Guy R. Glover, Burlington vice president justifies it by saying it is profitable on an out-of-pocket cost basis, and adds that it has a schedule tailored for sight-seeing which passes through the most spectacular scenery in the nation. He is talking about the Colorado Rockies, the Feather River canyon and northern California, all of which appear on the daytime parts of the run.

We heartily agree with Mr. Glover, even though Nebraska is on the dark side of the schedule. There are things a fine train can do for the country besides make a handsome profit, and the California Zephyr is that sort of a train. A trip either East or West on that train is an unforgettable and rich experience. It is traveling at its best and most esthetic.

The idea of closing the service should be forever put to rest.

A Greek Argument

The Greek crisis continues because it is more than a tiff between the king and his government. It is a question of whether the king should reign or rule.

Greece has been under conservative rule since its emergence from World War II. First under the late King Paul, who maintained close and sympathetic relations with the army group, and now with young King Constantine the old one has prevailed. This issue is more than 17 years old. The rightists have possessed the government.

But in recent elections the liberals staged a breakthrough and George Papandreou became premier. He was able to dislodge several important rightists from government posts but the issue struck fire when he sought to dislodge Petrous Garufalias, the Defense minister. That means a change in the control of the army. This is where the king stepped in. He acted to prevent what he considered a serious leftist threat and Mr. Papandreou marched out. The king then selected George Athanasiadis-Novas as premier. He is of the same party as Papandreou, but, thus far, is not of a mind to break the axis between the king and the military.

Papandreou has strong public backing and is not taking the matter sitting down and that is the reason for the Greek demonstrations—a test of strength between the king and the liberal element of the country.

At this stage it is a strictly Greek problem and there seems little danger of a communist coup. It is a matter of settling the limits of power between the popularly elected government and the king, the question of whether to reign or rule.

Editorial Of The Day

President Ayub's Blast

From The New York Times

Relations between the United States and Pakistan, which at one time were excellent, have unfortunately been steadily worsening. Washington's displeasure at the growing friendship between President Mohammed Ayub Khan's government and Communist China has been no secret for a long time. It was widely regarded as the main reason President Johnson last spring suddenly called off his scheduled meeting with the Pakistani leader.

Now President Ayub apparently believes he is being pressured by the threat of a cut-off in American economic aid, and he has responded angrily with the charge that this country is "power drunk" and will not listen to Pakistan's views.

It is an oversimplification—most unsuited to the actual intricacies of international politics—to assume that a nation can be friendly either to the United States or to Communist China but not to both. In the past this country has rejected a similar logic when pressed with demands to choose, for example, between Pakistan and India.

There may in fact be advantages to the United States in having a friend and partner with ready access to Peking. Normalization of United States' relations with China is one of the great unsettled items on the agenda of American foreign policy, made more difficult by the lack of communication and of mutual understanding between the leaders of China and of this country.

A Pakistan on good terms with both Peking and Washington might in time be capable of acting as a bridge between the two landerships, and thus serve both nations interests.

Military Blames McNamara Most

WASHINGTON — With Secretary of Defense McNamara recently returned from Viet Nam and the situation there increasingly serious, here are some uncensored facts from Saigon:

The outspoken military criticism of McNamara here in Saigon is shocking. He's blamed for our loss of face in Asia, for impeding the war, for most of our national and international problems. The American military are outspoken even in front of foreigners.

There's a total lack of nationalistic feeling among the Vietnamese peasants. They seem interested only in protecting their own rice paddies and their ancestors' graves. That's why Vietnamese soldiers are returned to their own villages after training, hoping they'll fight better if they're protecting their homes.

Relocation of loyal Vietnamese to provinces safe from Viet Cong attacks has not been successful. The government furnishes sufficient money to move the family, but makes no provision for moving the ancestors' graves, and this is too expensive for a family to assume alone. They feel more comfortable near their ancestors, so they just stay there, regardless of Viet Cong attacks.

The Viet Cong are extremely patient. Every condition must be exact before they risk an attack. They have been known to build full scale models of a target and practice the assault for weeks before striking. If the scouts find a hair out of place on the target, the assault is delayed and further practice is carried on . . . but unlike American troops, the Viet Cong can move at a moment's notice. American troops have burdened themselves with permanent command posts, air strips, offices, all sorts of encumbrances. The VC need nothing that they can't carry on their backs.

In the oriental tradition, the Viet Cong are willing to wait. They believe they will succeed in overrunning South Viet Nam, and if they don't do it in this generation, they will succeed in future generations.

The VC use entire families in their operation. A favorite method of forcing compliance is to kidnap one member of the family, then recruit the remainder. Young children and aged women are used as message carriers. Everyone from the age of 10 is recruited . . . captured VC caches consist almost entirely of food supplies, not much arms or ammunition.

☆ ☆ ☆

It's impossible to negotiate with the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam for they have no central government. What direction they receive comes from Hanoi . . . American and Vietnamese forces have captured "war bonds" issued to peasants for confiscated rice. The bonds promise redemption at "a future date." They may never be redeemed, but the peasants are fond of them; they feel they are getting something in return for their rice.

New York Races Full Of Complexity

NEW YORK — The first dividend of Rep. John Lindsay's campaign for mayor of New York City is already in the hands of the stockholders. He has forced his major rival, City Council President Paul Screvane, to put together a Democratic slate which is far above the customary average.

With the young Catholic liberal, Daniel Moynihan, running for Screvane's present job and the great name of Lehman—Orin this time — asking to be controller, it seems certain that the Screvane ticket will prevail in the primary. It is a ticket free from the taint of bossism; it is young and fresh, and it will be able to campaign effectively.

It remains weakest at the top. Screvane is attempting something revolutionary in city politics. the raising of the career civil servant to the top job by his own bootstraps. The normal practice is for such promotion to stop short of the summit while the city fathers name the head man who must give form to the issues and has the force and skill to translate them into effective action.

Only Democratic factionalism, the advanced age or ineffectiveness of the county leaders permitted Screvane to make his attempt. At the same time it leaves so much more up to him that he himself is all-important.

Rep. Lindsay has star quality Screvane backers do not make this claim for him. They stress his superior city experience and the natural ability which has enabled him to climb so far from humble beginnings. He is undramatic personally and has that abrasive quality which Washington associates with Lyndon Johnson.

Gov. Nelson Rockefeller intends to run again for governor and take part again in presidential politics. Sen. Jacob Javits believes Rockefeller would be beaten next year but that Javits could win. Javits also believes that once in Albany he would have a good chance for the vice-presidential nomination in 1968.

About this their fellow-Republican, Lindsay, can only hope both men — and especially their well-meaning friends — will postpone the argument until after the mayoralty election in November.

☆ ☆ ☆

The mayoralty campaign is hard to read at this point precisely because the landmarks once studied for clues, such as political organizations and party responsibility have faded in city elections. The old Irish leaders long since have seen their strongholds invaded by what they call "The Coloreds." They share power reluctantly, but they share it now.

Leader predictions, once so dependable, are worthless and polls are in — as the leaders try to find out where the people are going so they can follow them.

Democratic State Chairman John Mitchell has written county and state party leaders urging them not to allow any individual income tax referendum activities to "sap the time that is needed for our party work."

Walton

In a letter addressed to county chairmen and to officers of the state central committee and the state executive committee. Mitchell said the party will maintain a strictly neutral position on the income tax issue.

However, he noted, it will not oppose a referenum vote on the tax law.

Democrats, Mitchell warned, "should not in any way allow this issue to divide us."

If any party leaders wish to take an active part in the referendum drive, he urged "that this be done unofficially, making certain that you leave yourself ample time" for party duties.

Mitchell did not need to add the fact that Republicans expended great time and effort in pushing a petition drive to place the question of a partisan Legislature on the ballot in 1964, time and effort which many GOP leaders acknowledge was taken from party work.

He could have stayed on the legislative sidelines and not voted at all. But Sorensen took the chair to break the tie.

Apparently, Phil Sorensen believes that he should keep his promise to be an "active" lieutenant governor, not one who avoids all major issues and dodges all touchy questions in the hope of political advancement.

Keep The Land

Nebraska City, Neb.

As it looks today, a substantial number of the Nebraska Legislature are willing to help those wealthy ranchers rob the school children of their school land heritage.

They tell us to sell these lands and invest the proceeds in intangibles such as stocks and bonds.

Remember the "Borrow, Boom and Bust" of the late '20's. Stocks, bonds and securities were hardly worth the paper they were written on. Until a few years ago the banks paid only 1 percent interest. At that time the only thing worth a dime was tangibles—known as land and property.

Every man in the Legislature knows that when the chips are down it is tangible property, not intangibles, that talks.

Why are these senators really gambling with the heritage of Nebraska's school children? What is forcing this giveaway of this trust?

Fall Out Shelter

Lincoln, Neb.

One of the many musts to be built into the lower basement levels of the county-city complex are combination fallout shelters and tornado areas.

They should be large enough to accomodate the people that might be expected to use them.

The feasiblity and necessity of such protective proposals has already been established by the Nebraska unicameral. Several years ago they completed the construction of a fallout shelter on North 14th street in Lincoln.

Also all of the latest models in automation, and labor saving devices should be installed. Such installations will eliminate the possibility of any stress or strain on the palace guards.

Losing Our Birds

Lincoln, Neb.

Our song birds are growing fewer each year at an alarming rate. I doubt that we have 50 percent as many robins today as we had 10 years ago. Please look about you and make an estimate of the accuracy of my statement.

I water my birds in summer and feed them in winter. I have a large mulberry tree in my back yard, and that has offered a real treat for all kinds of birds during the month of June for the past 10 years. Each year the number of birds that come to this banquet hall gets fewer and fewer.

Each kind of bird is destroyed by a different kind of poison. It seems to me that the declining rate of birdlife grows sharper all the time. I listen to a group of scientists almost every week as they tell us how to handle our lawns and gardens for greater success. I have great respect for these gentlemen because they are sound biologists and agriculturists. But I continue to wonder why they do not warn us of the serious dangers of pouring out increasing volumes of poison. The chemical companies are doing an enormous volume of business making pesticides for farmers and gardeners.

I used to consider Rachel Carson's "Silent Spring" rather exaggerated. At the rate things are going she will be likely to appear conservative in another 10 years.

We are upsetting the balance of nature in a radical way and the gods of the earth will be calling on us for payment if we don't watch out.

The Vets Hospital

Lincoln, Neb.

Now that the VA hospital is not going to close, some people will be content just to see it remodeled. I think we should aim higher than that. We should write our representatives and see if we can't have another hospital built with federal funds on the west side of the city. After all, the drive down our straight main street takes almost as long as a drive from Lincoln to Omaha.

If we really wanted to go all out we could get a VA hospital instead of a mall. It would have drive-in service for veterans who are just traveling through Lincoln.

Not long ago a letter to the paper said that veterans groups should work to see that veterans with non-service connected disabilities get free VA treatment. Since about 70 percent of the veterans in the Lincoln VA have non-service connected disabilities, I think we should set our goals higher.

The men who really need our help and support are those who were classified 4F. They were in such bad shape they could not even get into military service. On top of that they are not permitted to join the American Legion or the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The least we can do for these poor individuals is to give them free treatment at the VA hospital.

Free Enterprise

Lincoln, Nebr.

It appears to me that our Legislature is about to go on record with other unconstitutional laws; namely LB161 and LB849, both relating to price regulation. These bills take away a constitutional right granted by our great Constitution of our United States.

Section 1, Article XIV of the Constitution states in part: "No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges and immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

Every person has the right to use some legal gimmick to attract business such as "lead items." Some sell trading stamps along with merchandise, thus raising costs of their products and thereby lowering income, but attribute the loss to other reasons entirely. Others sell credit and make more from overcharge of interest for credit than on the products proper. This is illegal but it seems to be condoned by our moguls of the state.

Some businesses give prizes free, thus a loss on the item; some stage contests, thus a loss from the contest. Be that as it may, the profit is figured from the end result. One businessman gains while another loses, due to many reasons, but each should remain free in the United States to operate to the best of his ability.

I earnestly hope our Legislature reconsiders this gross error as the action of our elected leaders reflects on the reputation and qualification of all Nebraskans in general. If we cannot enact constitutional laws for the State of Nebraska, what chance do we ever have of getting trusted Nebraskans in the federal government?

The Chance Of Failure

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The 1965 Legislature has received probably more accolades than any in at least recent history but it seems likely to stumble in one major area—reapportionment. This is a nut the senators have found mighty hard to crack. Senators have been caught in a vicious crossfire coming from their constituency, the state constitution and the findings of federal courts.

Three Way Tug Of War

One certainty is that not even King Solomon could have put together an apportionment plan that would have quieted all the fire. In crossing county lines and in drastically reducing the size of their membership, senators run afoul of indignant voters. Why there is such opposition to the crossing of county lines we fail to understand but such certainly seems to be the case. Perhaps our lack of understanding here stems from the different nature of Lancaster County, a dominantly metropolitan area, and many other counties of the state which are dominantly rural in character.

To us, county divisions have come to be about as useful as such designations as range and township. County lines may still have some legal and certain other standing in the affairs of men but they are largely meaningless lines on a map.

This doesn't mean that county government is useless but only that it serves people as opposed to some geograhic theory. As the times continue to make the state as a whole a more contiguous unit of people, the importance of county lines will continue to disintegrate. Yet, county lines have been an important factor with senators, due to voters who see something sacred in them.

As a result of all the conflicts that are present, the Legislature has now come up with an apportionment plan that does not cross county lines and establishes 47 separate districts. This plan or one very similar to it would appear at the moment to be possible of enactment. The only trouble is that it bears a remarkable resemblance to a past plan that was declared unconstitutional by the federal court. Instead of a disparity of up to 60 percent between the size of the smallest and largest district, the new plan has a disparity of only about 33 percent. That does a lot for the equality of districts comparatively speaking but is it sufficient to satisfy the one-man, one-vote requirement of the U.S. Supreme Court?

No one knows for sure the answer to that question but there is serious doubt that the new 47-district plan will receive the blessing of the federal court should it get by our Unicameral. Unfortunately, the federal court has not given us a good guideline by which to go. It has told us when we were wrong but it has not gone on to tell us what it would accept. It has, however, hinted at what it would accept. It has hinted that a Legislature more in the neighborhood of 37 districts is about all we can come up with if we don't want to cross county lines and if we want to meet federal requirements.

Prominent opinion seems to be that the federal court would go for any plan that has less than 30 percent disparity between the largest and smallest district and 15 percent or less disparity between the average sized district and any other one district. But even with the court, the matter gets down to some opinion, judgment, guesswork or what have you.

The court knows full well that you cannot have districts that are absolutely equal. This is simply a practical impossibility. Some disparity is a certainty but how much? Perhaps we are being naive but it seems to boil down to the thought that anything under 30 percent is pretty small and anything over 30 percent is pretty big.

How Much Is A Little

Thus, you might get by in the federal courts with a 25 to 30 percent disparity. But you would never get by with 40 percent and even the 33 percent that is contained in the current bill may well be a risk hardly worth taking. This is why it looks more and more like senators are going to end up with one black mark on an otherwise very fine record. Not only is the current problem not being solved, but little is being done in regards to the future. One bill is aimed at giving us greater constitutional flexibility in the future but its only real value is in a proposed increase in the size of the Unicameral.

It would seem that the state, under any circumstances, faces a tough decision at the present time and some careful thought for the future. But it appears that we are neither facing the present with reality nor looking to the future with much intelligence.

Don't Quit The Zephyr

There is a dispute among the three carrying railroads over continuing the California Zephyr—that crack Chicago to West Coast train which nightly passes through Nebraska.

In Lincoln we consider the Zephyr a Burlington train for the CB&Q hauls it from Chicago to Denver. There the Denver and Rio Grande, takes it to Salt Lake City when the Western Pacific takes it on to the Coast. The run ends at San Francisco.

The Burlington has taken the lead in continuing it. But the Western Pacific, a heavy freight carrying line, would like to drop it. It prefers to haul freight over its rails.

It is an unusual run and a great national service. But it is not an extraordinarily profitable one. Guy R. Glover, Burlington vice president justifies it by saying it is profitable on an out-of-pocket cost basis, and adds that it has a schedule tailored for sight-seeing which passes through the most spectacular scenery in the nation. He is talking about the Colorado Rockies, the Feather River canyon and northern California, all of which appear on the daytime parts of the run.

We heartily agree with Mr. Glover, even though Nebraska is on the dark side of the schedule. There are things a fine train can do for the country besides make a handsome profit, and the California Zephyr is that sort of a train. A trip either East or West on that train is an unforgettable and rich experience. It is traveling at its best and most esthetic.

The idea of closing the service should be forever put to rest.

A Greek Argument

The Greek crisis continues because it is more than a tiff between the king and his government. It is a question of whether the king should reign or rule.

Greece has been under conservative rule since its emergence from World War II. First under the late King Paul, who maintained close and sympathetic relations with the army group, and now with young King Constantine the old one has prevailed. This issue is more than 17 years old. The rightists have possessed the government.

But in recent elections the liberals staged a breakthrough and George Papandreou became premier. He was able to dislodge several important rightists from government posts but the issue struck fire when he sought to dislodge Petrous Garufalias, the Defense minister. That means a change in the control of the army. This is where the king stepped in. He acted to prevent what he considered a serious leftist threat and Mr. Papandreou marched out. The king then selected George Athanasiadis-Novas as premier. He is of the same party as Papandreou, but, thus far, is not of a mind to break the axis between the king and the military.

Papandreou has strong public backing and is not taking the matter sitting down and that is the reason for the Greek demonstrations—a test of strength between the king and the liberal element of the country.

At this stage it is a strictly Greek problem and there seems little danger of a communist coup. It is a matter of settling the limits of power between the popularly elected government and the king, the question of whether to reign or rule.

President Ayub's Blast

From The New York Times

Relations between the United States and Pakistan, which at one time were excellent, have unfortunately been steadily worsening. Washington's displeasure at the growing friendship between President Mohammed Ayub Khan's government and Communist China has been no secret for a long time. It was widely regarded as the main reason President Johnson last spring suddenly called off his scheduled meeting with the Pakistani leader.

Now President Ayub apparently believes he is being pressured by the threat of a cut-off in American economic aid, and he has responded angrily with the charge that this country is "power drunk" and will not listen to Pakistan's views.

It is an oversimplification—most unsuited to the actual intricacies of international politics—to assume that a nation can be friendly either to the United States or to Communist China but not to both. In the past this country has rejected a similar logic when pressed with demands to choose, for example, between Pakistan and India.

There may in fact be advantages to the United States in having a friend and partner with ready access to Peking. Normalization of United States' relations with China is one of the great unsettled items on the agenda of American foreign policy, made more difficult by the lack of communication and of mutual understanding between the leaders of China and of this country.

A Pakistan on good terms with both Peking and Washington might in time be capable of acting as a bridge between the two landerships, and thus serve both nations' interests.

Fall Out Shelter

Lincoln, Neb.

One of the many musts to be built into the lower basement levels of the county-city complex are combination fallout shelters and tornado areas.

They should be large enough to accomodate the people that might be expected to use them.

The feasiblity and necessity of such protective proposals has already been established by the Nebraska unicameral. Several years ago they completed the construction of a fallout shelter on North 14th street in Lincoln.

Also all of the latest models in automation, and labor saving devices should be installed. Such installations will eliminate the possibility of any stress or strain on the palace guards.

Losing Our Birds

Lincoln, Neb.

Our song birds are growing fewer each year at an alarming rate. I doubt that we have 50 percent as many robins today as we had 10 years ago. Please look about you and make an estimate of the accuracy of my statement.

I water my birds in summer and feed them in winter. I have a large mulberry tree in my back yard, and that has offered a real treat for all kinds of birds during the month of June for the past 10 years. Each year the number of birds that come to this banquet hall gets fewer and fewer.

Each kind of bird is destroyed by a different kind of poison. It seems to me that the declining rate of birdlife grows sharper all the time. I listen to a group of scientists almost every week as they tell us how to handle our lawns and gardens for greater success. I have great respect for these gentlemen because they are sound biologists and agriculturists. But I continue to wonder why they do not warn us of the serious dangers of pouring out increasing volumes of poison. The chemical companies are doing an enormous volume of business making pesticides for farmers and gardeners.

I used to consider Rachel Carson's "Silent Spring" rather exaggerated. At the rate things are going she will be likely to appear conservative in another 10 years.

We are upsetting the balance of nature in a radical way and the gods of the earth will be calling on us for payment if we don't watch out.

The Vets Hospital

Lincoln, Neb.

Now that the VA hospital is not going to close, some people will be content just to see it remodeled. I think we should aim higher than that. We should write our representatives and see if we can't have another hospital built with federal funds on the west side of the city. After all, the drive down our straight main street takes almost as long as a drive from Lincoln to Omaha.

If we really wanted to go all out we could get a VA hospital instead of a mall. It would have drive-in service for veterans who are just traveling through Lincoln.

Not long ago a letter to the paper said that veterans groups should work to see that veterans with non-service connected disabilities get free VA treatment. Since about 70 percent of the veterans in the Lincoln VA have non-service connected disabilities, I think we should set our goals higher.

The men who really need our help and support are those who were classified 4F. They were in such bad shape they could not even get into military service. On top of that they are not permitted to join the American Legion or the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The least we can do for these poor individuals is to give them free treatment at the VA hospital.

Free Enterprise

Lincoln, Nebr.

It appears to me that our Legislature is about to go on record with other unconstitutional laws; namely LB161 and LB849, both relating to price regulation. These bills take away a constitutional right granted by our great Constitution of our United States.

Section 1, Article XIV of the Constitution states in part: "No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges and immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

Every person has the right to use some legal gimmick to attract business such as "lead items." Some sell trading stamps along with merchandise, thus raising costs of their products and thereby lowering income, but attribute the loss to other reasons entirely. Others sell credit and make more from overcharge of interest for credit than on the products proper. This is illegal but it seems to be condoned by our moguls of the state.

Some businesses give prizes free, thus a loss on the item; some stage contests, thus a loss from the contest. Be that as it may, the profit is figured from the end result. One businessman gains while another loses, due to many reasons, but each should remain free in the United States to operate to the best of his ability.

I earnestly hope our Legislature reconsiders this gross error as the action of our elected leaders reflects on the reputation and qualification of all Nebraskans in general. If we cannot enact constitutional laws for the State of Nebraska, what chance do we ever have of getting trusted Nebraskans in the federal government?

Daughter's Sloppy Housekeeping Irks Parents

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. "What bothers my wife and me is that our sense of neatness and orderliness didn't rub off on our daughter. She's married, good-natured and lives in the next town. It upsets us to visit her because she's the sloppiest housekeeper in the world, and has no taste in furnishings. Even when she knows we're coming we walk in and see dirty dishes in the sink, unmade beds and clothes and toys on the floor. Her husband and three smiling kids with dirty faces don't seem to mind a bit."

A. The Lord made us all different, and some us peculiar. There's no accounting why some people are blind to the nice ties of neatness and order despite good training. As good parents you should reprove your daughter and try to awaken her sense of neatness. But other than that you can only be thankful that she's good-natured and has a hard-working husband and three smiling kids.

Q. "I'm a widow rattling around in a five-bedroom home. My four children are grown and married and I need something to keep me busy and bring in some income. Any suggestions? I'm totally lacking in business experience."

A. Take in some roomers If your home isn't zoned for this, sell the house and buy a guest house. This is one of the simplest businesses of all for it requires no experience and gives the individual something to do. If you select your tenants carefully you can probably attract some harmonious souls who will not only be happy to pay to live with you but will offer some security and companionship in the bargain.

Q. "You're always harping that people should be independent and that mixing generations is dangerous. Well, I'm 42 and my wife and I have three kids. We've also got my folks living in one guest bedroom plus my great-grandmother in another guest room. The eight of us love being together and our home is the warmest, friendliest place in town"

A. I'll try to believe you. But having observed how most families value their privacy, it's hard to believe all four generations of you in a single nest are as contented as you say.

Q. "My parents are in their early 70's and insist on going daily to a tiny delicatessen they've run for years. Dad recently inherited $22,500 from his father's estate and with this and Social Security they don't need to work. Shouldn't they quit and travel, relax and enjoy themselves?"

A. When it comes to enjoying ourselves, habit is a firm master. Chances are your parents derive just as much pleasure from puttering around their delicatessen as they would derive swinging in a hammock or jetting to Bermuda. When people are younger they look scornfully on work and dream of leisure. But when the later years arrive we often find nothing gives us the kicks we can derive from toil and purposeful pursuits.

1963 Tax Hike On Keller Land Ruled Uncollectible

The Nebraska Supreme Court, issuing its final batch of opinions before beginning its annual summer recess, held Friday that a tax valuation increase which Keith County ordered in 1963 on property of Detlef J. Keller and his wife are uncollectible.

The high court concurred with the Keith County District Court that the county assessor had increased the assessed valuation of the real estate from $4,665 to $8,805 without giving proper notice to the Kellers. As a result, the taxes upon the additional valuation were uncollectible.

The Supreme Court modified the judgment of the district court, however, as to taxes the following year (1964), when the assessed value was placed at $7,935. The district court enjoined the collection of the additional taxes in 1964 as well, but the Supreme Court said the 1964 assessment was collectible "because failure of notice to the wife is not proved and the defect in the notice to the husband is waived."

In other rulings Friday the court:

—Affirmed the Douglas County District Court judgment in another quiet title action brought by Frank McArdle and others against the Omaha School District to establish ownership of a tract of land approximately 12 rods square. The lower court dismissed the plaintiffs' petition. The Supreme Court held that the lower court's judgment "is right and should be and is affirmed."

The late John McArdle had contributed the property years ago as a school house site. Ownership came in question when the schoolhouse no longer was used for school purposes.

—Issued a new opinion after a rehearing in a case growing out of a 1959 fire in an Omaha building occupied by Mid-City Motors, Inc. Owners of the building, Pearl F. Sears and others, brought the negligence suit against Mid-City and against Service Junk Co.

Fire developed in the building after workmen had used torches to remove part of an old sprinkler system

The Douglas County District Court dismissed the claim against the Service Junk Co. But a jury awarded the building owners a $37,400 judgment against Mid-City. The Supreme Court in its new majority opinion affirmed the district court, but Judges Edward F Carter and Robert C Brower dissented from the findings and the form of the majority opinion.

—Upheld the Dixon County District Court in a dispute over the validity of the delivery of a warranty deed and a bill of same executed by Don O Mohr Sr., the father, to Don O. Mohr Jr, his son.

Municipal Judges RetirementSystem Bill Is Passed

Nebraska's judicial, retirement system would be extended to municipal judges under a bill given 44-1 approval on final reading in the State Legislature Friday.

Also passed was a bill authorizing the Game Commission to build a new state headquarters in Lincoln.

The list (E—Emergency clause):

LB910—Appropriating funds to pay salaries of state officials for the coming biennium (Budget Committee) (E) (46-0).

LB149—Extending to municipal judges Nebraska's judicial retirement system. (Stromer, Carpenter, Skarda, Bauer, Proud, Pedersen) (44-1)

LB921—Appropriating $51,985 to help defray expenses of the current legislative session (Budget Committee) (E) (47-0).

LB850—Authorizing the Game Commission to acquire a site in Lincoln and construct a state headquarters thereon. (Stryker, Gerdes, Hasebroock) (E) (45-0)

Resolution No 62—Directing the cleaning, waterproofing and repairing of the exterior of the Capitol building, excluding the tower, and authorizing expenditure of $125,000 for this purpose. (Pedersen) (43-3).

Norris Home Measure OK'd

The Legislature went on record Friday in support of establishing the George W. Norris home at 706 Norris Ave. in McCook as a national monument of the U.S. National Park Service.

A resolution to this effect, No. 77, introduced Thursday by Sen. Lester Harsh of Bartley, was adopted 38-1.

The resolution provides that if the Norris home should be offered to the state as a donation, it would be accepted and the State Historical Society would serve as coordinating agency to supervise and preserve the house and furnishings until the federal government accepts it.

Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha arose to ask the presiding officer, Lt. Gov. Philip Sorenson, if the late Sen. Norris "was one of the instigators of the non-partisan Legislature." Sorensen said Norris was one of the leaders in this connection.

"In that case," said Batchelder, amid laughter, "I'll vote against the resolution"

NEWS of the suburban areas

MEADOWLANE

Vacations are always fun and sometimes really interesting — especially if the trip takes the family to an historic landmark or restored area such as Williamsburg, Va. This morning we have news of such an historic spot on the map located in Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Harold and their children, Steven and Jennifer, have just returned from a two and one-half week vacation in the Northern part of the United States. Highlights of their travel were stops in Chicago and a trip to Mackinac Island. The most unusual thing about this historic island is that no cars are allowed — travel is done by horse and buggy.

There is much moving news from the Meadow Lane area. Incoming to Lincoln from Kearney are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Minnick. ABBY

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY I need help in a hurry. I am expecting my first baby next month and my problem is my mother. We have never gotten along very well and only began to see eye to eye since I got married and moved to another city. Now my mother has announced that she is coming to "be with me" when I have the baby, and will stay as long as I need her." Abby, the reason my mother and I never got along before I was married was that she always tried to tell me exactly how to do everything. I know she will repeat her usual behavior when she comes to "help" me with the baby. She has already offered a lot of unasked-for advice by mail. I get all worked up just thinking about it. Can a daughter tell her mother to stay home? If so, how?

NERVOUS WRECK

DEAR WRECK: Yes. Tell her you appreciate her offer to help, but this is something you would rather do yourself. And tell her that when you "need" her, you will call her. (P.S. Keep her number handy. You might "need" her sooner than you think.)

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I am in a terrible mess. My big sister was married recently and went on her honeymoon. She asked me to put all her wedding gifts, together with the cards that came with them, up in our attic so that she can send her "thank you" notes as soon as she returns from her honeymoon. Several gifts came AFTER she left. Well, I don't know what got into me, but I gathered all the cards together, and now I don't know which cards came in what present. She asked me specifically to keep each card with the gift it came with. I can remember who gave her a few of the outstanding gifts, but for the most part I am all mixed up. She got over 300 presents. She will kill me when she gets back because she wanted to thank each one for the gift and mention something nice about the gift. What should I do?

SISTER'S HELPER

DEAR HELPER: When your sister returns, tell her what you did and apologize for the colosial blunder. Her only solution is to thank each giver for the "lovely" gift, and for their thoughtfulness in sending it. (And for your sake I hope you can run faster than your sister!)

Problems? Write to ABBY, Box 69700. Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1♣	Pass	1♥	Pass
2♣	Pass	2NT	Pass
3NT

Opening lead — five of spades.

It is sometimes difficult to determine par on a given hand because variables may exist which bear heavily on the outcome.

Take this case where South becomes declarer at three notrump and West leads a spade. Right at this point South should regret the contract, since he can count only eight winners — consisting of four clubs, two spades and two diamonds.

If he wins the spade in either hand and forces out the ace of clubs, West will presumably return a spade and thus establish three spade tricks for the defense. This eventually leaves South a trick short of the contract.

However, if South exercises some slight ingenuity, he may succeed in stealing the contract Suppose he take the opening lead with the ace of spades and returns a low heart at trick two.

If West plays the eight, which is what most players would do, South is home. He wins the heart with the queen and then attacks clubs, forcing out the ace. This method of play ultimately produces nine tricks.

However, if West goes up with the ace of hearts at trick two and returns a spade, he defeats the contract. He should look with suspicion on the early heart play because it is more normal for South to be attacking dummy's solid clubs than a broken heart suit

So, if West is on his toes, he will see through declarer's scheme an rise to the occasion to defeat the contract.

Par on the hand with all players doing their absolute best is for North-South to bid and make a part score in clubs with 100 honors, but West can be put to a severe test if North-South bid themselves into three notrump and South attempts to steal the contract in the manned described. South breaks par if he is successful, but there is some doubt whether he is entitled to a distinguished service medal.

Friday afternoon was bridge benefit day at East Hills Club. The event was a money raising project sponsored by the members of the Lincoln Symphony Guild who already are looking ahead to next season.

The committee in charge of all of the bridge benefit arrangements included:

ART SHOW

A "one-woman" show by a former Nebraskan is on the calendar for Sunday, July 25. The art works of Mrs. Lee Kjelsen (the former Betty Assen) whose work has appeared in galleries across the country and in England, Germany, India and Norway, will be on exhibition between the hours of 4 o'clock and 8 o'clock at the Chi Omega sorority house on the Nebraska campus.

The show is sponsored by the Chi Omega alumnae as a benefit for LARC School, which is one of the sorority's philanthropic projects.

Mrs. Kjelsen now resides in the San Francisco Bay area, but will be in Lincoln for the showing of her work, and will be the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Sahs. The exhibit will include woodcuts, lithographs, serigraphs and water colors — to name a few of Mrs. Kjelsen's many techniques.

Needless to say that Mrs. Kjelsen and Mrs. Sahs both are Chi Omegas at Nebraska.

ABBY

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I need help in a hurry. I am expecting my first baby next month and my problem is my mother. We have never gotten along very well and only began to see eye to eye since I got married and moved to another city. Now my mother has announced that she is coming to "be with me" when I have the baby, and will stay as long as I need her." Abby, the reason my mother and I never got along before I was married was that she always tried to tell me exactly how to do everything. I know she will repeat her usual behavior when she comes to "help" me with the baby. She has already offered a lot of unasked-for advice by mail. I get all worked up just thinking about it. Can a daughter tell her mother to stay home? If so, how?

NERVOUS WRECK

DEAR WRECK: Yes. Tell her you appreciate her offer to help, but this is something you would rather do yourself. And tell her that when you "need" her, you will call her. (P.S. Keep her number handy. You might "need" her sooner than you think.)

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I am in a terrible mess. My big sister was married recently and went on her honeymoon. She asked me to put all her wedding gifts, together with the cards that came with them, up in our attic so that she can send her "thank you" notes as soon as she returns from her honeymoon. Several gifts came AFTER she left. Well, I don't know what got into me, but I gathered all the cards together, and now I don't know which cards came in what present. She asked me specifically to keep each card with the gift it came with. I can remember who gave her a few of the outstanding gifts, but for the most part I am all mixed up. She got over 300 presents. She will kill me when she gets back because she wanted to thank each one for the gift and mention something nice about the gift. What should I do?

SISTER'S HELPER

DEAR HELPER: When your sister returns, tell her what you did and apologize for the colosial blunder. Her only solution is to thank each giver for the "lovely" gift, and for their thoughtfulness in sending it. (And for your sake I hope you can run faster than your sister!)

Problems? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1♣	Pass	1♥	Pass
2♣	Pass	2NT	Pass
3NT

Opening lead — five of spades.

It is sometimes difficult to determine par on a given hand because variables may exist which bear heavily on the outcome.

Take this case where South becomes declarer at three notrump and West leads a spade. Right at this point South should regret the contract, since he can count only eight winners — consisting of four clubs, two spades and two diamonds.

If he wins the spade in either hand and forces out the ace of clubs, West will presumably return a spade and thus establish three spade tricks for the defense. This eventually leaves South a trick short of the contract.

However, if South exercises some slight ingenuity, he may succeed in stealing the contract. Suppose he take the opening lead with the ace of spades and returns a low heart at trick two.

If West plays the eight, which is what most players would do, South is home. He wins the heart with the queen and then attacks clubs, forcing out the ace. This method of play ultimately produces nine tricks.

However, if West goes up with the ace of hearts at trick two and returns a spade, he defeats the contract. He should look with suspicion on the early heart play because it is more normal for South to be attacking dummy's solid clubs than a broken heart suit.

So, if West is on his toes, he will see through declarer's scheme an rise to the occasion to defeat the contract.

Par on the hand with all players doing their absolute best is for North-South to bid and make a part score in clubs with 100 honors, but West can be put to a severe test if North-South bid themselves into three notrump and South attempts to steal the contract in the manned described. South breaks par if he is successful, but there is some doubt whether he is entitled to a distinguished service medal.

THOU SHALT NOT TAKE THE NAME OF THE LORD THY GOD IN VAIN

Millions know about God but refuse to accept Him. They take His name in vain by not taking Him at all. One may take God's name in vain by underestimating His power. The world depends on those who take God's name seriously ... in earnest. "Thou Shalt Not Take The Name Of The Lord Thy God In Vain" ... to gain approval of thine own deceitful ways ... to pervert tolerance and love of men to a tool for achieving personal power ... to don the vestments of virtue as a disguise for debased deeds. Malfunctioning Frontier Jet Lands Safely With 41 Aboard

STAR PHOTO

RESCUE VEHICLES . . . standing by after jet-prop lands safely at Muny Airport.

Frontier Airlines Flight 562, carrying 38 passengers and three crew members, landed safely at Lincoln Municipal Airport about 1 p.m. Friday after a landing gear warning light had indicated a malfunction of the right main landing gear.

Pilot Albert Mooney, of Denver, told newsmen after landing, "The right main gear light would not come on, indicating the gear either was not down or was not locked. It was locked, but we didn't know it at the time."

Actually, only the warning light had malfunctioned. A Frontier mechanic arrived from Kansas City on Flight 194 about the same time and replaced the light.

In preparation for the possible emergency, the U.S. Air Force fire department from Lincoln Air Force Base had covered 3,500 feet of runway with chemical foam, in case the gear collapsed. The foam permits the plane to slide easier and lessens the danger of fire from sparks, an FAA spokesman said.

Ralph Frick, control tower chief for the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) said the foaming was a standard emergency precautionary measure, and that the landing had been normal.

Air Force crash trucks, and more than 10 emergency vehicles plus several ambulances, lined the runway as the plane touched down.

The flight operates from Denver to Kansas City, by way of North Platte, Grand Island, Lincoln and Omaha. After arriving at the Lincoln airport, it circled for about 20 minutes to allow the foaming to be completed, made one pass at the runway, and then set down.

The gear light problem had originated over Grand Island, where the plane was scheduled to land at 10:30 a.m. The pilot decided to proceed to Lincoln to take advantage of better emergency facilities.

The flight was operating late already, and with the delay at Lincoln, the landing was not made until 1:13 p.m. After approximately an hour's delay to repair the warning light, the flight left for Omaha about 2:30 p.m.

Morris Kennedy, senior station agent for Frontier, and supervisor on duty Friday noon, said all passengers originally destined for Omaha had continued on the flight.

The passengers, somewhat disturbed by the experience, praised the crew members. Besides Mooney, crew members were co-pilot Ron Confer of Denver and Stewardess Joan Hetzler of Kansas City.

"I think all the plane's personnel and its passengers handled the situation in a very professional manner," said West Pladsen of Milwaukee, Wis. He said the crew explained the situation fully to the passengers before making the landing.

The Convair 580 used for the flight is powered by two prop-jet engines and has been in service with Frontier for about a year, Kennedy said.

Kennedy said to his knowledge this was the first landing emergency with the Convair 580 since Frontier began operating the plane.

CURTIS WANTS U.S. FLAG FLOWN AT FT. ROBINSON

By the Associated Press

Sen. Carl Curtis of Nebraska who wants the U.S. flag to be flown at Fort Robinson said, if necessary, he will furnish the flag.

Sen. Curtis said he has asked Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman to take action. He said the flag has not been flown at the fort for some time.

Fort Robinson is both a state park and a government beef research area. Curtis wants the flag flown on the old parade grounds, an area within the beef research grounds.

Curtis said in a letter to Freeman that Supt. John Kurtz of the state park has agreed to be responsible for caring for the flag.

"By all means, the United States flag should be displayed at the scene of so much history in the making," Curtis said. "During the Indian Wars and during both world wars the fort was an important military installation. I cannot understand why the flag was not flown on Independence Day. This is an oversight which I intend to rectify by legislation if necessary."

Five Nebraskans To Receive First ROTC Stipends

Five students attending Nebraska colleges and universities are among 600 cadets selected nationwide to receive the first two-year Army Reserve Training Corps (ROTC) scholarships.

The recipients and their colleges are: Michael L. Mulhern, Gary F. Smith and Daniel J. Mihelich of Creighton University; Cyrus Hall and Clifford Beade of the University of Nebraska.

Sponsored by the Department of the Army, each scholarship pays for tuition, textbooks and fees, and provides the recipient with a subsistence allowance of $50 a month through his junior and senior years of study.

Cub, Cottonwood Creek Watershed Plans OKd

Washington — The House Subcommittee on Conservation and Credit Friday morning gave the green light to Nebraska watershed projects on Cub Creek in Gage and Jefferson Counties and Cottonwood Creek in Saunders County.

This development was reported in Washington by Congressman Clair Callan, a member of the Subcommittee.

Callan said that as soon as the full Committee on Agriculture of the House and the Senate Agriculture Committee approve these projects, construction will be authorized. The First District Congressman said that he can forsee "no problem in obtaining this approval this session of Congress."

Malfunctioning Frontier Jet Lands Safely With 41 Aboard

Frontier Airlines Flight 562, carrying 38 passengers and three crew members, landed safely at Lincoln Municipal Airport about 1 p.m. Friday after a landing gear warning light had indicated a malfunction of the right main landing gear.

Pilot Albert Mooney, of Denver, told newsmen after landing, "The right main gear light would not come on, indicating the gear either was not down or was not locked. It was locked, but we didn't know it at the time."

Actually, only the warning light had malfunctioned. A Frontier mechanic arrived from Kansas City on Flight 194 about the same time and replaced the light.

In preparation for the possible emergency, the U.S. Air Force fire department from Lincoln Air Force Base had covered 3,500 feet of runway with chemical foam, in case the gear collapsed. The foam permits the plane to slide easier and lessens the danger of fire from sparks, an FAA spokesman said.

Ralph Frick, control tower chief for the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) said the foaming was a standard emergency precautionary measure, and that the landing had been normal.

Air Force crash trucks, and more than 10 emergency vehicles plus several ambulances, lined the runway as the plane touched down.

The flight operates from Denver to Kansas City, by way of North Platte, Grand Island, Lincoln and Omaha. After arriving at the Lincoln airport, it circled for about 20 minutes to allow the foaming to be completed, made one pass at the runway, and then set down.

The gear light problem had originated over Grand Island, where the plane was scheduled to land at 10:30 a.m. The pilot decided to proceed to Lincoln to take advantage of better emergency facilities.

The flight was operating late already, and with the delay at Lincoln, the landing was not made until 1:13 p.m. After approximately an hour's delay to repair the warning light, the flight left for Omaha about 2:30 p.m.

Morris Kennedy, senior station agent for Frontier, and supervisor on duty Friday noon, said all passengers originally destined for Omaha had continued on the flight.

The passengers, somewhat disturbed by the experience, praised the crew members. Besides Mooney, crew members were co-pilot Ron Confer of Denver and Stewardess Joan Hetzler of Kansas City.

"I think all the plane's personnel and its passengers handled the situation in a very professional manner," said West Pladsen of Milwaukee, Wis. He said the crew explained the situation fully to the passengers before making the landing.

The Convair 580 used for the flight is powered by two prop-jet engines and has been in service with Frontier for about a year, Kennedy said.

Kennedy said to his knowledge this was the first landing emergency with the Convair 580 since Frontier began operating the plane.

Cub, Cottonwood Creek Watershed Plans OKd

Washington — The House Subcommittee on Conservation and Credit Friday morning gave the green light to Nebraska watershed projects on Cub Creek in Gage and Jefferson Counties and Cottonwood Creek in Saunders County.

This development was reported in Washington by Congressman Clair Callan, a member of the Subcommittee.

Callan said that as soon as the full Committee on Agricuture of the House and the Senate Agriculture Committee approve these projects, construction will be authorized. The First District Congressman said that he can forsee "no problem in obtaining this approval this session of Congress."

CURTIS WANTS U.S. FLAG FLOWN AT FT. ROBINSON

By the Associated Press

Sen. Carl Curtis of Nebraska who wants the U.S. flag to be flown at Fort Robinson said, if necessary, he will furnish the flag.

Sen. Curtis said he has asked Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman to take action. He said the flag has not been flown at the fort for some time.

Fort Robinson is both a state park and a government beef research area. Curtis wants the flag flown on the old parade grounds, an area within the beef research grounds.

Curtis said in a letter to Freeman that Supt. John Kurtz of the state park has agreed to be responsible for caring for the flag.

"By all means, the United States flag should be displayed at the scene of so much history in the making," Curtis said. "During the Indian Wars and during both world wars the fort was an important military installation. I cannot understand why the flag was not flown on Independence Day. This is an oversight which I intend to rectify by legislation if necessary."

Five Nebraskans To Receive First ROTC Stipends

Five students attending Nebraska colleges and universities are among 600 cadets selected nationwide to receive the first two-year Army Reserve Training Corps (ROTC) scholarships.

The recipients and their colleges are: Michael L. Mulhern, Gary F. Smith and Daniel J. Mihelich of Creighton University; Cyrus Hall and Clifford Beade of the University of Nebraska.

Sponsored by the Department of the Army, each scholarship pays for tuition, textbooks and fees, and provides the recipient with a subsistence allowance of $50 a month through his junior and senior years of study.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How To Work It

A X Y D L B A A X R
to L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another in this example. A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. Astleford Stages Gigantic Comeback To Win Men's Golf

Champ Defends, Comes From Seven Back To Win

. . . TABER LOSES SUDDEN-DEATH PLAYOFF

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Burly Bob Astleford, defying doctor's orders and chomping on the familiar cigar most of the way, pulled one of the greatest comebacks in the annals of the Nebraska State Men's Amateur Golf Tournament Friday to win an unprecedented fourth straight championship in a sudden-death playoff from Matt Taber.

The husky Omaha bachelor, who trailed Taber by seven strokes with 17 holes to play in the 36 hole finals Friday at the Lincoln Country Club, shot a four-under-par 68 in the afternoon. The tourney was forced into a sudden-death playoff when Taber sank a three-foot birdie putt on the par-4 18th.

Astleford hit a four-wood into the No. 4 fairway on the first extra hole while Taber was in the right rough. The 35-year-old Omahan then pitched a shot over the trees and to the left side of the green while Taber's shot out of the rough hit the green and bounced into the heavy rough to the back of the green.

The Lincoln city champion chipped 12 feet past the hole on his third shot and Astleford, after studying the putt for several moments, left it just to the left of the hole.

When Taber missed his 12-footer, Astleford had only to tap in the putt for the par-4 and his sixth state championship, tying him with Sam Reynolds as the only players ever to win six titles.

Astleford trailed Taber by four strokes starting Friday's 36-hole finals and fell seven behind at the noon break when he shot a four-over-par 76 in the morning while Taber was only one over at 73.

In addition to Taber, Astleford had three other players still in front of him—R. B. Lau of Lincoln at 220, Dean Wilson Jr. of Omaha at 221 and Larry Romjue of Lincoln at 222.

Then came Astleford at 225, seven strokes back of Taber's leading 218.

Both Astleford and Taber parred the first hole of the afternoon round, but Astleford picked up a stroke with a birdie-3 at the 305-yard second when he hit his drive just short of the green, chipped on and sank a six-foot putt.

He gained another stroke at the 350-yard, par-4 third when Taber bogeyed the hole and Astleford barely missed a three-foot birdie putt.

But the defending champion lost a stroke to the leader when Taber birdied the par-3, 163-yard fifth hole after putting his tee shot nine feet from the pin.

When Taber bogeyed the seventh, Astleford trailed by only five. An eight-foot birdie putt at No. 8 while Taber was taking a bogey-6 left Astleford three shots back with 10 holes to play.

He cut the margin to two strokes at the turn when he strokes at the turn when he foot birdie putt to make the turn with a three-under-par 33 en route to the four-under-par 68 that gained him the tie.

The margin remained at two strokes when both golfers parred Nos. 10 and 11 and bogeyed the par-3 12th.

But Astleford hit the par-5, 548-yard 13th green in two and rapped home a 75-foot putt for an eagle-3. Taber, on the front fringe in two, had to sink a six-foot birdie putt to keep the Omahan from tying the tourney at that point.

Both bogeyed the 14th and parred the 15th to leave Astleford one back with three holes to play. But on the par-4 16th, Taber hit his tee shot into the left rough, directly behind a pine bush.

He tried to hit a high arching shot over several trees to the green but the ball flew to the right rough. Two putts cost him a bogey while Astleford sank an 18-foot putt for a birdie that gave him the lead by one stroke going to the 17th tee.

When Taber hit his tee shot on No. 17 into the 11th fairway, then got only to the left rough with his second and into the sand trap to the left of the green with the third shot while Astleford was on the par-5 green in three, the tourney appeared to be over.

But the Lincoln southpaw blasted out and sank a 12-foot putt for a par while Astleford two-putted, keeping his one-stroke lead with one hole to play.

Taber tied the match when he sank a tough downhill birdie putt from three feet on the 18th green while Astleford had the par.

After a 20-minute rest, the sudden-death playoff began and Astleford had his fourth straight championship.

Astleford and Taber's 72-hole totals of 293 were five-over-par for the 6,709-yard LCC course. Wilson, a former champion, finished third at 297; Romjue was fourth at 298 and Lau was fifth at 302.

Comeback Not Shocking To 2

. . . ASTLEFORD CONFIDENT

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

When defending State Amateur Golf Champion Bob Astleford ate dinner Thursday night, he had already mapped his plans for playing the 36-hole finals of this year's state tourament Friday at the Lincoln Country Club.

But he wasn't quite planning on seeing the four-stroke deficit that he trailed by climb to seven by noon Friday.

"I'm just going to play it cozy in the morning round," he explained Thursday night. "Then, if I'm still trailing at noon, I'll either shoot real good or real bad in the afternoon because I'll be going for it."

But few in the gallery thought he could come from seven strokes back to catch Lincoln's Matt Taber with 17 holes to play. In fact the number was only about two Astleford and girl friend Irene Dross.

"I think he can do it," she remarked as Bob walked toward the first tee to start the afternoon round.

Astleford didn't say so before, but he did afterward. "Sure, I thought I could still win," he recalled while relaxing in the clubhouse after shooting a four-under-par 68 to tie Taber and then win on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff.

"I thought if I could shoot a 69, I could tie," he explained. "And I thought I was capable of shooting a 66. In fact, if I hadn't missed those two putts that rimmed the cup, I would have had a 66."

He was speaking of a three-footer at the 3rd hole and a four-footer at the fourth.

"I knew I had to start hitting the ball good," he continued. "I started remembering a few of the fundamentals and it started going good."

Astleford said he could not call the comeback one of his greatest but felt it ranked near the top. "I've been behind so many times, I can't remember which ones might have been greater."

The Omahan credited his putter with saving the day. "I guess I'll keep it in the bag for a while longer," he chuckled. Astleford was referring to Monday's qualifying round when he tried a new putter for 12 holes before going back to the old standby, which he used the rest of the tournament.

The six-time state champion said he felt he was in good shape when he birdied the 16th where Taber took a bogey that gave Astleford a one-stroke lead.

"That put me ahead by one, but I would have been happy for a tie because I thought it would be an 18-hole playoff," he pointed out. The sudden-death playoff decision met with disapproval from both players.

The winner gave Taber credit for playing a "fine game of golf. That chip he made on No. 17 was great."

Astleford was speaking of Taber's shot out of a sand trap that saved a par and kept Astleford from picking up another stroke.

Taber said he felt he lost the tournament on the par-3 14th when his tee shot hit just short of the green and bounced over the putting surface and into high rough behind the green.

The shot came after Astleford had missed his tee shot and hit it 50 yards short of the 165-yard green.

"I hit that shot super and when it went over the green and into that deep rough, it really hurt," Taber explained.

Tasty Treat Captures $1300 Columbus Purse

. . . AT HEATED LINCOLN TRACK

By BARRY BURKHART
Star Sports Writer

Tasty Treat, a 19-1 late entry, won the $1,300 Columbus Purse feature race at the Nebraska State Fairgrounds track Friday, and Dakota Jim, a 50-1 shot, finished third.

The winner, who was never far off the pace, went to the inside at the turn and ran well to the wire. Signals Pride, the place horse, had to put on a tremendous drive in the stretch to nip the longshot, Dakota Jim, by a head.

Tasty Treat paid $39.80, $16.80 and $13.00; Signals Pride returned $6.80 and $6.20, with Dakota Jim $18.20 to show.

Shepards Dream, the 7-5 favorite of the crowd, was claimed from his owner, John M. Harrill of Council Bluffs, Iowa, by Harold Strode of Ashland for $2,250. The favorite finished well back in the pack.

The 99 degree heat at the track not only affected the attendance, which was down by 213 persons at 3,594, but also took its toll of jockeys. Kenneth Hare, the third leading rider at the track, was forced to quit competition after the third race, and Mervin Kruger succumbed after the sixth. The rigorous weight reducing methods used by jockeys coupled with the extreme heat proved too much.

At least one jockey, however, seemed to thrive on the intense heat. Boyd Morris, who was second in the standings going into Friday's races, rode In Lieu Of (No. 9) in the first and Cy's Nephew (No. 8) in the second race to victory in capturing both ends of the daily double which paid $21.60. In addition, Morris piloted Gin Broker and Captain Hook to wins in the fourth and eighth races, respectively.

Morris was scheduled to ride Pete Kes in the third race, but was thrown in the starting gate. The horse then escaped from the gate and gave track attendants a great deal of trouble in catching him. Pete Kes was scratched from the race, and, fortunately, Morris was not injured.

The mutuel handle of $155,804 was down $8,400 from a year ago at this time.

George Preas Signs With Baltimore Colts

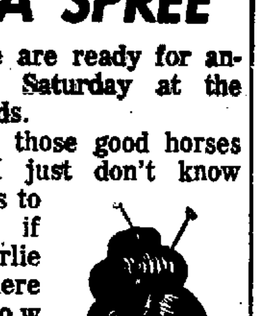
Roanoke, Va. (AP) — George Preas of Roanoke said Friday he had signed a contract to play his 11th season with the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League.

The 245-pound offensive tackle had planned to retire after the 1964 season but was urged by Baltimore officials to return for another season.

PRISCILLA'S ON A SPREE

Here we are ready for another big Saturday at the Fairgrounds.

With all those good horses running I just don't know which ones to bet. Now if Uncle Charlie were here he'd know what to do. He never got confused like some of us do when all the good horses were running on the same day.



Priscilla

So much for wishing. I guess I'll bet $2 to win on Spring Bid in the seventh race and $2 to win on Bonanza Bar in the eighth race.

(Friday Aunt Priscilla lost $2 on Hot Summer in the fourth and lost $2 on Kahl Christy in the eighth leaving her $79.40. She started with a $92 spree fund.)

Brown Found Innocent Of Assault And Battery

Cleveland, Ohio (AP) — Jim Brown is ready to play football again after being found innocent Friday of assault and battery against an 18-year-old girl.

The 230-pound all-pro fullback for the Cleveland Browns said he was completely happy and ready to report to Coach Blanton Collier at the club's training camp at nearby Hiram.

Brown, the National Football League's leading ground gainer for seven of his eight years, has missed more than a week of practice. The NFL champions meet the College All-Stars Aug. 6 in Chicago.

The jury of seven women and five men deliberated only an hour and 20 minutes, a fact which Brown called significant.

The 29-year-old father of three had been charged with assault and battery by Brenda Ayres. She testified he beat her in his motel room the night of June 19 and forced her into sexual relations. Both Brown and Miss Ayres are Negroes.

Brown, who testified he never had sexual relations with the 108-pound high school dropout, said "the evidence proved it was a preposterous accusation."

His wife, Sue, clutched hands with Brown's mother, Mrs. Theresa Brown, when the verdict was read Mrs. Brown wept when Municipal Judge Blanche Krupansky read "not guilty."

Sue Brown said "I'm very happy it's all over."

After the judge left the court room, people rushed to shake hands with Brown and slap him on the back. Brown commented on the effect of his 10-day trial on his image as a popular football player:

"I have been proven innocent. I hope the general public will accept this. I leave it to their judgment."

Browns President Art Modell said he had spent an evening with the fullback several weeks ago when charges were first filed on June 21.

"From that meeting on," Modell said, "I haven't had the slightest doubt of his complete innocence."

Collier said "I'm very gratified that the jury found to be true what we all felt from the beginning. I'm pleased they upheld our own belief."

Jury foreman Gary Arnosk said "the main point of contention in our minds was when and how Brenda Ayres received the injuries." He said the jury needed only one ballot to arrive at a verdict.

Brown said he would take no action for false arrest.

Both Minor and Police Prosecutor Albert Corsi, in their final arguments, said it was Brown's word against the girl's.

Minor indicated that Brenda was beaten after she arrived home from the motel the afternoon of June 20, then taken to a hospital for an examination.

Key witnesses in the trial were Miss Ayres, Brown and Paula White, the 16-year-old girl who introduced Brenda to the fullback May 12 at the White home. Mrs. Audrey White, Paula's mother, works for Brown by answering fan mail.

Paula White's testimony was a major part of the defense case. She said she saw Miss Ayres nude in the bathroom at the White home 12 hours after the alleged beating and Brenda didn't have a mark on her.

Miss White also said Brenda told her on June 21 about the possibility of getting money from Brown in connection with a civil suit. Miss Ayres denied talking to Paula on June 21.

Miss Ayres said Brown threatened her in his automobile the night of June 19 and forced her to accompany him to the motel. Brown said she asked him for a ride to visit a friend, and he obliged.

The girl came to his room at 3 a.m. June 20, Brown said, and he talked to her a while, then went to play golf about 5 a.m.

Champ Defends, Comes From Seven Back To Win

. . . TABER LOSES SUDDEN-DEATH PLAYOFF

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Burly Bob Astleford, defying doctor's orders and chomping on the familiar cigar most of the way, pulled one of the greatest comebacks in the annals of the Nebraska State Men's Amateur Golf Tournament Friday to win an unprecedented fourth straight championship in a sudden-death playoff from Matt Taber.

The husky Om: bachelor, who trailed Taber by seven strokes with 17 noles to play in the 36 hole finals Friday at the Lincoln Country Club, shot a four-under-par 68 in the afternoon. The tourney was forced into a sudden-death playoff when Taber sank a three-foot birdie putt on the par-4 18th.

Astleford hit a four-wood into the No. 4 fairway on the first extra hole while Taber was in the right rough. The 35-year-old Omahan then pitched a shot over the trees and to the left side of the green while Taber's shot out of the rough hit the green and bounced into the heavy rough to the back of the green.

The Lincoln city champion chipped 12 feet past the hole on his third shot and Astleford, after studying the putt for several moments, left it just to the left of the hole.

When Taber missed his 12-footer, Astleford had only to tap in the putt for the par-4 and his sixth state championship, tying him with Sam Reynolds as the only players ever to win six titles.

Astleford trailed Taber by four strokes starting Friday's 36-hole finals and fell seven behind at the noon break when he shot a four-over-par 76 in the morning while Taber was only one over at 73.

In addition to Taber, Astleford had three other players still in front of him—R. B. Lau of Lincoln at 220, Dean Wilson Jr. of Omaha at 221 and Larry Romjue of Lincoln at 222.

Then came Astleford at 225, seven strokes back of Taber's leading 218.

Both Astleford and Taber parred the first hole of the afternoon round, but Astleford picked up a stroke with a birdie-3 at the 305-yard second when he hit his drive just short of the green, chipped on and sank a six-foot putt.

He gained another stroke at the 350-yard, par-4 third when Taber bogeyed the hole and Astleford barely missed a three-foot birdie putt.

But the defending champion lost a stroke to the leader when Taber birdied the par-3, 163-yard fifth hole after putting his tee shot nine feet from the pin.

When Taber bogeyed the seventh, Astleford trailed by only five. An eight-foot birdie putt at No. 8 while Taber was taking a bogey-6 left Astleford three shots back with 10 holes to play.

He cut the margin to two strokes at the turn when he strokes at the turn when he foot birdie putt to make the turn with a three-under-par 33 en route to the four-under-par 68 that gained him the tie.

The margin remained at two strokes when both golfers parred Nos. 10 and 11 and bogeyed the par-3 12th.

But Astleford hit the par-5, 548-yard 13th green in two and rapped home a 75-foot putt for an eagle-3. Taber, on the front fringe in two, had to sink a six-foot birdie putt to keep the Omahan from tying the tourney at that point.

Both bogeyed the 14th and parred the 15th to leave Astleford one back with three holes to play. But on the par-4 16th, Taber hit his tee shot into the left rough, directly behind a pine bush.

He tried to hit a high arching shot over several trees to the green but the ball flew to the right rough. Two putts cost him a bogey while Astleford sank an 18-foot putt for a birdie that gave him the lead by one stroke going to the 17th tee.

When Taber hit his tee shot on No. 17 into the 11th fairway, then got only to the left rough with his second and into the sand trap to the left of the green with the third shot while Astleford was on the par-5 green in three, the tourney appeared to be over.

But the Lincoln southpaw blasted out and sank a 12-foot putt for a par while Astleford two-putted, keeping his one-stroke lead with one hole to play.

Taber tied the match when he sank a tough downhill birdie putt from three feet on the 18th green while Astleford had the par.

After a 20-minute rest, the sudden-death playoff began and Astleford had his fourth straight championship.

Astleford and Taber's 72-hole totals of 293 were five-over-par for the 6,709-yard LCC course. Wilson, a former champion, finished third at 297; Romjue was fourth at 298 and Lau was fifth at 302.

Tasty Treat Captures $1300 Columbus Purse

. . . AT HEATED LINCOLN TRACK

By BARRY BURKHART
Star Sports Writer

Tasty Treat, a 19-1 late entry, won the $1,300 Columbus Purse feature race at the Nebraska State Fairgrounds track Friday, and Dakota Jim, a 50-1 shot, finished third.

The winner, who was never far off the pace, went to the inside at the turn and ran well to the wire. Signals Pride, the place horse, had to put on a tremendous drive in the stretch to nip the longshot, Dakota Jim, by a head.

Tasty Treat paid $39.80, $16.80 and $13.00; Signals Pride returned $6.80 and $6.20, with Dakota Jim $18.20 to show.

Shepards Dream, the 7-5 favorite of the crowd, was claimed from his owner, John M. Harrill of Council Bluffs, Iowa, by Harold Strode of Ashland for $2,250. The favorite finished well back in the pack.

The 99 degree heat at the track not only affected the attendance, which was down by 213 persons at 3,594, but also took its toll of jockeys. Kenneth Hare, the third leading rider at the track, was forced to quit competition after the third race, and Mervin Kruger succumbed after the sixth. The rigorous weight reducing methods used by jockeys coupled with the extreme heat proved too much.

At least one jockey, however, seemed to thrive on the intense heat. Boyd Morris, who was second in the standings going into Friday's races, rode In Lieu Of (No. 9) in the first and Cy's Nephew (No. 8) in the second race to victory in capturing both ends of the daily double which paid $21.60. In addition, Morris piloted Gin Broker and Captain Hook to wins in the fourth and eighth races, respectively.

Morris was scheduled to ride Pete Kes in the third race, but was thrown in the starting gate. The horse then escaped from the gate and gave track attendants a great deal of trouble in catching him. Pete Kes was scratched from the race, and, fortunately, Morris was not injured.

The mutuel handle of $155,804 was down $8,400 from a year ago at this time.

George Preas Signs With Baltimore Colts

Roanoke, Va. (AP) — George Preas of Roanoke said Friday he had signed a contract to play his 11th season with the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League.

The 245-pound offensive tackle had planned to retire after the 1964 season but was urged by Baltimore officials to return for another season.

PRISCILLA'S ON A SPREE

Here we are ready for another big Saturday at the Fairgrounds.

Priscilla

With all those good horses running I just don't know which ones to bet. Now if Uncle Charlie were here he'd know what to do. He never got confused like some of us do when all the good horses were running on the same day.

So much for wishing. I guess I'll bet $2 to win on Spring Bid in the seventh race and $2 to win on Bonanza Bar in the eighth race.

(Friday Aunt Priscilla lost $2 on Hot Summer in the fourth and lost $2 on Kahl Christy in the eighth leaving her $79.40. She started with a $92 spree fund.)

Brown Found Innocent Of Assault And Battery

Cleveland, Ohio (AP) — Jim Brown is ready to play football again after being found innocent Friday of assault and battery against an 18-year-old girl.

The 230-pound all-pro fullback for the Cleveland Browns said he was completely happy and ready to report to Coach Blanton Collier at the club's training camp at nearby Hiram.

Brown, the National Football League's leading ground gainer for seven of his eight years, has missed more than a week of practice. The NFL champions meet the College All-Stars Aug. 6 in Chicago.

The jury of seven women and five men deliberated only an hour and 20 minutes, a fact which Brown called significant.

The 29-year-old father of three had been charged with assault and battery by Brenda Ayres. She testified he beat her in his motel room the night of June 19 and forced her into sexual relations. Both Brown and Miss Ayres are Negroes.

Brown, who testified he never had sexual relations with the 108-pound high school dropout, said "the evidence proved it was a preposterous accusation."

His wife, Sue, clutched hands with Brown's mother, Mrs. Theresa Brown, when the verdict was read Mrs. Brown wept when Municipal Judge Blanche Krupansky read "not guilty."

Sue Brown said "I'm very happy it's all over."

After the judge left the court room, people rushed to shake hands with Brown and slap him on the back. Brown commented on the effect of his 10-day trial on his image as a popular football player:

"I have been proven innocent. I hope the general public will accept this. I leave it to their judgment."

Browns President Art Modell said he had spent an evening with the fullback several weeks ago when charges were first filed on June 21.

"From that meeting on," Modell said, "I haven't had the slightest doubt of his complete innocence."

Collier said "I'm very gratified that the jury found to be true what we all felt from the beginning. I'm pleased they upheld our own belief."

Jury foreman Gary Arnosk said "the main point of contention in our minds was when and how Brenda Ayres received the injuries." He said the jury needed only one ballot to arrive at a verdict.

Brown said he would take no action for false arrest.

Both Minor and Police Prosecutor Albert Corsi, in their final arguments, said it was Brown's word against the girl's.

Minor indicated that Brenda was beaten after she arrived home from the motel the afternoon of June 20, then taken to a hospital for an examination.

Key witnesses in the trial were Miss Ayres, Brown and Paula White, the 16-year-old girl who introduced Brenda to the fullback May 12 at the White home. Mrs. Audrey White, Paula's mother, works for Brown by answering fan mail.

Paula White's testimony was a major part of the defense case. She said she saw Miss Ayres nude in the bathroom at the White home 12 hours after the alleged beating and Brenda didn't have a mark on her.

Miss White also said Brenda told her on June 21 about the possibility of getting money from Brown in connection with a civil suit. Miss Ayres denied talking to Paula on June 21.

Miss Ayres said Brown threatened her in his automobile the night of June 19 and forced her to accompany him to the motel. Brown said she asked him for a ride to visit a friend, and he obliged.

The girl came to his room at 3 a.m. June 20, Brown said, and he talked to her a while, then went to play golf about 5 a.m.

Comeback Not Shocking To 2

. . . ASTLEFORD CONFIDENT

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

When defending State Amateur Golf Champion Bob Astleford ate dinner Thursday night, he had already mapped his plans for playing the 36-hole finals of this year's state tourament Friday at the Lincoln Country Club.

But he wasn't quite planning on seeing the four-stroke deficit that he trailed by climb to seven by noon Friday.

"I'm just going to play it cozy in the morning round," he explained Thursday night. "Then, if I'm still trailing at noon, I'll either shoot real good or real bad in the afternoon because I'll be going for it."

But few in the gallery thought he could come from seven strokes back to catch Lincoln's Matt Taber with 17 holes to play. In fact the number was only about two Astleford and girl friend Irene Dross.

"I think he can do it," she remarked as Bob walked toward the first tee to start the afternoon round.

Astleford didn't say so before, but he did afterward. "Sure, I thought I could still win," he recalled while relaxing in the clubhouse after shooting a four-under-par 68 to tie Taber and then win on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff.

"I thought if I could shoot a 69, I could tie," he explained. "And I thought I was capable of shooting a 66. In fact, if I hadn't missed those two putts that rimmed the cup, I would have had a 66."

He was speaking of a three-footer at the 3rd hole and a four-footer at the fourth.

"I knew I had to start hitting the ball good," he continued. "I started remembering a few of the fundamentals and it started going good."

Astleford said he could not call the comeback one of his greatest but felt it ranked near the top. "I've been behind so many times, I can't remember which ones might have been greater."

The Omahan credited his putter with saving the day. "I guess I'll keep it in the bag for a while longer," he chuckled. Astleford was referring to Monday's qualifying round when he tried a new putter for 12 holes before going back to the old standby, which he used the rest of the tournament.

The six-time state champion said he felt he was in good shape when he birdied the 16th where Taber took a bogey that gave Astleford a one-stroke lead.

"That put me ahead by one, but I would have been happy for a tie because I thought it would be an 18-hole playoff," he pointed out. The sudden-death playoff decision met with disapproval from both players.

The winner gave Taber credit for playing a "fine game of golf. That chip he made on No. 17 was great."

Astleford was speaking of Taber's shot out of a sand trap that saved a par and kept Astleford from picking up another stroke.

Taber said he felt he lost the tournament on the par-3 14th when his tee shot hit just short of the green and bounced over the putting surface and into high rough behind the green.

The shot came after Astleford had missed his tee shot and hit it 50 yards short of the 165-yard green.

"I hit that shot super and when it went over the green and into that deep rough, it really hurt," Taber explained.

Hill Captures Hartford Lead

Hartford, Conn. (AP) — Dave Hill, playing what he called "a funny round," gained the 36-hole lead Friday in the $70,000 Insurance City Open Golf Tournament.

He shot a 66 for a nine-under-par 133.

The 28-year-old Hill, from Jackson, Mich., who started the second round with a 67, posted a 34-32—66. He recorded six birdies, an eagle and three bogeys.

Hill finished one stroke in front of Dave Marr, who shot 67-67—134. Bob Goalby, the first day leader, was two shots off the pace with 64-71—135.

Behind them with 136s were Jay Hebert and Al Geiberger.

Hill, among the last to finish on the 6,568-yard par-71 Wethersfield Country Club course, had to scramble for his 66 from the start. He had to chip for a par on the first hole after hitting into the trees.

He then collected birdies on the next two holes, only to bogey the fourth and seventh. He sank a 35-footer to birdie the ninth.

Hill shot birdies on the 11th and 12th, hit the 14th for an eagle with a 65-foot putt, and closed with birdies on the 16th and a bogey on the 17th.

Julius Boros, a Connecticut native, equalled Hill's 66 and closed with a half-way mark total of 137.

The cutting point was 144 and ties.

Steer Roping Contest Set For Ogallala

Ogallala (AP) — Twenty of the nation's top steer ropers will vie here Sunday in the third annual $8,000 World Champion Matched Steer Roping Contest.

Ropers, here by invitation, each put up $250 entry fee to vie for the prize money.

Each will have four chances at roping and tying the Mexican steers.

Proceeds go to the Nebraska Easter Seal Society for crippled children.

Sonny Davis of Kenna, New Mexico, is defending champion. He dropped and tied four steers in 68.8 seconds last year—an average of 17.4 seconds per steer.

Craig Haythorn, 18, Nebraska High School All-Around Cowboy the past three years, will be the contest's youngest roper.

A special guest will be 10-year-old Susan Zingg of Brule, Nebraska, Easter Seal Child for 1965.

Girls will compete in a special barrel race event for a $60 purse and sterling silver trophy buckle.

Russians Name Great Jumpers

Moscow (AP) — Valery Brumel, the high jumper, and Iger Ter-Ovanesyan, outstanding broad jumper, are among the 42 Soviet athletes named Friday to oppose the United States in the annual track meet at Kiev July 31 and Aug. 1.

The Press sisters, Irina in the hurdles and Tamara in the weights, are included in the 17 women athletes selected.

All four have competed in previous meets against the Americans.

Lions To Lose Retiring Lary

Forth Worth, Tex. (AP)—Yale Lary, reflecting on 11 lively years in the National Football League, announced Friday his retirement as the Detroit Lions' punting and defensive specialist.

"When the coaches are younger than you are, it's time to quit," quipped Lary, 34, at what was designed to be a news conference prior to the official announcement.

The conference actually resembled a fraternity bull session with Lary, his tie askew, recalling incidents during the frequently turbulent years of the NFL.

Asked to elaborate on his experiences with Bobby Layne, one of the league's all-time great and stormy quarterbacks, Lary replied:

"You can't print them."

Then he added:

"No, all these stories you hear about Bobby Layne — well . . . they're all true. On and off the field, he's the greatest.

"He was the Chief. Everybody else was an Indian."

The former Texas A&M star said Layne classified his companion during his off-field antics as "stayers or leavers —I was a stayer."

On the field, he recalled, Layne demanded excellent protection from his blockers.

"If somebody didn't block for him, he'd send them off the field. He wouldn't let them play. He'd tell the coach, 'don't send that so-and-so or something similar in any more.'

"If he told you to block . . . you blocked. If he told you to drink . . . you drank . . ."

He said former Detroit coach Buddy Parker and Layne, both individualists of the highest order, got along marvelously because they thought exactly alike.

He said Parker's abrupt resignation in 1957 caught all of us by surprise.

The squad, he said, was at a big pre-season meet the Lions Banquet. They summoned Parker to say a few words and, Lary said, Parker declared:

"There comes a time in every coach's life when he can't handle his ball players. 'I quit.' You talk about a shock. The emcee thought it was a joke and asked Parker to come back.

"He said, 'Hell no. I quit.' "

Lary told also how he tried out at Detroit in the offensive backfield and his futile attempts to block former Notre Dame giant Leon Hart.

After Lary was flattened a couple of times, an assistant coach observed:

"Son, have you tried defense lately?"

Lary went on to become one of the league's outstanding defensive backs and one of the all-time great punters.

He led the league in punting in 1959, 1961, and 1963. He was selected to the All-Pro team four times and played in the Pro Bowl nine times.

He intercepted 50 passes during his career and returned 126 punts for 752 yards.

Lary said he reached his decision to retire with great reluctance and with mixed emotions, adding:

"It's not easy to retire, but I had a good year last season and I prefer to leave with a good record. I owe it to my wife and children to establish a permanent home."

He plans to devote full time to a new automobile dealership he and Bobby Helm, a close friend, recently opened in Suburban Hurst.

Lary confirmed that club officials have urged him to continue playing. "They said I was still young," he smiled. "Compared to who? Night Train Lane?"

Texas Clubs Earn Roller Hockey Finals

Two Texas teams, defending champion Lubbock and Port Neches, are the survivors from four rounds of eliminations in the roller hockey event of the North American Amateur Roller Skating Championships at Pershing Auditorium.

Lubbock and Port Neches will meet for the championship Sunday at 7 p.m.

Lubbock made the finals the hard way as it was forced to win four times in Friday's fourth round. After handing Midland, Tex., its first setback, 6-3, Lubbock was beaten by a strong Port Neches team, 1-0.

Lubbock then was forced to beat Midland a second time, 5-2, and Portland, Ore., 3-2, to earn the finals.

Since Port Neches won its first match, against Lubbock, thus remaining the only undefeated team, it had won its way into the Sunday night finals.

Fourth round results:

Lubbock, Tex., 6, Midland, Tex., 3; Rolla, Mo., 2, Glendora, Calif., 1; Portland, Ore., 4, Fresno, Calif., 3; Midland, Tex., 7, Painesville, Ohio, 6; Port Neches, Tex., 1, Lubbock, Tex., 0; Portland, Ore., 1, Rolla, Mo., 0; Lubbock, Tex., 5, Midland, Tex., 2; Lubbock, Tex., 3, Portland, Ore., 2.

Redskins Sign Casares

Carlisle, Pa. (AP)—The Washington Redskins announced Wednesday the signing of Rick Casares, veteran fullback and leading ground gainer in the National Football League in 1965, whom they obtained from the Chicago Bears in an off-season trade.

—BEST START—

Wills Still Swiping Bases For Bums

Los Angeles (UPI) — Maury Wills has been a marked man since he first started displaying his unusual talent for stealing bases but the Los Angeles Dodgers shortstop just keeps on pilfering the bases.

This season Wills is off to perhaps the best start of his major league career in base stealing. When action resumed after the All-Star break, he had 55 stolen bases to his credit in 89 games.

In 1962 when he set the major league record of 104 stolen bases, he did not steal his 55th base until the Dodgers' 105th game.

"One reason I'm ahead of my 1962 schedule is that I've stayed healthy this season and have gotten by this far without any injuries or bad bruises," the 32-year-old Wills said. "This keeps me relaxed and loose when I'm trying to steal. Towards the end of the 1962 season I was wrapped in tape like a mummy."

While some base runners feel they can steal on the catcher, Wills says his thefts are based almost entirely on the movements of the pitcher although he admits some catchers have quicker moves to second base than others.

"By this time I know the moves of most of the pitchers I oppose," Wills says. "But even so, I study their movements to see if they have made any changes.

"The things I want to know are what kind of pitches he throws, how he holds his hands in the set position, the movements of his feet and even the motion of his shoulders."

Wills gets much of his information by feinting that he is going to steal and taking a long enough lead off first base to draw a throw from the pitcher.

"If I get back to first standing up, I know I didn't take a long enough lead," he says. "But if I have to slide, then I'm fairly certain how far I can get and beat the throw."

Although it is generally believed that the men who follow Wills to the plate hurt their averages protecting the shortstop on the basepaths, Wills says that is not entirely true.

White Bass Plentiful At Harlan Dam

There will be a hot time in the old town this weekend, namely old Republican City, the Game Commission notes.

The former town, inundated by the waters of Harlan County Reservoir, is now swarming with white bass. Anglers are taking them by the dozens on any shiny lure. White bass are also on the rampage and schooling near the surface at Lake McConaughy.

River and some lake fishing has been slow due to high waters and hot weather.

A capsule report by area:

SOUTHEAST

Little Blue River (Dewoese, Angus, and Oak areas)—catfish going for bank lines baited with minnows; night fishing best. Lake Hastings—night fishermen taking channel catfish up to 4 pounds. Platte River—catfishing good on set lines using minnows and crawdads. Verdon Lake—bluegill going for night crawlers in deep water. Loup River (St. Paul area)—catfish on set lines. NORTHEAST

Elkhorn River (Madison and Stanton counties)—catfish up to 2 pounds being caught on set lines; frog, chicken entrails, and chicken liver best bait. Lewis and Clark Lake—trollers catching white bass on small spinners in eveing with the best area north of Weigand boat basin; plenty of channel catfish being caught on shrimp in trees west of Miller Creek area; sauger up to 3 pounds being taken on minnows in Niobrara area, anglers fishing deep holes using boats; below Gavins Point Dam white bass being caught below powerhouse on minnows; plenty of carp on worms and corn.

SAND HILLS

Loup River (Custer and Blaine counties)—catfish going for minnows and worms. Dewey Lake—bass and walleye biting. Merritt Reservoir—trout being taken in deep waters on cowbells. Elkhorn River—catfish taking minnows and worms in deep waters.

Lorenzen Caps Pole Position In Volunteer 500

Bristol, Tenn. (AP) — Fred Lorenzen ramrodded 1965 Ford to a fastest lap of 84.348 miles per hour Friday to take the pole position for Sunday's Volunteer 500 late model auto race.

A breath behind at 83.916 was Lorenzen's rival, Richard Petty, the Randleman, N.C., ace, in a 1965 hemi-head Plymouth.

Petty had already completed his two qualifying laps, both of them at 83.916 mph when the Elmhurst, Ill., Ford driver took the track.

Lorenzen cooled his springs with a water hose to stiffen his Ford and thus get better handling in the turns of the half-mile asphalt Bristol International Speedway. It paid off, with laps of 84.348 and 84.267 mph.

Wills Still Swiping Bases For Bums

Los Angeles (UPI) — Maury Wills has been a marked man since he first started displaying his unusual talent for stealing bases but the Los Angeles Dodgers shortstop just keeps on pilfering the bases.

This season Wills is off to perhaps the best start of his major league career in base stealing. When action resumed after the All-Star break, he had 55 stolen bases to his credit in 89 games.

In 1962 when he set the major league record of 104 stolen bases, he did not steal his 55th base until the Dodgers' 105th game.

"One reason I'm ahead of my 1962 schedule is that I've stayed healthy this season and have gotten by this far without any injuries or bad bruises," the 32-year-old Wills said. "This keeps me relaxed and loose when I'm trying to steal. Towards the end of the 1962 season I was wrapped in tape like a mummy."

While some base runners feel they can steal on the catcher, Wills says his thefts are based almost entirely on the movements of the pitcher although he admits some catchers have quicker moves to second base than others.

"By this time I know the moves of most of the pitchers I oppose," Wills says. "But even so, I study their movements to see if they have made any changes.

"The things I want to know are what kind of pitches he throws, how he holds his hands in the set position, the movements of his feet and even the motion of his shoulders."

Wills gets much of his information by feinting that he is going to steal and taking a long enough lead off first base to draw a throw from the pitcher.

"If I get back to first standing up, I know I didn't take a long enough lead," he says. "But if I have to slide, then I'm fairly certain how far I can get and beat the throw."

Although it is generally believed that the men who follow Wills to the plate hurt their averages protecting the shortstop on the basepaths, Wills says that is not entirely true.

Hill Captures Hartford Lead

Hartford, Conn. (AP) — Dave Hill, playing what he called "a funny round," gained the 36-hole lead Friday in the $70,000 Insurance City Open Golf Tournament.

He shot a 66 for a nine-under-par 133.

The 28-year-old Hill, from Jackson, Mich., who started the second round with a 67, posted a 34-32—66. He recorded six birdies, an eagle and three bogeys.

Hill finished one stroke in front of Dave Marr, who shot 67-67—134. Bob Goalby, the first day leader, was two shots off the pace with 64-71—135.

Behind them with 136s were Jay Hebert and Al Geiberger.

Hill, among the last to finish on the 6,568-yard par-71 Wethersfield Country Club course, had to scramble for his 66 from the start. He had to chip for a par on the first hole after hitting into the trees.

He then collected birdies on the next two holes, only to bogey the fourth and seventh. He sank a 35-footer to birdie the ninth.

Hill shot birdies on the 11th and 12th, hit the 14th for an eagle with a 65-foot putt, and closed with birdies on the 16th and a bogey on the 17th.

Julius Boros, a Connecticut native, equalled Hill's 66 and closed with a half-way mark total of 137.

The cutting point was 144 and ties.

Lions To Lose Retiring Lary

Forth Worth, Tex. (AP)—Yale Lary, reflecting on 11 lively years in the National Football League, announced Friday his retirement as the Detroit Lions' punting and defensive specialist.

"When the coaches are younger than you are, it's time to quit," quipped Lary, 34, at what was designed to be a news conference prior to the official announcement.

The conference actually resembled a fraternity bull session with Lary, his tie askew, recalling incidents during the frequently turbulent years of the NFL.

Asked to elaborate on his experiences with Bobby Layne, one of the league's all-time great and stormy quarterbacks, Lary replied:

"You can't print them."

Then he added:

"No, all those stories you hear about Bobby Layne — well . . . they're all true. On and off the field, he's the greatest.

"He was the Chief. Everybody else was an Indian."

The former Texas A&M star said Layne classified his companion during his off-field antics as "stayers or leavers—I was a stayer."

On the field, he recalled, Layne demanded excellent protection from his blockers.

"If somebody didn't block for him, he'd send them off the field. He wouldn't let them play. He'd tell the coach, 'don't send that so-and-so or something similar in any more.'

"If he told you to block . . . you blocked. If he told you to drink . . . you drank . . ."

He said former Detroit coach Buddy Parker and Layne, both individualists of the highest order, got along marvelously because they thought exactly alike.

He said Parker's abrupt resignation in 1957 caught all of us by surprise.

The squad, he said, was at a big pre-season meet the Lions Banquet. They summoned Parker to say a few words and, Lary said, Parker declared:

"There comes a time in every coach's life when he can't handle his ball players. 'I quit.' You talk about a shock. The emcee thought it was a joke and asked Parker to come back.

"He said, 'Hell no. I quit.' "

Lary told also how he tried out at Detroit in the offensive backfield and his futile attempts to block former Notre Dame giant Leon Hart.

After Lary was flattened a couple of times, an assistant coach observed:

"Son, have you tried defense lately?"

Lary went on to become one of the league's outstanding defensive backs and one of the all-time great punters.

He led the league in punting in 1959, 1961, and 1963. He was selected to the All-Pro team four times and played in the Pro Bowl nine times.

He intercepted 50 passes during his career and returned 126 punts for 752 yards.

Lary said he reached his decision to retire with great reluctance and with mixed emotions, adding:

"It's not easy to retire, but I had a good year last season and I prefer to leave with a good record. I owe it to my wife and children to establish a permanent home."

He plans to devote full time to a new automobile dealership he and Bobby Helm, a close friend, recently opened in Suburban Hurst.

Lary confirmed that club officials have urged him to continue playing. "They said I was still young," he smiled. "Compared to who? Night Train Lane?"

Lorenzen Caps Pole Position In Volunteer 500

Bristol, Tenn. (AP) — Fred Lorenzen ramrodded his 1965 Ford to a fastest lap of 84.348 miles per hour Friday to take the pole position for Sunday's Volunteer 500 late model auto race.

A breath behind at 83.916 was Lorenzen's rival, Richard Petty, the Randleman, N.C., ace, in a 1965 hemi-head Plymouth.

Petty had already completed his two qualifying laps, both of them at 83.916 mph when the Elmhurst, Ill., Ford driver took the track.

Lorenzen cooled his springs with a water hose to stiffen his Ford and thus get better handling in the turns of the half-mile asphalt Bristol International Speedway. It paid off, with laps of 84.348 and 84.267 mph.

Optimists Rally To Top Witt's

. . . EARN AREA BERTH

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

The Lincoln Optimists rallied for two big runs in the seventh inning Friday night at Sherman field to whip Ken Witt's, 5-4, and earn a berth in the American Legion Junior Area baseball tournament.

The Optimists had to score three times in the fourth to catch up with Witt's, which had scored single runs in each of the first three innines. After Witt's hurler Bill Schommer put down the Optimist sluggers in the fifth and sixth frames, Optimist rightfielder Doug Kyles led off the seventh with a double and pitcher Jerry Husbands drew a walk.

A passed ball by Mike Bohaty, one of four for the Witt's catcher in the game, allowed Kyles to reach third where Mickey Ziegler scored both Kyles and Husbands with his second single of the evening.

Witt's tried to come back in the bottom of the sixth, scoring one run on three successive singles.

Optimist coach Dale Siefkes relieved Husbands with Tom Ochsner after two were gone in the sixth, and Ochsner promptly got out of the inning by fanningDick Burke.

Ochsner hurled one-hit ball the rest of the way, but that didn't keep Witt's from threatening to score.

Bohaty reached base on a fielder's choice in the last of the ninth, and went all the way to third on a bad throw by Optimist third sacker Paul Topliff. Witt's thus had the tying run on third with only one out. But Ochsner regained his stride, fanning John McEniry and getting Dana Stephenson on a force play at second base on Burke's grounder to the shortstop.

Stephenson turned in his second sparkling performance in as many nights, going three for five and driving in two runs.

Kyles and Ziegler were the top hitters for the Optimists.

Kelso To Run Today

By Associated Press

Kelso, the Grand Old Man of the thoroughbreds, races Saturday in the $100,000-added Brooklyn Handicap at Aqueduct and his appearance alone in the 1¼-mile turf classic relegates all other feature events to a back seat.

Trainer Carl Hanford is asking a lot of the 8-year-old gelding, who will be making his third start of the year in a bid for a sixth straight Horse of the Year title. He ran third in a sprint race and then two weeks ago whipped mediocre rivals in the Damond State at Delaware Park to run his bank roll to $1,908,064.

His opposition in the 77th running of the Brooklyn is of much higher caliber and he will tote topweight of 132 pounds and give away from 11 to 19 pounds.

The top three of his four rivals pack 121 pounds each. They are Roman Brother, Quadrangle, winner of five major 1964 races for 3-year-olds, and the fleet Pia Star, co-holder of the world record of 1:33 1-5 for one mile and recent winner of the 1¼ miles of the Suburban in a sizzling 2:01.

Repeating, surprise winner of last Saturday's Monmouth Handicap and a highly regarded off track performer, rounds out the small field under 113 pounds.

Topped by the Brooklyn and the $100,000-added Hollywood Juvenile Championship at Hollywood Park, nearly $400,000 in added money will be up for grabs Saturday in major feature races.

Other headliners include, $50,000-added Delaware Oaks at Delaware Park, $40,000-added Beverly Handicap at Arlington Park, $40,000-added Choice at Monmouth Park, $25,000-added Hazel Park Handicap Trial at Hazel Park and the $15,000-added Manchester Handicap at Rockingham Park.

The six furlongs of the Hollywood Juvenile attracted 14 2-year-olds, making it worth $156,500 with $111,500 to the winner if all go. Royal House, with Bill Hartack handling the reins, is the probable choice over a field that includes three eastern invaders—Royal Jr., Hospitality and Flame Tree.

Matson Wins Shot Put In Wichita Meet

Wichita, Kan. (AP) — World record shot-putter Randy Matson had a winning throw of 65 feet 2 inches Friday night and young Jim Ryun disappointed a home town crowd by finishing third in the mile run during a display of some of America's top track talent.

The meet was a preview for members of the U.S. track team which opens a European tour next week.

Ryun, who has an American record of 3:55.3 pending, ran only 4:10.7 as he appeared to be bothered by a lame knee.

Morgan Groth, Martinez, Calif., was the mile winner in 4:02.2, with George Young, Silver City, N.M., a close second in 4:02.5.

Ryun never threatened during the race, which was run in 90-degree temperature. Following the race aides applied ice packs to Ryun's knee.

Matson, who has a best throw of 70 feet 7 inches, won his event with ease. This was in contrast to his battle for the right to compete in the meet.

Detroit Lions Acquire Jim Hill Via Waivers

Detroit (AP) — The Detroit Lions picked up Jimmy Hill, 35, a 10-year national Football League veteran defensive back, on waivers from the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday.

After the 1964 season Hill had indicated he intended to retire, but said Wednesday he will report to the Lions training camp in August.

Ak-Sar-Ben Horse Long Shot Winner

Bayou Bourg, twice an even money odds at the recently completed Ak-Sar-Ben racing meeting in Omaha, won the Arlington Park Winonly Handicap Friday in Chicago.

Bayou Bourg was a 44-1 shot Friday and paid $91.60 to win, $25.20 to place and $7.60 to show.

Track Shoes Serve Youngsters' Purpose

Oakland, Calif. (AP) — Track shoes are for running. Shoe clerk Robert Mitchell sadly told police he fitted 15 youngsters, aged 8 to 16, with track shoes, then turned to make out the bills.

The youngsters fled, grabbing other shoes and Mitchell's transistor radio on the way out.

Anti-Discrimination Order To Be Written

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Frank Morrison said Friday he issued upon becoming governor "an oral executive order demanding that discrimination in employment by state government not be tolerated."

"I have repeatedly informed department heads that no racial or religious discrimination will be tolerated," he said, "and no specific instance has ever been reported to me of a violation of this order."

The Governor's Commission on Human Rights Thursday asked the governor to issue an executive order "to end discrimination in employment by the state."

'Always In Effect'

Morrison said he maintains this order has always been in effect and he is reducing it to writing.

"The commission's request comes as somewhat of a surprise in that I have contacted our code department heads also by letter, instructing them that discrimination would not be tolerated," the governor said.

Morrison noted that he has "on numerous occasions" encouraged the employment of Negroes in state government.

Asks Report

Morrison said he is immediately requesting the Rev. James Stewart of Omaha, chairman of the commission, to report to his office and furnish information on any instance of discrimination for investigation

In its public meeting, the commisison reported no specific case of discrimination, but several members charged its existence in general terms.

The commission has also recommended to the governor that Nebraska's public accommodations law, prohibiting discrimination in public accomodations, be printed on the state's official highway map and posted in state tourist information centers and those accomodations licensed by the state.

Counterfeit Charges Bring Innocent Plea

A young Lincoln printer Friday pleaded innocent to four counts of counterfeiting.

Larry Gene McGuire, 27, of 3401 Lewis, was arraigned in Federal District Court before U.S. District Judge Robert Van Pelt.

Judge Van Pelt set no date for McGuire's trial, and McGuire remained released on $5,000 bond.

U.S. District Attorney Theodore Richling said McGuire is charged with counterfeiting about $30,000 in $10 bills.

The Lincoln man is charged with counterfeiting $10 Federal Reserve notes, possessing such notes and making and possessing plates.

McGuire was arrested by local and federal authorities in Lincoln April 21, after the false plates were discovered.

The counterfeit notes uncovered by Lincoln police and Federal Secret Service agents was described as probably the biggest single output of counterfeit money in Nebraska history.

McGuire was a night pressman at Boomer's Printing Company when arrested.

Law officials acted on a tip from McGuire's boss, Lowell Boomer, Company owner.

ETV To Discuss Procedures For Using Programs

Appointment of a network programming advisory committee and adoption of procedures for submission and acceptance of programs will top the agenda when the Nebraska Educational Television Commission meets Wednesday in Lincoln.

The 1:30 p.m. meeting is scheduled at the Public School Administration Building, 720 So. 22nd.

Commission Secretary Jack McBride said the commissioners also would study a proposed policy handbook, and review plans for the publication of a network brochure and a new program bulletin.

Reports on signal strength measurements throughout the Channel 12 coverage area will be given, and the progress of Lexington and Omaha channels will be reviewed.

The status of applications for stations at North Platte and Alliance also will be discussed.

RICH TEEN-AGE TOM CAT DIES

Washington (AP) — George Washington University officials announced Friday that they had received good news a well-to-do, ten-age tom cat has died in California

His name was Hellcat, and he and his friend, Brownie, another tom cat, had been owned by Dr. William W. Grier, a George Washington alumnus. A year ago the university was informed that Grier had left a $415,000 endowment to his old school—but that the cats had to be looked after first.

Brownie died in May. Friday the San Diego lawfirm of MacNulty and Hulden, trustees of the Grier estate, reported that Hellcat, who had been lounging in luxury in a La Jolla, Calif., mansion, had died despite the efforts of a skilled veterinary surgeon.

Replacement Of Bridge Will Be Delayed

A Lancaster County bridge near Waverly which collapsed Friday morning may not be replaced for sometime, according to County Engineer Hugh Dillon.

Dillon said the bridge, located 1½ miles east of Waverly and 1½ miles north of Highway 6, would cost more than $100,000 to replace, and there are no funds for such purpose available

The five-ton capacity bridge collapsed when an empty 15-ton trailer semi-truck attempted to cross the steel truss and wooden floor structure, according to Dillon.

No one was injured in the mishap.

Optimists Rally To Top Witt's

. . . EARN AREA BERTH

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

The Lincoln Optimists rallied for two big runs in the seventh inning Friday night at Sherman field to whip Ken Witt's, 5-4, and earn a berth in the American Legion Junior Area baseball tournament.

The Optimists had to score three times in the fourth to catch up with Witt's, which had scored single runs in each of the first three innings. After Witt's hurler Bill Schommer put down the Optimist sluggers in the fifth and sixth frames, Optimist rightfielder Doug Kyles led off the seventh with a double and pitcher Jerry Husbands drew a walk.

A passed ball by Mike Bohaty, one of four for the Witt's catcher in the game, allowed Kyles to reach third where Mickey Ziegler scored both Kyles and Husbands with his second single of the evening.

Witt's tried to come back in the bottom of the sixth, scoring one run on three successive singles.

Equalization Board Closes Hearings

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The State Board of Equalization concluded Friday its seven days of hearings with Nebraska's 93 counties.

Testimony varied from counties urging the board to equalize assessment levels between counties to those contending the board should make no changes until more or all of the mandatory reappraisals are completed.

Douglas and Lancaster counties were among those testifying on the final day.

Tax Commissioner George Dworak estimated a week or ten days would be required to compile and analyze figures and testimony received during the hearings before the board would begin its decision-making sessions.

Executive Sessions

He predicted the board would take a day or so in executive sessions before announcing its decisions.

The basic issue before the board is whether to accept the assessment figures submitted by counties or adjust assessments from county to county to achieve greater equalization.

Douglas County Assessor Joe Stolinski told the board his county "is well equalized," pointing that the county has increased its valuations "by $80 million since 1964."

Don Paffenrath, chief appraiser, said, "everything might not be quite up to snuff, but we're doing the best we can."

"Our county is primarily urban and property values and land uses change almost from day to day," he added.

Prices Inflated

He estimated "land contract sales" have inflated prices, putting the disparity between actual value and the "inflated price" by contract at 20 to 50%.

Lancaster County Assessor Arthur M. Davis said, "I think we're paying our fair share of taxes.'

He noted the county valuation has "increased by 29% over the past seven years," and his office has "reappraised the perimeter or suburban land around Lincoln's corporate limits."

Davis said the closing of the Lincoln Air Force Base by June, 1966, "has had no major effect on Lincoln valuations as yet, but the potential (for decline) is there."

"Building is off 43%," County Board Chairman Kenneth Bourne said.

Appropriations Bill Introduced To Clean Up Funding

The third major appropriations bill, a "clean up" measure, was introduced in the state Legislature Friday.

The bill, No. 928 of the current session, allocates funds to implement bills already passed by the Legislature and bills still pending.

The bill contains appropriations totaling $4.6 million from the tax-supported general fund, $1,763,000 from federal funds and $48,000 from cash funds.

LB928 is designed to serve as a "catch all" measure, putting the finishing touches on last-minute fiscal matters and allocating funds for new laws. It will be one of the last measures passed.

Bowen Suggests A Combination Of Sales-Income Tax

Speaker of the Legislature Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud Friday suggested elimination of all personal property taxes and adoption of a combination sales-income tax.

In his weekly newsletter to constituents, Bowen noted that such an approach has been taken by New York and is now being considered in North Dakota.

Such a plan would improve Nebraska's business climate by attracting industry and investment capital, and assist the agricultural economy as well, Bowen said.

"The revenue from an income tax, as now adopted, is for use to replace the cost of state government," he wrote.

"A sales tax of around 3% would replace the personal property tax for school districts, cities and counties, but possibly should be adopted as a combination tax with allocations left in the hands of the Legislature instead of placing certain percentages in our constitution."

Meyer Urges Senators To Adjourn At End

Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer Friday informed the Legislature that there is no reason why it cannot adjourn sine die when it completes its business, rather than recess to await reapportionment developments.

A number of senators had considered recessing the session because of fears that it would not have another opportunity to redistrict itself if it fails to adopt a constitutional reapportionment plan in the next few weeks.

The U.S. District Court directed that this regular session of the Legislature adopt a constitutional plan, or senators would be required to run at-large in 1966.

Firm Opinion

Meyer said that he is of the "firm" opinion that senators would be given another chance at a special session if they appeal the decision, and fail, or if a new redistricting bill is thrown out in the courts.

The Legislature, despite its de facto status, can call itself back into special session or be summoned by the governor, Meyer informed the lawmakers.

Meyer's statement clears the way for adjournment possibly as early as August 6, Speaker of the Legislature Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud said. Other senators pointed to an August 13 adjournment.

Meanwhile, the lawmakers amended a bill to set back the deadline date for setting the state property tax levy in the event that the Legislature does not enact major appropriations bills before August 2.

Aug. 2 Deadline

The State Board of Equalization and Assessment must set the levy by August 2, but cannot do so until it knows the amount of legislative appropriations for the 1965-67 biennium.

LB920, handed second-round floor approval, would set the date back to August 15. It will not be enacted unless required.

The Legislature will establish a new longevity record when it reconvenes next Monday. The old record of 132 legislative days was established by the 1963 Unicameral.

Lawmakers have already established a calendar record.

Equalization Board Closes Hearings

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The State Board of Equalization concluded Friday its seven days of hearings with Nebraska's 93 counties.

Testimony varied from counties urging the board to equalize assessment levels between counties to those contending the board should make no changes until more or all of the mandatory reappraisals are completed.

Douglas and Lancaster counties were among those testifying on the final day.

Tax Commissioner George Dworak estimated a week or ten days would be required to compile and analyze figures and testimony received during the hearings before the board would begin its decision-making sessions.

Executive Sessions

He predicted the board would take a day or so in executive sessions before announcing its decisions.

The basic issue before the board is whether to accept the assessment figures submitted by counties or adjust assessments from county to county to achieve greater equalization.

Douglas County Assessor Joe Stolinski told the board his county "is well equalized," pointing that the county has increased its valuations "by $80 million since 1964."

Don Paffenrath, chief appraiser, said, "everything might not be quite up to snuff, but we're doing the best we can."

"Our county is primarily urban and property values and land uses change almost from day to day," he added.

He estimated "land contract sales" have inflated prices, putting the disparity between actual value and the "inflated price" by contract at 20 to 50%.

Lancaster County Assessor Arthur M. Davis said, "I think we're paying our fair share of taxes.'

He noted the county valuation has "increased by 29% over the past seven years," and his office has "reappraised the perimeter or suburban land around Lincoln's corporate limits."

Davis said the closing of the Lincoln Air Force Base by June, 1966, "has had no major effect on Lincoln valuations as yet, but the potential (for decline) is there."

"Building is off 43%," County Board Chairman Kenneth Bourne said.

Appropriations Bill Introduced To Clean Up Funding

The third major appropriations bill, a "clean up" measure, was introduced in the state Legislature Friday.

The bill, No. 928 of the current session, allocates funds to implement bills already passed by the Legislature and bills still pending.

The bill contains appropriations totaling $4.6 million from the tax-supported general fund, $1,763,000 from federal funds and $48,000 from cash funds.

LB928 is designed to serve as a "catch all" measure, putting the finishing touches on last-minute fiscal matters and allocating funds for new laws. It will be one of the last measures passed.

Stock Market Gain First In 7 Seasons

New York (AP)—Aerospace defense issues and motors were pacemakers Friday as the stock market recorded its first gain in seven sessions. Trading was moderate.

Volume was 3.6 million shares compared with 3.32 million Thursday.

The closely watched Dow Jones industrial average rose by a modest 2.39 to 883.07.

As the stock market week ended without any definite news on decisions from the high-level conference in Washington which is considering U.S. policy regarding Viet Nam, Wall Street screwed up its courage and did some buying.

Ford stood out in the automotive section as investors became acquainted with Ford's record sales and earnings for the second quarter and the half. At the same time, the entire auto group was helped by news of peak sales of new cars for the Big Three.

Ford was the most actively traded of the auto stocks and rose 1⅝ to 55⅝, with Chrysler holding a gain of ½ and GM ⅝.

General Dynamics, up 1, was third most active, and the trading favorite in the defense group.

Fairchild Camera, up 1¼ at 59¾ on 128,300 shares, returned to its spot as most-active stock after a one-day hiatus. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .8 to 319.1 with industrials up 1.1, rails up .3 and utilities off .1.

Of 1,386 issues traded, 630 rose and 461 fell. New highs for the year totaled 32 and new lows 43.

Among other aerospace issues, Boeing rose 1⅝, Douglas Aircraft 1⅛, United Aircraft ⅝, Lockheed and McDonnell Aircraft ⅞.

Zenith rose 1½. Air Reduction 1, Great Northern Railway 1⅝, IBM 3, Polaroid 1⅛, Xerox 1⅝, Control Data 1⅛, General Electric 1⅛ and Eastern Air Lines 1.

Towmotor leaped 2⅝ to 38⅝ on news that it had reached an agreement in principal with Caterpillar, by which Caterpillar would acquire Towmotor's assets through an exchange of stock. Caterpillar took only a minor loss of ⅜ to close at 40⅞.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were irregularly higher. Volume was 840,000 shares compared with 790,000 Thursday. Kaiser Industries was active and up ⅜ at 8. Aerojet-General rose 1⅝, Rollins Inc. 1⅝ and Syntex ⅞.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

Most Grains Steady, Firm

Chicago (AP)—The grain futures market mustered a little rallying support in late dealings Friday and closed mostly about steady to firm but with soybeans still in a weak range.

All oats and rye deliveries finished ahead, wheat steady to slightly easier and corn narrowly mixed.

A slightly improved weather forecast for the Midwest over the weekend probably was the major bearish factor.

At the close, soybeans were ⅜-1½ cents a bushel lower, August $2.77⅞-78¼; wheat unchanged to ⅜ lower, September $1.46¼-⅜; corn ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, September $1.25⅜-½; oats unchanged to ⅜ higher, September 68-68¼ cents; rye ⅛ to 2 cents higher, September $1.18¼.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO (UPI)—Soybeans closed weak to heavy, wheat mixed, corn steady to easy, oats steady to firm and rye strong on the Chicago Board of Trade Friday.

At the final bell, soybeans were off ¼ to 1⅝; wheat off ⅜ to up ⅜; corn off ¼ to up ¼; oats off ⅛ to up ⅜; and rye up ⅛ to 2.

Soybeans, especially the August contract, rallied late in the session from earlier lows, but not enough to bring prices above the previous close. One of the firming influences late in the session was commercial buying of the contract. Some commission houses were good buyers and there was local buying and short covering on talk of good export figures. This was preceded by liberal selling of August by a house with commercial connections.

Wheat declined after the opening on selling by local longs. Commission houses bought. There was no export activity.

Corn worked lower on the possibility of showers over sections of the crop belt. Local longs and commission houses were good sellers. Commercial houses were active on both sides of September in early trading. Commission houses bought December.

Oats trading was light with the deferred deliveries relatively firm. Commercial houses sold September and December. There was a fair, scattered demand.

Rye advanced early on scattered buying that uncovered stoploss orders.

Renovation OK'd For State Capitol Building Exterior

A resolution directing the cleaning, waterproofing and repairing of the exterior of the State Capitol building, excluding the tower, was adopted 43-3 by the State Legislature Friday.

Because the resolution, No. 62, authorizes the expenditure of $125,000 for the purpose, it was handled as a bill and was approved on final reading.

Introduced by Omaha Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr., the resolution noted that weather has discolored the exterior stone and that the improvements should be made before the centennial year in 1967 when the building will draw an expected 350,000 visitors.

Feeder Cattle Prices Weak

Omaha (UPI) — The National Livestock Feeders Association said Friday feeder cattle prices continued to show weakness, although prices were steady to strong in Colorado and Southern Wyoming and fully steady in Montana, northern Wyoming and at the river markets.

The association, in its weekly report, said trading was slow at Amarillo with insufficient numbers to test the market. A few sales were weak.

River Markets: Choice steers 700-1,050 pounds 23.00-25.50 at Kansas City and Omaha. Choice steers 800-930 pounds 24.50-24.75. Choice steers 800-1,000 pounds 22.00-24.35. Good to choice 530-725 pound steers 23.00-25.00, with some 27.00. Some choice 525 pounds short yearling steers 27.50 at Omaha but 24.25-25.50 at Kansas City. Good to choice feeding heifers 320-600 pounds 21.50-22.00, with heifers mostly choice to 22.25. Choice heifers 500-600 pounds, 22.20-23.25 at Kansas City. 450-500 pound choice steer calves 26.00-27.50 at Omaha, with two loads 450 pounds 29.00 at Sioux City.

Tax Petitioners File Drive Forms

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The petition form aimed at putting the state income tax issue on the November, 1966, ballot was filed Friday with the Secretary of State in preparation for the Nebraska-wide petition drive scheduled to start Monday.

Two politically-prominent Omahans, who head the petition drive, expressed confidence the petitions would be signed by enough persons to put the tax proposition on the ballot.

Richard L. Herman and Marvin R. Werve presented to Secretary of State Frank Marsh the petition form and an affidavit containing the names of 49 persons who will sponsor and finance the petition effort.

They said one-third of the names were Omahans but the remainder were distributed over the state.

Herman, who served as regional director for the Goldwater-Miller ticket in the last presidential nomination campaign, said he was "very confident" that at least the required 28,905 voters would sign the petition.

'Many As Possible'

Werve said the drive would seek as many signatures as possible, but declined comment on whether 56,000 would be sought to suspend the income tax bill, LB797, until the referendum vote.

Werve, a banker, is Democratic national committeeman. Herman is a Republican.

Herman said 600 persons have agreed to circulate petitions and wide distribution is expected by the end of next week.

Meanwhile, the chairman of a newly-formed organization supporting the state income tax challenged referendum backers to "prove they are impartial on the income tax."

John Klosterman, David City farmer and head of Nebraskans for Fair Taxation, said, "If the people behind the income tax referendum drive are truly interested in seeing the tax issue decided by a vote of the people, then let them offer the people a real choice and go all-out to support LB341 which would permit a vote on the property tax."

Amendment Proposal

This bill proposes a constitutional amendment prohibiting the state from levying a property tax except for the state building program.

It has gained first-round approval by the Legislature on a 28-13 vote, but 30 votes are required on final reading.

Klosterman said the referendum drive is "hoodwinking the public in its claim of a public service to let the people vote on taxes."

"All the work on the petition drive is being done by those who want to see the income tax go down the drain and want to keep piling taxes on property."

Senators Get Resolution On Partisanship

A resolution putting state senators on record in favor of a partisan legislature was introduced in the Nebraska Unicameral Friday.

"I believe a partisan legislature would tend to pinpoint responsibility," said Sen. Richad F. Proud of Omaha, introducer of resolution No. 79. "The 49 members of this Legislature have what amounts to 49 different platforms.

"The public in general has little conception of what those platforms are. The party could act as a vehicle for pressing its program and educating the people."

Nebraska's legislators have been elected on a non-partisan basis since 1937, when the one-house system was adopted.

Another resolution, No. 80, was introduced by the Legislature's Budget Committee.

The resolution calls for an interim study of the various agencies of the Legislature, including the Legislative Council and Offices of the Bill Drafter, Nebraska Blue Book, Legislative Reference Library, Legislative Fiscal Analyst and the Legislative Clerical and Stenographic Pool. The study would be designed to provide a more effective and organized operation of the agencies.

Consideration of both resolutions was deferred one day in accordance with legislative rules.

Natural Gas Bill Recall Is Requested

Ord Sen. Rudolf Kokes Friday moved to withdraw his bill giving the state railway commission limited regulatory powers over natural gas after the measure ran into trouble on select file.

The measure would authorize rate regulating on gas sold for agricultural uses, principally operation of irrigation pumps.

Consideration of Kokes' withdrawal motion was deferred one day.

The bill, LB694, ran into trouble during the morning debate.

A motion by Sen. Dale Payne of Papillion to kill the bill received a 21-18 favoring vote, but needed 25 votes to carry. A motion to advance the bill from select file then fell short, 13-16, and the bill therefore remained in its position on select file.

Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa maintained that gas companies already are selling gas to farmers for irrigation at less than cost in some instances. He objected to the extension of government regulation.

Gas rates are not presently state-regulated, although there have been proposals over the years to make the Railway Commission the regulatory agency.

Frontier Airlines Asks To Serve Sioux City, Iowa

Washington (AP) — Frontier Airlines has asked the Civil Aeronautics Board to extend its two Denver-Omaha routes eastward to Sioux City, Iowa.

Frontier also asked permission to operate nonstop between Sioux City and all points on the two routes.

In addition to the two terminal cities, Denver and Omaha, the routes serve the intermediate points of Scottsbluff, Sidney, North Platte, Grand Island, McCook, Kearney, Hastings and Lincoln, Neb.

Frontier said it would provide the service with Convair 580 Propjet planes or other suitable aircraft.

Solons Criticized For Killing LB915

Omaha (AP)—Dr. Neil Danberg, chairman of the Nebraska fair campaign practices committee, criticized the Legislature's government committee for killing 5-2 a bill which would have eliminated anonymous campaign literature.

He declared 41 states have legislation similar to this measure, which he said was introduced at the request of Gov. Morrison and had the support of both major political parties along with others. The measure was LB915.

Dr. Danberg said this bill merely follows the national law which prohibits anonymous literature about a presidential or congressional candidate.

Stock Market Gain First In 7 Seasons

New York (AP)—Aerospace defense issues and motors were pacemakers Friday as the stock market recorded its first gain in seven sessions. Trading was moderate.

Volume was 3.6 million shares compared with 3.32 million Thursday.

The closely watched Dow Jones industrial average rose by a modest 2.39 to 883.67.

As the stock market week ended without any definite news on decisions from the high-level conference in Washington which is considering U.S. policy regarding Viet Nam, Wall Street screwed up its courage and did some buying.

Ford stood out in the automotive section as investors became acquainted with Ford's record sales and earnings for the second quarter and the half. At the same time, the entire auto group was helped by news of peak sales of new cars for the Big Three.

Ford was the most actively traded of the auto stocks and rose 1⅛ to 52¼, with Chrysler holding a gain of ½ and GM ⅝.

General Dynamics, up 1, was third most active, and the trading favorite in the defense group.

Fairchild Camera, up 1⅛ at 58¾ on 126,300 shares, returned to its spot as most-active stock after a one-day hiatus. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .6 to 319.1 with industrials up 1.2, rails up .3 and utilities off .1.

Of 1,325 issues traded, 609 rose and 461 fell. New highs for the year totaled 22 and new lows 45.

Among other aerospace issues, Boeing rose 1¾, Douglas Aircraft 1⅛, United Aircraft ⅞, Lockheed and McDonnell Aircraft ¼.

Zenith rose 1⅛, Air Reduction 1, Great Northern Railway 1⅛, IBM 5, Polaroid 1⅛, Xerox 1⅛, Control Data 1⅛, General Electric 1⅛ and Eastern Air Lines 1.

Towmotor leaped 2⅝ to 39¼ on news that it had reached an agreement in principal with Caterpillar, by which Caterpillar would acquire Towmotor's assets through an exchange of stock. Caterpillar took only a minor loss of ⅜ to close at 40¼.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were irregularly higher. Volume was 840,000 shares compared with 780,000 Thursday. Kaiser Industries was active and up ½ at 8. Aerojet-General rose 1⅛, Rollins Inc. 1⅛ and Syntex ⅞.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

Most Grains Steady, Firm

Chicago (AP)—The grain futures market mustered a little rallying support in late dealings Friday and closed mostly about steady to firm but with soybeans still in a weak range.

All oats and rye deliveries finished ahead, wheat steady to slightly easier and corn narrowly mixed.

A slightly improved weather forecast for the Midwest over the weekend probably was the major bearish factor.

At the close, soybeans were ⅛-1⅛ cents a bushel lower, August $2.77⅛-78⅛; wheat unchanged to ⅜ lower, September $1.46⅛-⅝; corn ¼ lower to ¼ higher, September $1.25⅝-⅝; oats unchanged to ⅜ higher, September 68-68⅛ cents; rye ⅞ to 2 cents higher, September $1.18¼.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO (UPI)—Soybeans closed weak to heavy, wheat mixed, corn steady to easy, oats steady to firm and rye strong on the Chicago Board of Trade Friday.

At the final bell, soybeans were off ¼ to 1⅝; wheat off ⅜ to up ⅜; corn off ¼ to up ¼; oats off ⅛ to up ⅜; and rye up ⅞ to 2.

Soybeans, especially the August contract, rallied late in the session from earlier lows, but not enough to bring prices above the previous close. One of the firming influences late in the session was commercial buying of the contract. Some commission houses were good buyers and there was local buying and short covering on talk of good export figures. This was preceded by liberal selling of August by shouse with commercial connections.

Wheat declined after the opening on selling by local longs. Commission houses bought. There was no export activity.

Corn worked lower on the possibility of showers over sections of the crop belt. Local longs and commission houses were good sellers. Commercial houses were active on both sides of September in early trading. Commission houses bought December.

Oats trading was light with the deferred deliveries relatively firm. Commercial houses sold September and December. There was a fair, scattered demand.

Rye advanced early on scattered buying that uncovered stoploss orders.

Renovation OK'd For State Capitol Building Exterior

A resolution directing the cleaning, waterproofing and repairing of the exterior of the State Capitol building, excluding the tower, was adopted 43-3 by the State Legislature Friday.

Because the resolution, No. 62, authorizes the expenditure of $125,000 for the purpose, it was handled as a bill and was approved on final reading.

Introduced by Omaha Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr., the resolution noted that weather has discolored the exterior stone and that the improvements should be made before the centennial year in 1967 when the building will draw an expected 350,000 visitors.

Tax Petitioners File Drive Forms

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The petition form aimed at putting the state income tax issue on the November, 1966, ballot was filed Friday with the Secretary of State in preparation for the Nebraska-wide petition drive scheduled to start Monday.

Two politically-prominent Omahans, who head the petition drive, expressed confidence the petitions would be signed by enough persons to put the tax proposition on the ballot.

Richard L. Herman and Marvin R. Werve presented to Secretary of State Frank Marsh the petition form and an affidavit containing the names of 49 persons who will sponsor and finance the petition effort.

They said one-third of the names were Omahans but the remainder were distributed over the state.

Herman, who served as regional director for the Goldwater-Miller ticket in the last presidential nomination campaign, said he was "very confident" that at least the required 28,905 voters would sign the petition.

'Many As Possible'

Werve said the drive would seek as many signatures as possible, but declined comment on whether 56,000 would be sought to suspend the income tax bill, LB797, until the referendum vote.

Werve, a banker, is Democratic national committeeman. Herman is a Republican.

Herman said 600 persons have agreed to circulate petitions and wide distribution is expected by the end of next week.

Meanwhile, the chairman of a newly-formed organization supporting the state income tax challenged referendum backers to "prove they are impartial on the income tax."

John Klosterman, David City farmer and head of Nebraskans for Fair Taxation, said, "If the people behind the income tax referendum drive are truly interested in seeing the tax issue decided by a vote of the people, then let them offer the people a real choice and go all-out to support LB341 which would permit a vote on the property tax."

Amendment Proposal

This bill proposes a constitutional amendment prohibiting the state from levying a property tax except for the state building program.

It has gained first-round approval by the Legislature on a 28-13 vote, but 30 votes are required on final reading.

Klosterman said the referendum drive is "hoodwinking the public in its claim of a public service to let the people vote on taxes."

"All the work on the petition drive is being done by those who want to see the income tax go down the drain and want to keep piling taxes on property."

Senators Get Resolution On Partisanship

A resolution putting state senators on record in favor of a partisan legislature was introduced in the Nebraska Unicameral Friday.

"I believe a partisan legislature would tend to pinpoint responsibility," said Sen. Richad F. Proud of Omaha, introducer of resolution No. 79. "The 49 members of this Legislature have what amounts to 49 different platforms.

"The public in general has little conception of what those platforms are. The party could act as a vehicle for pressing its program and educating the people."

Nebraska's legislators have been elected on a non-partisan basis since 1937, when the one-house system was adopted.

Another resolution, No. 80, was introduced by the Legislature's Budget Committee.

The resolution calls for an interim study of the various agencies of the Legislature, including the Legislative Council and Offices of the Bill Drafter, Nebraska Blue Book, Legislative Reference Library, Legislative Fiscal Analyst and the Legislative Clerical and Stenographic Pool. The study would be designed to provide a more effective and organized operation of the agencies.

Consideration of both resolutions was deferred one day in accordance with legislative rules.

Natural Gas Bill Recall Is Requested

Ord Sen. Rudolf Kokes Friday moved to withdraw his bill giving the state railway commission limited regulatory powers over natural gas after the measure ran into trouble on select file.

The measure would authorize rate regulating on gas sold for agricultural uses, principally operation of irrigation pumps.

Consideration of Kokes' withdrawal motion was deferred one day.

The bill, LB694, ran into trouble during the morning debate.

A motion by Sen. Dale Payne of Papillion to kill the bill received a 21-18 favoring vote, but needed 25 votes to carry. A motion to advance the bill from select file then fell short, 13-16, and the bill therefore remained in its position on select file.

Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa maintained that gas companies already are selling gas to farmers for irrigation at less than cost in some instances. He objected to the extension of government regulation.

Gas rates are not presently state-regulated, although there have been proposals over the years to make the Railway Commission the regulatory agency.

Frontier Airlines Asks To Serve Sioux City, Iowa

Washington (AP) — Frontier Airlines has asked the Civil Aeronautics Board to extend its two Denver-Omaha routes eastward to Sioux City, Iowa.

Frontier also asked permission to operate nonstop between Sioux City and all points on the two routes.

In addition to the two terminal cities, Denver and Omaha, the routes serve the intermediate points of Scottsbluff, Sidney, North Platte, Grand Island, McCook, Kearney, Hastings and Lincoln, Neb.

Frontier said it would provide the service with Convair 580 Propjet planes or other suitable aircraft.

Solons Criticized For Killing LB915

Omaha (AP)—Dr. Neil Danberg, chairman of the Nebraska fair campaign practices committee, criticized the Legislature's government committee for killing 5-2 a bill which would have eliminated anonymous campaign literature.

He declared 41 states have legislation similar to this measure, which he said was introduced at the request of Gov. Morrison and had the support of both major political parties along with others. The measure was LB915.

Dr. Danberg said this bill merely follows the national law which prohibits anonymous literature about a presidential or congressional candidate.

150,000 March Through Athens

. . . FOR PAPANDREOU

Athens, Greece (AP)—A funeral march of more than 150,000 left-wing demonstrators surged through Athens Friday in a show of support for ousted Premier George Papandreou in his test with the Greek monarchy

The government of Premier George Athanasiadis Novas responded with a tough show of strength of its own, packing the city with heavily armed riot police and ordering the armed forces to stand by in case of disorder.

The funeral was for a student killed in the wild street fighting that tore through Athens Wednesday night when Papandreou followers clashed with police. That was the first fatality in the disorders that broke out after King Constantine dumped Papandreou in a showdown July 15.

No Rioting

There was no rioting at the funeral. Under the threat of military intervention, the left-wing organizers of the demonstration clearly were under orders to avoid disturbances. Young leftist activists wearing armbands marched with the crowds to keep them under control

The demonstration had the look of a perfectly coordinated show. This raised speculation that experienced leftist organizers were on the streets now, using the crowds as a flexible weapon in the political struggle that had this Atlantic Alliance nation in its worst crisis since the Communist Civil War, 1947-9.

In the morning, 2,000 demonstrators got the mass march under way, moving past the heavily guarded parliament building to the Athens Orthodox Cathedral where the body lay. The crowd swelled to more than 150,000 persons.

Watch Body

Papandreou attended the church service, then left for a news conference as the cortege moved on to the cemetery. There discipline dissolved. Thousands struggled to get in to watch as the body of the dead youth, Sotirios Petroulias, 25, was lowered into the grave. They trampled graves underfoot, toppled tombstones and destroyed family grave sites in the rush.

Across town, at a hotel near the parliament, Papandreou told reporters the new government did not have a chance of winning the confidence vote it must get from parliament by Aug. 1. In that case Papandreou said, King Constantine would be obliged to call him back to power.

"The only other choice," he added, "is new elections."

Papandreou described himself as a firm anti-Communist and said that in his dispute with the king he had no intention of starting a revolution. He said he tried to take over the defense ministry when Defense Minister Peter Faroufallias "ceased to be a minister of my government and started taking instructions from the other side. I decided then to fire him."

The king, who had reportedly supported Garoufalias, subsequently fired Papandreou, rather than let him become defense minister.

The Economic Opportunity law will be explained on a national, state and local level Saturday afternoon.

At the final session Sunday morning, Richard Gilliland, U.S. Labor Department regional youth consultant will discuss economic opportunity for youth.

Explosion Tears Trawler 'Snoopy' Apart; 8 Missing, Believed Dead

Portsmouth, Va (AP)—An explosion tore apart the fishing trawler Snoopy 45 miles off the North Carolina coast in the Atlantic Friday night. Eight persons were missing and believed dead.

The trawler out of Portland, Maine apparently snagged her nets on a mine or tropedo shortly before the blast east of Currituck Sound, N.C.

Three other trawlers fishing with the Snoopy picked up four injured survivors, at least one of them seriously injured.

Drop Flares

Coast Guard spokesmen here said aircraft had been rushed to the scene to drop flares to light the search.

The cutters Cape Current from Ocracoke, N.C., and Point Thatcher from Norfolk were converging on the scene.

Aboard the Point Thatcher was a medical corpsman, and a doctor from the Public Health Service Hospital in Norfolk was sent by helicopter to the racing ships.

At least 12 persons were reported aboard the Snoopy when she radioed accompanying trawlers that her nets were snagged. The trawler Geraldine, which received the message, said the blast disintegrated the Snoopy a few minutes later.

The Geraldine radioed 5th district Coast Guard headquarters here for help.

Rendezvous

Two other trawlers in the fleet, the Scalloper and the Scalloper Prowler, picked up the four survivors, then headed in to rendezvous with the cutters at Chesapeake Lightship.

The Geraldine, the Scalloper and Scalloper Prowler all are out of New Bedford, Mass.

There was no immediate word on the skipper of the Snoopy, Capt. Edward Doody of Portland.

Coast Guard spokesmen here said the survivors would be brought to the Public Health Service Hospital in Norfolk.

Trawlers of the Snoopy's class generally run between 80 and 90 feet in length and about 30 or 40 tons.

Death Penalty Ban Stand Announced

Washington (UPI) — The Justice Department came out Friday for abolition of the death penalty.

The department took a stand for the first time in the age-old controversy over capital punishment in a letter to Congress by Ramsey Clark, the deputy attorney general.

"Modern penology with its correctional and rehabilitation skills affords far greater benefits to society than the death penalty which is inconsistent with its goals," Clark wrote.

"This nation is too great in its resources and too good in its purposes to engage in the light of present understanding in the deliberate taking of human life as either a punishment or a deterrent to domestic crime."

Hoover At Odds

The letter put the department hierarchy at odds with leaders in law enforcement, including the department's best-known employe, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

"We favor the abolition of the death penalty," Clark stated flatly in the letter to Rep. John L. McMillan, D-S.C., chairman of the House committee on the District of Columbia.

McMillan had requested the pending bill to abolish the death penalty for first degree murder in the district. Clark recommended that action on the bill be delayed until a "comprehensive study" of crime and punishment could be made, possibly by both the national and the district crime commissions.

Rape Left

He noted that the bill would leave rape as the only capital crime in the district. "Piecemeal abolition of the death penalty in federal law is meaningless, if not harmful," he said. "If abolition is indicated for murder, why not for rape? If abolition is indicated within the District of Columbia, why not then for all federal crimes?"

Clark added that abolition should be carried out "only on the basis of a careful comprehensive study which adequately considers all aspects of crime and punishment and sentencing. Society must be protected. The sentences prescribed by statute and the procedure for affixing them should be thoroughly reviewed."

"Probation and parole should reflect our full experiences with correction and public safety. Effective protection for police and prison operations upon the abolition of the death penalty must be provided."

Without Release

He said that life imprisonment, without release, should be provided for convicts imprisoned for felonies who attack law officers or prison guards—cases in which many opponents of the death penalty say it should be retained.

Abolishment of the death penalty for federal crimes would require an act of Congress and for state crimes, acts by legislatures.

Three Join List

Twelve states currently either prohibit or virtually prohibit capital punishment. New York, Iowa and West Virginia joined the list this year.

The number of annual executions in the United States has been steadily decreasing from a high of 199 in 1935 to 15 last year.

Hoover, already embroiled in a minor dispute with Atty. Gen. Nicholas Deb. Katzenbach, declined comment on the department's stand. But he has made several statements about capital punishment in recent years. In one, he described the death penalty as an instrument with which man "may guard the righteous against the predators among men" and said, "We must never allow misguided compassion to erase our concern for the hundreds of unfortunate, innocent victims of bestial criminals."

"As a representative of law enforcement," he said, "it is my belief that a great many of the most vociferous cries for abolition of capital punishment emanate from those areas of our society which have been insulated against the horrors man can and does perpetrate against his fellow beings."

Man Killed, Wife Hurt In Ayr Mishap

Ayr (AP) — An accident involving a semi-trailer truck, a pickup and a tractor took the life Friday of 60-year-old Harold Kroening of Lawrence.

Kroening was killed when the tractor he was riding, being pulled by a pickup truck, was struck in the rear by a larger vehicle 1½ miles east of Ayr on U.S. 281.

Blinded By Sun

Adams County Deputy Sheriff Jake Thiel said the truck driver, Melvin Ellis, 23, of Fremont, apparently was blinded by the sun and did not see the tractor and pickup. The vehicles were eastbound.

Kroening's wife, driving the pickup, was hospitalized in Hastings but apparently escaped serious injury. Ellis did not require hospitalization.

The force of the collision broke the tractor in two pieces. The pickup was thrown 200 feet into a ditch on the opposite side of the highway, and the trailer overturned in a corn field. The truck cab remained upright, also in the field.

Lady Leaves Motel Loaded

A woman listing her address as West Point checked into the Holiday Inn at 5250 Cornhusker Highway Thursday evening and left with some of the room furnishings, Lincoln police said.

Holiday Inn personnel told police the room she registered for was not used, but a TV set, blanket and pillow were gone. She was said to be driving a car with Cuming County license plates.

Burglars were busy at the Lincoln General Hospital construction site also. A trailer belonging to the Mason Electric Co. of Lincoln parked in the 2200 block of St. Mary's, was entered and 1,000 feet of copper wire taken. Police said no estimate of the loss was made.

A trailer belonging to the Commonwealth Co. at the same site was entered and about $200 worth of tools taken. A tool box belonging to Harold E. Berglund of 4425 Van Dorn also containing electrical testing equipment, valued at $85, was missing, police said.

150,000 March Through Athens

. . . FOR PAPANDREOU

Athens, Greece (AP)—A funeral march of more than 150,000 left-wing demonstrators surged through Athens Friday in a show of support for ousted Premier George Papandreou in his test with the Greek monarchy.

The government of Premier George Athanasiadis Novas responded with a tough show of strength of its own, packing the city with heavily armed riot police and ordering the armed forces to stand by in case of disorder.

The funeral was for a student killed in the wild street fighting that tore through Athens Wednesday night when Papandreou followers clashed with police. That was the first fatality in the disorders that broke out after King Constantine dumped Papandreou in a showdown July 15.

No Rioting

There was no rioting at the funeral. Under the threat of military intervention, the left-wing organizers of the demonstration clearly were under orders to avoid disturbances. Young leftist activists wearing armbands marched with the crowds to keep them under control.

The demonstration had the look of a perfectly coordinated show. This raised speculation that experienced leftist organizers were on the streets now, using the crowds as a flexible weapon in the political struggle that had this Atlantic Alliance nation in its worst crisis since the Communist Civil War, 1947-9.

In the morning, 2,000 demonstrators got the mass march under way, moving past the heavily guarded parliament building to the Athens Orthodox Cathedral where the body lay. The crowd swelled to more than 150,000 persons.

Watch Body

Papandreou attended the church service, then left for a news conference as the cortege moved on to the cemetery. There discipline dissolved. Thousands struggled to get in to watch as the body of the dead youth, Sotirios Petroulias, 25, was lowered into the grave. They trampled graves underfoot, toppled tombstones and destroyed family grave sites in the rush.

Across town, at a hotel near the parliament, Papandreou told reporters the new government did not have a chance of winning the confidence vote it must get from parliament by Aug. 1. In that case Papandreou said, King Constantine would be obliged to call him back to power.

"The only other choice," he added, "is new elections."

Papandreou described himself as a firm anti-Communist and said that in his dispute with the king he had no intention of starting a revolution. He said he tried to take over the defense ministry when Defense Minister Peter Faroufallias "ceased to be a minister of my government and started taking instructions from the other side. I decided then to fire him."

The king, who had reportedly supported Garoufalias, subsequently fired Papandreou, rather than let him become defense minister.

Explosion Tears Trawler 'Snoopy' Apart; 8 Missing, Believed Dead

Portsmouth, Va. (AP)—An explosion tore apart the fishing trawler Snoopy 45 miles off the North Carolina coast in the Atlantic Friday night. Eight persons were missing and believed dead.

The trawler out of Portland, Maine apparently snagged her nets on a mine or tropedo shortly before the blast east of Currituck Sound, N.C.

Three other trawlers fishing with the Snoopy picked up four injured survivors, at least one of them seriously injured.

Drop Flares

Coast Guard spokesmen here said aircraft had been rushed to the scene to drop flares to light the search.

The cutters Cape Current from Ocracoke, N.C., and Point Thatcher from Norfolk were converging on the scene.

Aboard the Point Thatcher was a medical corpsman, and a doctor from the Public Health Service Hospital in Norfolk was sent by helicopter to the racing ships.

At least 12 persons were reported aboard the Snoopy when she radioed accompanying trawlers that her nets were snagged. The trawler Geraldine, which received the message, said the blast disintegrated the Snoopy a few minutes later.

The Geraldine radioed 5th district Coast Guard headquarters here for help.

Rendezvous

Two other trawlers in the fleet, the Scalloper and the Scalloper Prowler, picked up the four survivors, then headed in to rendezvous with the cutters at Chesapeake Lightship.

The Geraldine, the Scalloper and Scalloper Prowler all are out of New Bedford, Mass.

There was no immediate word on the skipper of the Snoopy, Capt. Edward Doody of Portland.

Coast Guard spokesmen here said the survivors would be brought to the Public Health Service Hospital in Norfolk.

Trawlers of the Snoopy's class generally run between 80 and 90 feet in length and about 30 or 40 tons.

Death Penalty Ban Stand Announced

Washington (UPI) — The Justice Department came out Friday for abolition of the death penalty.

The department took a stand for the first time in the age-old controversy over capital punishment in a letter to Congress by Ramsey Clark, the deputy attorney general.

"Modern penology with its correctional and rehabilitation skills affords far greater benefits to society than the death penalty which is inconsistent with its goals," Clark wrote.

"This nation is too great in its resources and too good in its purposes to engage in the light of present understanding in the deliberate taking of human life as either a punishment or a deterrent to domestic crime."

Hoover At Odds

The letter put the department hierarchy at odds with leaders in law enforcement, including the department's best-known employe, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

"We favor the abolition of the death penalty," Clark stated flatly in the letter to Rep. John L. McMillan, D-S.C., chairman of the House committee on the District of Columbia.

McMillan had requested the pending bill to abolish the death penalty for first degree murder in the district. Clark recommended that action on the bill be delayed until a "comprehensive study" of crime and punishment could be made, possibly by both the national and the district crime commissions.

Rape Left

He noted that the bill would leave rape as the only capital crime in the district. "Piecemeal abolition of the death penalty in federal law is meaningless, if not harmful," he said. "If abolition is indicated for murder, why not for rape? If abolition is indicated within the District of Columbia, why not then for all federal crimes?"

Clark added that abolition should be carried out "only on the basis of a careful comprehensive study which adequately considers all aspects of crime and punishment and sentencing. Society must be protected. The sentences prescribed by statute and the procedure for affixing them should be thoroughly reviewed."

"Probation and parole should reflect our full experiences with correction and public safety. Effective protection for police and prison operations upon the abolition of the death penalty must be provided."

Without Release

He said that life imprisonment, without release, should be provided for convicts imprisoned for felonies who attack law officers or prison guards—cases in which many opponents of the death penalty say it should be retained.

Abolishment of the death penalty for federal crimes would require an act of Congress and for state crimes, acts by legislatures.

Three Join List

Twelve states currently either prohibit or virtually prohibit capital punishment. New York, Iowa and West Virginia joined the list this year.

The number of annual executions in the United States has been steadily decreasing from a high of 199 in 1935 to 15 last year.

Hoover, already embroiled in a minor dispute with Atty. Gen. Nicholas Deb. Katzenbach, declined comment on the department's stand. But he has made several statements about capital punishment in recent years. In one, he described the death penalty as an instrument with which man "may guard the righteous against the predators among men" and said, "We must never allow misguided compassion to erase our concern for the hundreds of unfortunate, innocent victims of bestial criminals."

"As a representative of law enforcement," he said, "it is my belief that a great many of the most vociferous cries for abolition of capital punishment emanate from those areas of our society which have been insulated against the horrors man can and does perpetrate against his fellow beings."

Man Killed, Wife Hurt In Ayr Mishap

Ayr (AP) — An accident involving a semi-trailer truck, a pickup and a tractor took the life Friday of 60-year-old Harold Kroening of Lawrence.

Kroening was killed when the tractor he was riding, being pulled by a pickup truck, was struck in the rear by a larger vehicle 1½ miles east of Ayr on U.S. 281.

Blinded By Sun

Adams County Deputy Sheriff Jake Thiel said the truck driver, Melvin Ellis, 23, of Fremont, apparently was blinded by the sun and did not see the tractor and pickup. The vehicles were eastbound.

Kroening's wife, driving the pickup, was hospitalized in Hastings but apparently escaped serious injury. Ellis did not require hospitalization.

The force of the collision broke the tractor in two pieces. The pickup was thrown 200 feet into a ditch on the opposite side of the highway, and the trailer overturned in a corn field. The truck cab remained upright, also in the field.

A woman listing her address as West Point checked into the Holiday Inn at 5250 Cornhusker Highway Thursday evening and left with some of the room furnishings, Lincoln police said.

Holiday Inn personnel told police the room she registered for was not used, but a TV set, blanket and pillow were gone. She was said to be driving a car with Cuming County license plates.

Burglars were busy at the Lincoln General Hospital construction site also. A trailer belonging to the Mason Electric Co. of Lincoln parked in the 2200 block of St. Mary's, was entered and 1,000 feet of copper wire taken. Police said no estimate of the loss was made.

A trailer belonging to the Commonwealth Co. at the same site was entered and about $200 worth of tools taken. A tool box belonging to Harold E. Berglund of 4425 Van Dorn also containing electrical testing equipment, valued at $65, was missing, police said.

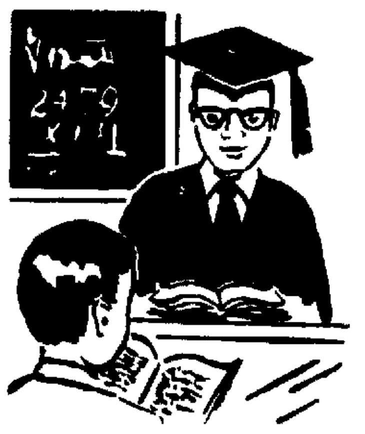
NASON ON EDUCATION

Accelerated Course Usually Easy For Superior Pupils

By LESLIE J. NASON



Dear Dr. Nason:

My daughter, who was nine years old in June, is being offered an accelerated course in the fall, for the fourth grade and half of the fifth. The class is to be composed of the bright fourth graders, plus three accelerated students who will gain an extra half year's work. She is of average size or taller and in good health.

Would you recommend the accelerated class?

Mrs. G. D., Sacramento, Calif.

Answer:

The teacher and principal consider your daughter capable of doing accelerated work or they would not have offered her the opportunity. Completing one and a half half year's work in one year is not difficult for a superior pupil — if no fundamentals are skipped in the process.

You should keep in close touch with the situation. Should your daughter have difficulty mastering fundamentals, it should become apparent by mid-semester. If this happens I recommend that she then be transferred back to her regular class.

Dear Dr. Nason:

Our son, who will soon be 20, is floundering. He is a very capable boy, but due to a combination of things he has become very discouraged.

He attended our local junior college last year because of the high cost of going away. This was not in accord with his wishes. As a result, he and his father were at cross purposes. He got a part-time job which developed into a full-time one. It obviously was too much. Last semester, he failed two of his subjects.

This year he is working in the hope he may save some money so that he can return to college.

Should he return to junior college and correct the two failures or enter another school?

Mrs. S. R. J.,
Battle Creek, Mich.

Answer:

You son's college record with its two Fs will remain part of his permanent record. He should re-enter junior college and bring up his grade point average. Remember, a full college load is a full time job! Until he has demonstrated that he can succeed well with college work and have enough time and energy to do a part-time job on the side, he should concentrate on his schoolwork.

Only by showing that he has the self-discipline required to stick to his studies can he repair the damage brought about through previous lack of judgment. In this way he will reinstate himself as a good prospect for admission to the college of his choice.

Dear Dr. Nason:

I am 45 years old and would like to finish the education which is required to get a job in a factory. I went as far as the ninth grade in school.

Could you please tell me how I can get a diploma? I would like to study and take a High School Equivalency Test. Can you tell me how to go about taking the test?

Mrs. A. P., Penns, N.Y.

Answer:

You can get a diploma by taking evening courses offered by your local schools or through correspondence study. If your library has no copy of accredited home study schools write to: National Home Study Council, 1601 18th St., N.W., Washington 9, D.C.

Your local office of the State Employment Agency is a source of information regarding a high school equivalency test.

Amendment To School Service Unit Bill Nixed

An amendment which was opposed on grounds it would virtually torpedo the educational service unit concept was shot down in the Legislature Friday on a 19-27 vote.

Sen. William Wylie of Elgin offered the amendment to LB301, the Hooper Sen. Ross Rasmussen bill to create 19 educational service units in the state for the purpose of providing special educational services which individual school districts may not be able to supply.

The amendment was offered as the bill showed up on select file, the middle step en route to final reading.

The amendment would have prevented any educational service unit from becoming operative until petitions had been approved by a majority of voters in the geographical area of the service unit.

Petitions would need to have been signed by five per cent of the voters in each county in the unit.

Sen. Rasmussen said the amendment was designed "to destroy the effectiveness" of the bill. Who would undertake to circulate the petitions to meet the five per cent signature requirement? he asked.

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, a co-sponsor of LB301, said the amendment will kill the bill.

Sen. Calista Cooper Hughes of Humboldt, resisting the Wylie amendment, said the current Legislature "has been more remiss in the field of education than in any other field," and termed LB301 "the first vehicle of consequence in the field of education."

Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter renewed his declaration that he favors LB301 as the "only means of getting a trade school for my area."

Sen. Wylie, in defense of the amendment, said it would continue to leave LB301 as an educational vehicle. He noted that an area trade school proposal similarly provides for an approving vote of the people. He noted also that the bill gives Omaha and Lincoln schools the option of remaining outside the educational service units, and said the same privilege should be accorded voters. The petition circulation and elections also would help inform the public as to what is happening, he declared.

Our son, who will soon be 20, is floundering. He is a very capable boy, but due to a combination of things he has become very discouraged.

He attended our local junior college last year because of the high cost of going away. This was not in accord with his wishes. As a result, he and his father were at cross purposes. He got a part-time job which developed into a full-time one. It obviously was too much. Last semester, he failed two of his subjects.

This year he is working in the hope he may save some money so that he can return to college.

Should he return to junior college and correct the two failures or enter another school?

Mrs. S. R. J.,
Battle Creek, Mich.

Answer:

You son's college record with its two Fs will remain part of his permanent record. He should re-enter junior college and bring up his grade point average. Remember, a full college load is a full time job! Until he has demonstrated that he can succeed well with college work and have enough time and energy to do a part-time job on the side, he should concentrate on his schoolwork.

Only by showing that he has the self-discipline required to stick to his studies can he repair the damage brought about through previous lack of judgment. In this way he will reinstate himself as a good prospect for admission to the college of his choice.

Dear Dr. Nason:

I am 45 years old and would like to finish the education which is required to get a job in a factory. I went as far as the ninth grade in school.

Could you please tell me how I can get a diploma? I would like to study and take a High School Equivalency Test. Can you tell me how to go about taking the test?

Mrs. A. P., Penns, N.Y.

Answer:

You can get a diploma by taking evening courses offered by your local schools or through correspondence study. If your library has no copy of accredited home study schools write to: National Home Study Council, 1601 18th St., N.W., Washington 9, D.C.

Your local office of the State Employment Agency is a source of information regarding a high school equivalency test.

Amendment To School Service Unit Bill Nixed

An amendment which was opposed on grounds it would virtually torpedo the educational service unit concept was shot down in the Legislature Friday on a 19-27 vote.

Sen. William Wylie of Elgin offered the amendment to LB301, the Hooper Sen. Ross Rasmussen bill to create 19 educational service units in the state for the purpose of providing special educational services which individual school districts may not be able to supply.

The amendment was offered as the bill showed up on select file, the middle step en route to final reading.

The amendment would have prevented any educational service unit from becoming operative until petitions had been approved by a majority of voters in the geographical area of the service unit.

Petitions would need to have been signed by five per cent of the voters in each county in the unit.

Sen. Rasmussen said the amendment was designed "to destroy the effectiveness" of the bill. Who would undertake to circulate the petitions to meet the five per cent signature requirement? he asked.

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, a co-sponsor of LB301, said the amendment will kill the bill.

Sen. Calista Cooper Hughes of Humboldt, resisting the Wylie amendment, said the current Legislature "has been more remiss in the field of education than in any other field," and termed LB301 "the first vehicle of consequence in the field of education."

Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter renewed his declaration that he favors LB301 as the "only means of getting a trade school for my area."

Sen. Wylie, in defense of the amendment, said it would continue to leave LB301 as an educational vehicle. He noted that an area trade school proposal similarly provides for an approving vote of the people. He noted also that the bill gives Omaha and Lincoln schools the option of remaining outside the educational service units, and said the same privilege should be accorded voters. The petition circulation and elections also would help inform the public as to what is happening, he declared.
